Morgan Quiz Goes on With Pecora Docile

Modified Program Is Apparent After Secret Session.

Rickard, Hoover Aid, Named on New List Of Favored.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A drastically modified Morgan inquiry was resumed yesterday before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, and there was not a roundly shocking sensation in the day.

Ferdinand Pecora, the special committee counsel, continued in his usual place at the head of the inquisitorial table, but the examination was entirely in the hands of the committee members.

Under an agreement reached in an executive session yesterday morning, Pecora will be required henceforward to keep the committee more or less informed concerning the material at hand and the points he hopes to develop, if any, in the examination of witnesses.

No Relaxation in Scope.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, emphasized that the new procedure signalized no relaxation in the scope and purposes of the inquiry.

"I don't care what Pecora develops on the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.," he said, "as long as he does it in a decent way and not by police court methods. I merely protested against the committee sitting around the table like a lot of dummies without knowing what was going on."

At another point, Senator Glass exhibited before the committee a great bundle of letters and telegrams received from people throughout the country who view the whole matter with intense feeling. He said that he would place these communications in the record before the hearing ends or at least such of them as appear fit to print.

As of later yesterday afternoon Senator Glass' file was about one-half a bushel of villification and two pecks of threatening invective. On the other hand, there were a number of communications from those whom the senator characterized as "gentlemen and ladies."

Written Questions Introduced.

When the senatorial interrogations lagged in flashy news interest, written questions were passed up from

Arrest Is Followed By Death Threats

Joliet, Ill., May 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. Clyde Calkins today received another blood-stained threat note, the fourth since a maid in the Calkins home was arrested for theft.

"You think you are smart with your police guard," the note said, "but you will pay for that." The missive was signed "The Gang," smeared with blood and embellished with drawings of stilettos.

Previous notes threatened death to Mrs. Calkins' 4-year-old daughter, Mae June. She reported several days ago that a "big man with a beard" attempted to kidnap the child from her bed. The maid, Violet Demming, has denied any knowledge of the notes.

Austrian Police Seek Nazi Evidence in Raids

Vienna, May 31 (A.P.).—The police today raided Nazi headquarters in all Austrian cities seeking evidence of reasonable activity.

What the results of the search were was not immediately reported.

Baby Stolen

Woman in Nurse's Uniform Takes Infant From Modest Home.

Cincinnati, May 31 (A.P.).—In circumstances as mysterious and puzzling to the mother as to the police, a tiny baby was taken from an unpretentious riverfront home today, leaving authorities the riddle of a motive and little trace of the child.

A woman in uniform appeared at the home of Mrs. John Sheed and examined 5-week-old Pansy, Mrs. Sheed's daughter. The woman announced she would take the baby to a hospital to correct an injury suffered at birth. Believing the woman was a nurse at the hospital where the child was born, Mrs. Sneed consented.

Later in the day the mother received a special delivery letter saying that Pansy was being held at a nursery. She telephoned the nursery, but was told her baby was not there.

Humane society officials were notified, but they could learn only that witnesses saw the woman in uniform walk three blocks to a parked car and drive away.

FULL ELECTRIC TAX PUT ON PRODUCERS

Senate Conferees Recede From Demands for Splitting Levy.

(Associated Press.)

An agreement by House and Senate conferees to transfer the three per cent electricity levy from the consumer to the producer yesterday brought the gasoline tax and postal reduction measure within sight of the White House.

Breaking a three-week deadlock, the Senate conferees receded from their demand for a 2 per cent tax on producers of domestic and commercial electrical energy and a 1 per cent levy on industrial consumers.

Besides being designed to bring in $138,000,000 in revenue by extending the 1-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax a year from June 30, the bill grants authority to President Roosevelt to increase or decrease all postage rates within certain limits.

If the volume of mail increases, due to a reduction he may make from 3 to 2 cents on drop letters, the President is empowered to reduce the rate throughout the country to 2 cents. In addition, he may reduce air mail rates, and increase second, third and fourth class rates.

The measure continues in operation the gasoline tax which, under the public works-industry bill, will be increased to 1½ cents a gallon.

Under yesterday's agreement the electricity tax transfer will take effect September 1, allowing power producers time in which to appeal

200 in Chicago Riot Against Nazi Envoy

Chicago, May 31 (A.P.).—Two hundred men and women demonstrated today before the offices of the German consulate, but were dispersed in 10 minutes by four policemen.

The demonstrators carried placards with red letters that read, "Oust bloody Weidemann from the World's Fair," "Down with Hitler," and "Prepare for anti-Fascist demonstration June 24." There were no arrests.

Hans Weidemann, unofficial representative of the German government to a Century of Progress, was attending a luncheon on the exposition grounds at the time of the demonstration. A riot developed when Weidemann landed in New York last week.

Swimming Pool Helps Roosevelt Keep Cool

White House armor against Washington's summer today includes the brand-new swimming pool built for the use of the President by popular subscriptions collected by several newspapers.

The 80-foot pool was completed Tuesday afternoon and inspected by the President the same night. Its cost was less than $16,000. Lighting in the pool, which is situated in the west wing, includes both underwater flood lights and lights around the wall of the west wing. Swimming is the President's favorite sport, and he is expected to use the pool today or tomorrow.

HOUSE TO PROBE DISREGARD FOR JOB QUOTA LAW

Senate Would Have New Appointments Made on State Basis.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

State apportionment of Federal jobs on a quota basis yesterday forged to the forefront as a Government personnel issue. The Senate asked quota allotment of all new appointments, while a House committee moved to investigate alleged evasion of the old State apportionment law.

Meanwhile, the Senate accepted, without opposition, a compromise worked out by the Senate Appropriations Committee on the House proposal to make all dismissals on a State apportionment basis. The compromise requires efficiency be given equal weight in making discharges.

Amendment Approved.

House investigation of Civil Service administration of the old apportionment law was recommended by the House Rules Committee, which yesterday favorably reported the Hastings resolution. This charged appointments have been made in the past without regard to State quotas. The resolution may be called up in the House late this afternoon.

Senate action putting cogs in the old quota law came with approval of an amendment offered by Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama. It provides that where new Civil Service appointments are made States having the least employes in proportion to population would receive preference.

The State apportionment controversy is of particular significance to the District, which is entitled to only 132 Federal workers under a strict quota arrangement, but now has 10,714.

The States of Maryland, Virginia, Vermont and Iowa also are "over quota."

If the original House language in the independent offices bill had been adopted, these workers would be first discharged in any retrenchment program.

Efficiency Considered.

The Senate change, setting up also an efficiency standard, would lighten the blow to overquota States, and it is known that an effort will be made when the independent offices bill goes to conference to further ease this hardship.

Senate Democratic Leader Robinson will try to get a vote on the offices measure, to which the quota clause is attached, today or tomorrow.

The Civil Service Commission investigation asked yesterday by the House Rules Committee, and scheduled for floor consideration today, is sponsored by Representative William W. Hastings (Democrat), Oklahoma.

If passed by the House, it will require not only the commission but the heads of various Government agencies to determine where State

Mattern Is Told Winds Favorable

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Favorable winds along the Great Circle air route to Europe tonight gave promise that Jimmy Mattern could start at dawn tomorrow, on his solo flight around the world.

The young Texas aviator said he would decide definitely after he receives another weather report at midnight from Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist at the United States Weather Bureau.

There is little prospect that the present inclement weather over the route will abate, forecasters said, but Mattern will fly blind and he said he would brave rain and snow if he can get a strong wind behind him.

Farley Writes Indiana Leaders Urging Repeal

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Postmaster General James A. Farley, as chairman of the Democratic national committee, wrote to 5,000 State and local party leaders in Indiana today asking their "active cooperation in a militant campaign to get out the largest vote possible in favor of repeal" at the election of delegates to a ratification convention next Tuesday.

Stimson Becomes Head Of Locarno Committee

Paris, May 31 (A.P.).—Henry L. Stimson, former United States Secretary of State, has accepted the presidency of the permanent conciliation committee created by the Franco-German arbitration agreement under the Locarno accord.

The acceptance of the post by the former member of the Hoover Cabinet was announced tonight, a few hours after it was learned it had been offered to him.

Wasn't Walker Agent, Sherwood, Back, Says

Disappeared Voluntarily Out of Loyalty to Mayor, According to New York Paper; Is Penniless and Jobless.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—The New York American in a copyrighted story tonight says Russell T. Sherwood, reputed fiscal agent for former Mayor James J. Walker, is back. He disappearde 21 months ago.

"The long missing accountant, whose disappearance was a sensation in the Seabury investigation," said the American, "has returned to settle his affairs with the Federal Government and the New York Supreme Court.

"His whereabouts have been ascertained by the New York American. He submitted yesterday to a long interview by representatives of this newspaper in the presence of his attorney."

(In his testimony during the Hofstadter investigation of New York City government, Walker denied Sherwood had acted as his fiscal agent for other than routine bookkeeping transactions.)

The paper said the interview with Sherwood developed the following phases of the case:

"1. Sherwood met Walker secretly after the mayor resigned and just before Walker sailed on his present visit abroad.

"2. His explanation to the Government and to the State Supreme Court is expected to be that he never received one penny of any sums withdrawn for Walker.

"3. He never was Walker's fiscal agent, never was paid any salary by Walker, but carried on for him activities previously handled by the

432 END ANNAPOLIS EDUCATIONS TODAY

Only 244 Will Be Given Commissions Because of U. S. Economy.

Because of economy measures in both branches of Uncle Sam's military service the 1933 graduating class at the Naval Academy today will graduate 432 midshipmen, but only 244 will receive commissions and assignments to duty.

A group of 216 midshipmen will become ensigns of the line of the Navy. Eight will be made ensigns in the Supply Corps and 20 second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. Remaining members of the graduating class, numbering 188, will receive bachelor of science degrees only.

It was announced that 28 members of the upper part of the class, who were eligible for commissions, have taken advantage of the privilege of resigning from the Navy upon graduation.

Through efforts of Navy Department and Naval Academy officials, many of the graduates not commissioned have been placed with commercial firms. Approximately 100 members of the class have signified

Volpe Surrenders To Be Sent to Italy

Chicago, May 31 (A.P.).—Anthony "Mops" Volpe surrendered to immigration authorities, resigned to his fate of being the first Chicago gangster of note to be deported from America.

He posted $10,000 new bond and promised to be present when the next train load of deported aliens leaves, probably about June 14. He will be returned to Italy.

A "public enemy" and former Capone henchman, Volpe was deported because of perjury committed upon reentering the country after a flying trip to Cuba with Al Capone and several others. The United States Supreme Court has upheld the deportation order, ending a long legal battle by Volpe and his lawyers.

Headwind and Storms Delay Start of Mattern

New York (Thursday), June 1 (A.P.).—A 50-mile an hour headwind coupled with snow and sleet conditions off Newfoundland today held Jimmy Mattern landbound on his projected round-the-world flight.

The young Texas aviator said he would postpone his takeoff until the weather map shows a favorable tailwind. He hopes to make Paris his first stop.

CAMP KIT PURCHASE BEING INVESTIGATED

Howe Is Said to Have Named Company to Get Order; Price Criticized.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Carey (Republican), Wyoming, told reporters yesterday that the Senate Military Committee had received testimony that Louis M. Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, had made the suggestion that the conservation corps buy its toilet kits from a New York company.

Carey said the statement had been put before the committee by Robert Fechner, director of the forestation work, in testimony earlier yesterday.

Fechner appeared in executive session of a resolution by Carey for an investigation of the buying of the kits, which Fechner ordered at $1.40 each.

Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, quartermaster general of the Army, who also appeared, told the committee the Army could duplicate the kits at 85 cents each and had been buying similar toilet kits for 42 cents each.

Carey's resolution was approved by the committee after its provisions for a general inquiry into purchases for the reforestation program had been eliminated.

Fechner was represented by Carey and other senators as having told the committee that Howe suggested to him he buy the toilet kits from the Bevier Corporation of New York.

"Fechner told the committee that Howe called him up and that he had a letter from Howe, which was approved by the President, suggesting that he buy the kits from the Bevier Corporation," Carey said.

Gen. DeWitt, Carey said, presented the committee with a copy of a letter from Budget Director Douglas to Fechner, dated May 16, authorizing the purchase, which was approved by the President.

A letter authorizing shipment of 200,000 of the kits was sent to the Bevier Corporation on May 15, Carey said.

Peggy Ann Kent And Cadet Elope

Los Angeles, May 31 (A.P.).—News of the elopement and marriage during the Easter holidays of Peggy Ann Kent, sub-deb daughter of S. R. Kent, president of the Fox Film Corporation, and student at the Fairmont School in Washington, D. C., and "Bud" Dow, member of a socially prominent New York family, was received here today.

Mrs. Phyllis Banks, the girl's aunt, said the two have known each other four years. Dow has been attending Culver Military Academy.

Planes Nab Yacht Stealers

Owner Locates Missing Craft and Police Amphibian Effects Arrest of Two Men Fleeing From It in Dinghy.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—As one airplane circled low over a dinghy, a police amphibian alighted in Jamaica Bay today and picked up two men fleeing from a stolen 42-foot yacht.

In the plane that hovered over the rowboat was Russell Garrettson, of New Brunswick, N. J., owner of the yacht.

After his failure to locate his yacht by boat, Garrettson chartered a plane early today, flew in the fog over New York Harbor and neighboring waterfronts, and spotted his cruiser while swooping low over Jamaica Bay.

He called a police plane to the rescue. The planes circling low, the two men of the ship took to the dinghy and pulled away. The chartered plane zoomed low, circled around and cut off escape.

The two men told police they were George Moorehouse, of Jersey City, and Philip Calmeatto, of Brooklyn. At the Rockaway Police Station, Moorehouse said he knew Garrettson and had received permission to use the yacht.

Garrettson, after the capture, continued to his home. He admitted knowing Moorehouse in a telephone conversation with police, but denied giving permission to use his yacht, which was missing from its mooring when Garrettson went down to the harbor last Saturday to take a holiday cruise.

The two men were held pending further word from Garrettson.

NEW DEBT DATA TO BE STUDIED BY ROOSEVELT

Prospect of Payments by Any Nation June 15 Are Slight.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

With the departure of the American delegation for the economic and monetary conference in London yesterday, President Roosevelt finds himself now more at liberty to enter upon a detailed study of the intergovernmental debt situation. A fortnight from today the United States will expect the nations of Europe to meet their due payments on war borrowings from this Government. At the present time the prospects of a payment from any of the nations is regarded as slight.

The French government has signified through Ambassador de Laboulaye their willingness to make their deferred payment of last December 15, but only on condition that President Roosevelt accord France a moratorium on her payments due June 15.

Arrears Must Be Met.

President Roosevelt has indicated to the French Ambassador, as he is understood to have explained to former Premier Herriot, that France is responsible for the unpaid sum of $19,000,000 due six months ago, and that this arrearage must be met without any preliminary agreement on the part of the United States before the French claim to consideration can even be admitted on the same plane with the British and Italian debt status. Both of these countries promptly met their last payment.

The debt relations, so far as definite settlement goes, between the United States and its debtor nations are therefore about as advanced as they were last November 8. The most patent fact is that no actual step has yet been made by any of the countries to enter upon a concrete discussion of their obligations to this country and the best means of amortizing them.

Invitations have been sent by the President to the countries now under financial obligation to the United States and corollary hints have been broadly distributed that this Government would be disposed to consider any definite proposal from any of its debtors. British, French and Italian delegates came to the White House and sat down with the President, but confined their talks about debts to what the United States was willing to give in return for what it was legally entitled. No definite proposal to end the entire debt schedules was forthcoming from any of the European delegations, and as a result the pros-

Parliament Backs Daladier's Regime

Paris (Thursday), June 1 (A.P.).—The government of Premier Edouard Daladier was sustained early today when a question of confidence was put to a vote in both houses of Parliament.

The Chamber of Deputies backed up the government by a 359-to-200 vote in passing a compromise measure creating a committee to study a proposal for a government monopoly of oil importation.

The premier repeated his victory in the Senate, which accepted the chamber's compromise bill by a 157-to-121 vote. In both cases, the issue was made a question of confidence in the government before the votes were recorded.

McMath Kidnaper Held Sane; Returned to Cell

Barnstable, Mass., May 31 (A.P.).—Kenneth Buck, confessed kidnaper of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, 10-year-old Harwichport child, who was abducted May 2, was returned to a cell in the county jail here late today from the Bridgewater Hospital for the Criminal Insane, where he was taken last Sunday.

Buck, who had become violent in his cell and was taken to the hospital in a straightjacket, was declared sane by physicians at that institution.

Scottsboro Defendants Get Court HearingToday

Decatur, Ala., May 31 (A.P.).—Roy Wright and Eugene Williams, two of nine Negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case," have been ordered brought into Morgan circuit court tomorrow for a hearing on petitions for a writ of habeas corpus.

Wright and Williams, both alleged juveniles, are under indictment with seven other Negroes on charges of attacking two white girls aboard a Southern Railroad freight train in Jackson County on March 25, 1931.

Prison Clear

State Board Holds Official Personnel Not Guilty in Liberty Break.

Lansing, Kans., May 31 (A.P.).—Confidence in the official personnel of the Kansas State Penitentiary was expressed by the prison board of administration tonight following an investigation of the Memorial Day break of eleven convicts.

"The present prison rules were not to blame for the trouble," said Dr. James M. Scott, chairman.

"The guards taken by the convicts were all veteran officers, most of them with long service in police work. This shows the men did not attempt and carry out the escape because of any change in personnel."

Warden Kirk Prather, who was kidnaped with two guards by the fugitives, will be succeeded tomorrow by Lacey Simpson, of Canton, Kans., under the turnover from the recent Democratic State administration to the present Republican one.

Prather and the guards returned today from Oklahoma, where the convicts freed them.

ARLINGTON-FAIRFAX GAS RATES REDUCED

State Board Orders Slash Affecting 4,000 Consumers Today.

Richmond, Va., May 31 (A.P.).—The State Corporation Commission today ordered rates on the first 2,500 cubic feet of gas sold by the Rosslyn Gas Co. to approximately 4,000 consumers in Arlington and Fairfax Counties reduced by 20 per cent. The new rate is effective tomorrow.

The new rates are $1.20 for the first 2,500 cubic feet and 90 cents for all over that quantity as compared with the old rates of $1.50 for the first 2,500 cubic feet and 90 cents for all over that quantity.

Commercial and industrial services are included in the new rate, which does not apply to house-heating rates.

In ordering the reduction, the commission fixed the present fair value of the company's properties on which it is entitled to earn a return of $505,200. The new rates will mean a drop of about 14 per cent in the gross revenues of the company from general consumers.

The opinion by Commissioner Lester Hooker has been made a part of the record in anticipation of an appeal.

The petition in the Rosslyn case was brought to the commission by the Public Utilities Commission of Arlington County and other citizens' groups many months ago. The case was reopened in February and several hearings were held.

The company claimed that the properties on which it was entitled

Senate Deals Blow To Mail Subsidies

(Associated Press.)

In a double blow at Federal air and ocean mail subsidies, the Senate yesterday voted to give the President discretionary power to annul existing mail contracts and to fix a salary limitation upon companies holding such contracts. It authorized the cancellation of any mail contract if the holder paid individual salaries to officers exceeding $17,500.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, a leading opponent of subsidies, won restoration to the independent offices bill of the provision giving the President general cancellation powers. Black (Democrat), Alabama, who led the successful fight for an investigation of mail subsidies at the last session, offered the salary limitation amendment. He said the special committee named to conduct the subsidy investigation was proceeding quietly with its work. He expressed belief the Government might be saved $30,000,000 by the investigation.

Californians Terrorized By Blackmail Threats

Los Angeles, May 31 (A.P.).—Investigating extortion demands made upon Eric Pedley, internationally known polo player, Capt. Norris Stensland, of the sheriff's office, disclosed today that half a dozen prominent Los Angeles and Hollywood families have been terrorized recently by extortion threats.

Oklahoma Jailbreak Made Outside Walls By Convict Pair.

Slaying of Policeman Laid to Fugitives in Kansas Escape.

McAlester, Okla., May 31 (A.P.).—Two prisoners serving life sentences for murder escaped from the Oklahoma Penitentiary here late today after kidnaping Tom Baskin, a guard, and taking his gun and car. Baskin later was thrown from the car. He was not seriously injured.

Warden Sam Brown said Jim Stribling, an Indian, convicted of murder in Carter County in March, 1926, and H. D. Bradbury, convicted of murder in Oklahoma County in 1930, were the two who escaped.

He said Stribling and Bradbury, mechanics, had been taken by the guard outside the prison walls on the way to the women's ward, where they were to repair machinery.

Guard Only Bruised.

The convicts suddenly seized Baskin, struck him on the head, took his car and gun and, using him as a shield, drove past the prison brick plant and into the open highway.

Warden Brown said he was advised by telephone Baskin was thrown from the car a short distance from the penitentiary, but that he suffered only from bruises.

Guards at the brick pit fired on the car as it sped by, but they were unable to say whether any of their bullets took effect.

The two convicts headed northeast, Brown said. Police throughout Oklahoma immediately were notified to be on the lookout for the pair.

"It was not what you would call a real break," Brown said, "as the men were working outside when they overpowered the guard and drove away in his car."

Stribling, records show, escaped from the prison in July, 1931, but was captured nearby and returned the same day.

Kansas Fugitives Vanish.

An alarm was sounded shortly after the two men drove away and all available guards started in pursuit.

Stribling was convicted of slaying Charles Collins, a neighboring farmer, near Ardmore, after an argument over crops.

Bradbury was convicted in the killing of J. D. Gates, Oklahoma City policeman, in a pistol battle during a grocery store robbery.

Labor Amendment Added to Rail Bill

(Associated Press.)

The administration put its support behind the labor retention amendment to the railroad coordinator bill yesterday and the agreement was expected to hasten the legislation through Congress.

After a White House conference, Chairman Rayburn, of the House Commerce Committee, said his committee would attach the amendment to the administration bill today.

The proposal, added by the Senate, would bar the railroad coordinator from discharging employes now on the pay rolls of the carriers.

Representative Rayburn's announcement was accepted as signifying approval by President Roosevelt of the change. As the result of the agreement, Mr. Rayburn said he expected the bill would be passed by the House before the end of the week.

COMMERCE BUREAU MAY GET NEW DUTY

Roper Tells President Work on Recovery Bill Would Be Appropriate.

The commodity divisions of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce may be used as the basis of an organization to administer the industrial recovery act if the bill is passed at this session, it appeared yesterday.

Secretary of Commerce Roper said that he had pointed out to the President the availability of these divisions as the nucleus of the control administration. In addition to Secretary Roper's offer, it was reported that Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, who will administer the new bill, had been working with the divisions, studying their data and methods.

Use of the commodity agencies of the department would expedite the start of operations under the act, and would also prevent duplication of work. Contacts, information, and methods of the divisions would be immediately available to the control administration. A chart showing the activities of the department's branches has also been submitted to the President with Mr. Roper's offer of their services.

The Secretary of Commerce also revealed yesterday that, in his opinion, the bill regulating stock exchanges would not be offered at this session of Congress. Mr. Roper and the Attorney General were appointed by the President to draw up the legislation. The legislative status at the Capitol is the basis of his belief, Mr. Roper said.

The Secretary's proposal that industry form a contact committee to advise the President on legislation affecting business will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the department next week. The proposal will be discussed in the light of the industrial recovery bill, which had not been introduced when the President's committee on business was proposed.

Representatives of industry will be present at next week's meeting, which will consider the need for and purpose of such a committee. It must be decided whether the committee shall be a branch of the industrial recovery administration or shall be a separate organization cooperating with the administration. There is still a need for some committee to keep various branches of industry informed of conditions in other branches, Mr. Roper pointed out.

Telegrams from 27 industries, answering a request from the Commerce Department of factual information on business conditions were also released by the department yesterday. The majority of the telegrams reported that seasonal decreases were less than usual and seasonal increases greater. Employment ranged from 50 to 75 per cent of normal, with price advances reported in many industries. The telegrams generally showed a hopeful attitude.

OPPONENTS URGED TO AID OFFICES BILL

Protests Against Veterans' Benefits Slash Brings Many to Defense.

(Associated Press.)

Numerous protests at the bite taken out of veterans' benefits by the national economy act brought Democratic leaders to the defense of the President in the Senate yesterday with an appeal to opponents to aid him in correcting injustices in regulations.

Despite demands for repeal of the act or at least limitations on reductions, Democrats in charge of the $543,000,000 independent offices' bill—which cuts almost in half current appropriations for veterans—predicted its passage today with perhaps a few liberalizing amendments.

One such amendment was approved yesterday — that of Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, boosting the hospital fund by $1,000,000 for treatment of disabled former service men who can not trace their injuries to service.

Senator Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina, in charge of the bill, reiterated that the President had ordered revisions upward in the combat-wounded compensations, and was selecting a committee to visit hospitals and report any injustices.

He said there was a chance for adopting amendments by Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, limiting cuts to service-connected injuries to 25 per cent, and by Senator Dill (Democrat), Washington, making the same limit on reductions in pensions of Spanish War veterans over 62, but said that under the procedure a two-thirds vote would be required.

Rising to a vigorous defense of the President, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, assailed Senator Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, for calling Mr. Roosevelt responsible for the injustices complained of, and Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, for asserting the economy bill was sent to Congress by the President with a "false label—to maintain the credit of the Government."

Mitchell's Returns Defended by Steuer

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Charles E. Mitchell's 1929 income tax return, in which the Government claims it was defrauded of half a million dollars, was examined by the Internal Revenue Bureau a year after it was filed, Max D. Steuer brought out at the trial today, and no fault was found with it.

But the prosecution countered this with testimony that the agent who made the examination, Ambrose Husey, was transferred from the downtown to the uptown district in 1928 and that at the same time Mitchell started filing his return from his Fifth avenue home, in the uptown district, instead of from his Wall street office as he formerly had done.

The testimony regarding Husey's examination of Mitchell's return was given by Frank W. Black, former vice president of the Chase National Bank and tax expert, who for years made out Mitchell's returns. He was on the stand last Friday when court recessed over Memorial Day, and had not finished testifying today when adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

quotas have been exceeded in the past, and explain the reason for it.

Arbitrary Action Charged.

House Civil Service Committee Chairman Lamar Jeffers led the argument in favor of the investigation before the House Rules Committee yesterday. He said the apportioned service is now in a better situation than it ever has been before, but charged arbitrary action by the Civil Service Commission and section chiefs in making appointments.

Representative Howard W. Smith (Democrat), Virginia, explained that only in the last three years have Federal jobs been in great demand, stating that hitherto applicants from distant States have hesitated to pay the expense connected with coming to Washington for a Federal job. He said it was therefore only logical that residents of the District, Maryland and Virginia have been drawn on in excess.

Representative E. E. Cox (Democrat), Georgia, was designated to handle the resolution on the floor.

Navy Radios Late Items to Delegates

(Associated Press.)

A running fire of description of important world developments last night went out from the Navy Department through its powerful transmitters for the benefit of American delegates to the London Economic Conference aboard the S. S. President Roosevelt.

That part of the delegation which sailed yesterday carried detailed instructions from President Roosevelt as well as his general exhortation to "do your best," but fresh instructions and developments will be sent whenever there is need.

Delegates leaving Washington early yesterday morning appeared confident that the London conference, although presenting many major difficulties, held real hope of proving a turning point in the battle against world depression.

to State utility commissions for increases in rates to meet the tax charges. The House provision would have made it effective within 30 days.

The Senate amendment exempting municipally owned power plants from paying the 3 per cent electricity tax was eliminated, placing all power plants on the same footing.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the Senate probably would act today on the conference report.

Twentieth Child Announced.

Shenandoah, Iowa, May 31 (A.P.).—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hersberg, of near Yorktown, announced the birth of their twentieth child, a daughter. There are 14 boys and 6 girls now.

Fireman's Purchases of Sandlot Items Stolen as He Sees Game.

Fireman Aldin E. Davis, No. 15 Engine Company, is a sandlot baseball player as well as an ardent follower of baseball as played by the local entry in the American League.

Yesterday he went to the games at Griffith Stadium. But before going he purchased a dozen American League baseballs and a glove for use in his sandlot activities. He left them in his car, parked at Fourth and Q streets northwest, when he went to the game.

When he returned he found his car had been broken into and his balls and glove, valued at $19, had been stolen.

SIROVICH TO CONFER ON PERSONNEL BILL

Talk With Mitchell May Result in Changes in "Liaison Officer" Plan.

Representative William I. Sirovich (Democrat), New York, author of a proposal to create a Federal "liaison officer" to cope with personnel troubles, yesterday moved to broaden his bill to comply with suggestions offered on a broad front.

Today he will confer with Harry B. Mitchell, president of the Civil Service Commission. For two years in succession the Civil Service Commission has recommended establishment within the commission of a "board of appeals" to adjust complaints traceable to dismissals, demotions and the like.

Representative Sirovich believes his resolution might be expanded to embrace some of the commission's suggestions, which also have been recommended by certain organized Federal employe groups.

With a view to an agreement satisfactory to all concerned, Representative Sirovich yesterday talked the matter over with House Civil Service Committee Chairman Lamar Jeffers, Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, and others.

Representative Jeffers and possibly Senator Wheeler will accompany him to the Civil Service Commission today.

Representative Sirovich's new move yesterday to iron out the troubles of Federal employes was coincident with a Navy Department announcement that 203 employes would be dismissed to save $336,000 under the economy act.

Rockefeller Unit Show Of Models Is Extended

At the request of members of diplomatic services, the exhibit of paintings, drawing and models of Rockefeller Center buildings in room 1.851 of the Department of Commerce Building will be continued today and tomorrow.

The exhibit has already been viewed by representatives of 23 countries, including the Ambassadors of Great Britain, France and Belgium.

COBLENTZ ON STAND IN BANK FRAUD CASE

Central Trust Head Enters Defense to Indictments on Deposits Charge.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., May 31.—Testifying in his own defense, Emory L. Coblentz, president of the closed Central Trust Co. and its eleven branch banks, was the principal witness at his trial today in the circuit court, charged in three indictments of receiving deposits when he knew the banks to be insolvent.

It was the second day of the trial, and Mr. Coblentz was called to the stand following the conclusion of the testimony for the prosecution.

H. E. Meeks, senior bank examiner for Maryland, preceding Mr. Coblentz, testified that the bank had deposits of $14,000,000 when it closed and that little more than $2,250,000 had been collected from mortgages, notes and stock since the institution was placed in the hands of a receiver.

Used to Pay Bills.

Most of the collection, he added, had been used to liquidate bills payable and to make rediscounts in banks which held Central Trust Co. collateral, seeking to redeem the collateral.

S. Elmer Brown, treasurer of the trust company, testified that his personal indebtedness to the bank was about $25,000, this amount being augmented by an officer's note indebtedness of about $100,000. Grover C. Michael, another officer, testified that his obligations on an officer's note was approximately $156,000.

It was brought out that Mr. Coblentz and some of the officers and directors of the bank were indorsers of six notes, known as guarantors' loans, for approximately $700,000.

Mr. Coblentz testified that the bank invested between $5,500,000 and $6,500,000 in Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh real estate, mostly large buildings.

Investments in Washington.

Much of the larger amounts was in first, second and third mortgages in Washington buildings, including the Wardman Park Hotel, Colonial Hotel, Cathedral Mansions and four other properties on Connecticut avenue; Stanley Courts and other buildings, about 12 properties in all. About $2,000,000 was invested in a 21-story building in Pittsburgh. The witness said he and the directors of bank regarded these investments as substantial and profitable at the time they were made, prior to 1930. He said his indictment by the Federal Grand Jury of the District of Columbia, which never came to trial, was reflected in the operation of the Central Trust Co. and attributed this as one of the main causes for closing the bank, as it would likely incite a run on the institution.

Mr. Coblentz was still on the witness stand when court adjourned and will be recalled tomorrow.

MORGAN INQUIRY IS RESUMED WITH PECORA CALMED DOWN

the press tables. Five such questions were put to George Whitney, a Morgan partner, during his cross-examination regarding the affairs of the United Corporation.

One newspaper question brought out the fact that one "F. Gibbons" listed on the Morgan stock sales list was not the celebrated radio announcer, but a clerk in J. P. Morgan & Co.

Another such question, presented through Senator Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, brought out that the Edgar Rickard who bought 400 units of United Corporation stocks in 1929 was the close personal friend and former business associate of former President Hoover.

Other newspaper questions passed along to the senators suggested inquiries concerning the official status of Charles G. Dawes and the late Dwight Morrow at the time of their respective business relations with the Morgan firm. Mr. Dawes was listed last week as a borrower from Morgan, and Morrow was on yesterday's list of those who bought in early on United Corporation when that electric holding enterprise was launched under Morgan sponsorship early in 1929.

Either through questions passed up from the press section, or through the persistent interrogations of committee members, an heroic effort was made to match every Democratic name on the so-called "preferred" list with the name of a good Republican.

The United Corporation stocks were offered in units consisting of one share of cumulative preference, one share of common, and one common warrant, at $75 per unit. Some three weeks later when trading began on the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, these units moved at $99 each.

Divided Between Parties.

Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin was listed for 1,000 units and Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador at Large in Europe, for 250. John J. Raskob, then chairman of the Democratic National Committee, took 2,500 units, and William Gibbs McAdoo, 250.

Charles D. Hilles, Republican national committeeman from New York, took 1,000 units, and Robert E. Olds, former Undersecretary of State, 500. Other subscribers in the Morgan underwriting included Gen. John J. Pershing, 500 units; Frank L. Polk, 250; Daniel E. Pomeroy, 250; Edgar Rickard, 400; J. Henry Roraback, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, 1,000; Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, 300; R. B. Mellon, 3,000; Dwight Morrow, 2,000, and Gerrard Winston, 500.

Senator Glass, who had left the hearing room early in the morning session to attend to some important business elsewhere, returned soon after Pecora's investigators had handed typed copies of the stock list along to the press tables.

"Is the preferred client list in yet?" Glass demanded, as he resumed his seat.

"Not by that name," Mr. Whitney answered.

"I just wanted to inquire if my name was on it," Glass continued, amid laughter from the audience.

No one answered, but an examination of the list did not reveal the senator's name.

Senator Cousens asked if Chairman Raskob, as a preferred client, could have introduced others "under the tent."

Mr. Whitney explained that Mr. Raskob, as a director of General Motors, had been a friend of the Morgan partners for many years. The witness was still answering when Senator Glass interposed: "Maybe, if you had the chairman of the Republican national committee on the list he would have introduced Senator Couzens."

At another point Senator Glass ironically identified himself as a "minion of J. P. Morgan & Co." He asked Mr. Whitney if the Morgan partners did not develop both their Republican and Democratic friends for their possible influence in Washington. The witness replied such a thought never had occurred to him, and he doubted if it ever had occurred to any other Morgan partner.

"Well, then," Senator Glass continued, "it looks to me like you were derelict in your duty. I don't see how you ever made your money."

Drifted In and Out.

The entire inquiry yesterday covered only the ground which had been surveyed last week, touching the launching in 1929 of the Allegheny Corporation, Standard Brands, and United Corporation. The development of details relating to all of these transactions, however, was left largely to committee members. For one stretch of 35 minutes in the morning session, Pecora was only an observer.

When the afternoon session began, only Senator Fletcher was in his place. Others drifted in and out during the afternoon, but for the last hour only three members were at the hearing table. Left to conduct the inquiry himself, Pecora read into the record long extracts from Morgan documents, and endless memoranda covering the details of holding company transactions touching the affairs of the United Corporatiin.

The inquiry developed that the several constituent utility companies which make up the United Corporation holdings are owned by the Morgan interests only as regards 2 to 26 per cent of their respective stocks.

Senator Glass asked Mr. Whitney at one point for a statement which would show how the United, with only such minority holdings, could control the operating companies.

"I can't show you how we control them," the witness replied, "because I don't think we do."

Senator Kean, of New Jersey, a Republican member of the Banking and Currency Committee, placed a statement in the record relative to the associations of his own firm, Kean, Taylor & Co., with J. P. Morgan and Co. Kean and Taylor had subscribed to 500 units of the United Corporation issues in 1929.

"When I was a young man, after starting the firm in 1892," Senator Kean said, "I was able to place a considerable number of bonds brought out by Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co.

"I asked the present Mr. Morgan's father for an interest in the bond syndicates that they were bringing out, and Mr. Morgan, having a kind heart and finding that I was ready to work, gave me a small interest from time to time, on which amounts I made good.

"In other words, I sold more bonds than my proportion of the syndicates, and I have taken interests in the Morgan offerings since."

From his New York office, Edgar Rickard characterized the attempt to "drag" the name of former President Hoover into the inquiry as "outrageous."

If J. P. Morgan and his partners are reluctant to face queries fired at them by the Senate committee, they give no sign of it.

When the hearing resumed after luncheon yesterday, the financier and his partners walked into the committee room several minutes before their inquisitors arrived. Mr. Morgan greeted Chairman Fletcher pleasantly and handed him an expensive cigar. The photographers got the picture.

DR. LUBIN DISCUSSES INFLATION AT CLUB

Speaker Says Problem Lies in How to Stop Once Goal Is Reached.

Discussing inflation before Washington Rotarians at their Willard luncheon yesterday, Isador Lubin, of the Brookings Institution, stated that business deflation comes when profits decline and that inflation aims to hurry up business recovery by increasing prices. As overhead and wages lag behind prices, the margin thus created makes business profits possible.

Inflation advocates in this country, the speaker said, fall into three groups. One group wants the Government to issue paper money. The others advocate increased use of silver and the cutting of the gold content of the dollar.

With Congress committed to some form of inflationary legislation, President Roosevelt took the lead with the proposal for permissive rather than for mandatory inflationary powers. As finally enacted, the legislation permits open market operations in Government securities by the Reserve Banks for the purpose of broadening the credit base; permissive authority to fix the weight of the gold dollar and, within certain limits, the acceptance of silver payments on the debts of foreign governments.

From present indications, Dr. Lubin continued, we seem to be fairly on the way toward inflation. The important problem, however, is how to stop inflation after its objective is reached. To achieve this end and to prevent another crash it is essential that we have an administration with the courage to put on the brakes and that Congress agree to support the administration in taking such action.

President Arthur C. Christie presided at the meeting, which was attended by a dozen visiting Rotarians from other States. George O. Gillingham spoke briefly on the Georgetown Boys Club, sponsored by Rotary.

MRS. CARMAN SUES RIVAL FOR $100,000

Washington Woman Holds Horse Trainer's Love Was Alienated.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., May 31.—Claiming $100,000 damages for the alleged loss of her husband's affections, Mrs. Angela Roach Carman, of Washington, filed suit in the Superior Court today against Mrs. Lucille Forden Smith.

The suit alleged that Mrs. Carman and Richard F. Carman, jr., well-known race-horse trainer, were married at Washington April 21, 1916. It alleged that in October, 1931, and thereafter Mrs. Smith, knowing Carman was married, caused his affections for his wife to be alienated, with the result that he left Mrs. Carman.

Mrs. Carman's address was given as 3009 Tenth street northeast, Washington. Her suit was filed by Wendell D. Allen and John Paul Jones, attorneys. The title of the suit stated that Mrs. Smith is "also known as Lucille Forden Carman."

Officials of the sheriff's office were instructed to summon Mrs. Smith at the Jefferson Apartments, 4 East Thirty-second street. Deputies later reported that the summons had been served.

Col. Bradley Sued To Recover Taxes

Lexington, Ky., May 31 (A.P.).—A suit against Col. E. R. Bradley for more than $3,000,000, claimed due for delinquent taxes, was dismissed today in Fayette County court, and soon thereafter a new and similar suit against him for approximately $400,000 was filed.

Dismissal of the larger suit, filed May 8, was ordered by County Judge Chester D. Adams on motion of I. Jay Miller, attorney for M. J. Brennan, revenue agent for the State-at-large. The new suit was filed for the same plaintiff. Both suits concern taxes on stocks and bonds said to have been owned by Col. Bradley during the past ten years.

Attorneys for Col. Bradley maintain that his legal residence is in Florida, and that he is therefore not subject to taxation on stocks and bonds in Kentucky.

TAKOMA PARK SUIT TODAY ON BEER ACT

Three Merchants Will Seek to Enjoin Mayor From Blocking Sales.

Suit to enjoin the Mayor and Council of Takoma Park, Md., from interfering with the sale of beer by three local merchants will be filed in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md., today, Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, attorney for the merchants, announced yesterday.

The petition will claim that while the ordinance which requires that a $1,000 fee for license to sell beer in the town in addition to State and county taxes is valid under ordinary circumstances it is unconstitutional in this instance because it conflicts with the State law which takes jurisdiction from local governments.

The merchants have been given State licenses by Clerk of the Circuit Court Clayton K. Watkins after the State License Board passed on objections by residents of the town and decided that the merchants were entitled to licenses under the law.

They also have paid their Federal tax and the only bar now before them is the $1,000 fee promulgated by the town council in response to a demand by a group of local residents that they prevent beer from being sold in the town.

Americans Hopeful Of Wheat Accord

London, May 31 (A.P.).—The threat to success of a world wheat restriction agreement seen in the announcement from Sydney that Australia will not participate in an accord to limit acreage failed today to disturb the hopeful attitude of the American delegation.

Henry Morgenthau, sr., chief of the American group of experts, and his colleagues expressed the belief that an agreement can be reached for the control of wheat production by the time the world economic conference gets under way.

Stanley M. Bruce, the Australian high commissioner, announced at the first formal session of the four-power wheat conference here today that his government could not participate in a proposed international scheme for limiting production of the cereal.

"GOSNELL," B. E. F. POET, IDENTIFIED

Edward Steinkraus, Illinois Veteran, Had Clear Army Record.

Homicide squad members learned from the War Department yesterday that Eddie "Gosnell," poet-photographer of the 1932 bonus army, was in reality Edward Steinkraus, a veteran of the Regular Army with an unimpeachable record.

Meanwhile the cameraman-bard of the bonus legions lies in death at the District Morgue, awaiting word from relatives in southern Illinois, notified of his suicide Monday by police here. An aunt, Mrs. Frank Weber, of Hurst, Ill., a suburb of East St. Louis, Ill., was among those notified.

Right-wing bonus leaders were still pursuing their investigation of the death of their comrade, whom they declare was driven to his death by the persecution of mysterious influences.

Fingerprints taken from Steinkraus' body established through War Department files the identity of "Gosnell." The investigation was conducted by Detective Sergt. George Darnell, of the homicide squad. Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald has issued a certificate of suicide.

Documents and photographs relating to bonus army activities, valued accumulations of "Gosnell," were being held by police last night. Among the effects held were the supposed only film negative in existence of the fatal shooting of William Hushka during the bonus riots last July.

ARLINGTON-FAIRFAX GAS RATES REDUCED

to earn a return had a reproduction, less depreciation, value of $802,496, a book value of $775,481, and an original cost, plus certain intangibles, value of $725,307.

The commission set the value as of December 31, 1932, at $505,200.

During the hearing counsel for the company had argued that the chief question of the rates depended on the wholesale price of gas which the Roslyn company had to pay to its parent company, the Washington Gas Light Co. Counsel argued that the Virginia commission had nothing to do with this wholesale price since it involved interstate commerce.

Woodin Invites Tenders On $75,000,000 Bills

GEN. A. W. CATLIN, 64, EXPIRES IN VIRGINIA

Was Commander of Second Division of Marines in World War.

Maj. Gen. Albertus Wright Catlin, 64, commander of the Second Division of Marines in the World War, died suddenly from a heart attack yesterday at his home in Mitchell, Va.

Wounded during the assault at Belleau Wood June 6, 1918, Gen. Catlin had been in poor health for several years, and found it necessary to maintain a home in the mountains. He was enjoying his usual health, however, until stricken suddenly early yesterday. He had been in retirement for twelve years.

Born in Gowanda, N. Y., December 1, 1868, Gen. Catlin was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1890. He was promoted through the grades to brigadier general. He was in command of the Marine Guard on the U. S. S. Maine when it was destroyed in Havana Harbor in 1898, and commanded the Marines on the S. S. St. Louis during the Spanish-American War. From 1902 to 1904 has was in charge of Marine activities in the Philippines. He also was in command of Marines during the American occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, on April 21, 1914.

Following the World War, Gen. Catlin was assigned to command of the First Brigade of Marines in Haiti. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor "for distinguished conduct" at Vera Cruz on April 22, 1914, and was honored by the French government for service at Chateau Thierry, receiving the Croix de Guerre with Palm and the Legion of Honor medal.

He maintained his Washington residence at 1502 Crittenden street northwest. Besides his widow, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Darling, Mrs. Wimma C. Vose and Miss Martha Catlin.

Private funeral services will be held Friday at the S. H. Hines funeral parlors, 2901 Fourteenth street northwest. Interment will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

2 LIFERS ESCAPE OKLAHOMA PRISON

peradoes who escaped yesterday from the Kansas Penitentiary had vanished tonight in the hill country of northeastern Oklahoma—long an outlaw retreat.

Posses hunted the timbered "bad lands" without avail. A police net was extended in a wide circle through Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas on the theory that the convicts might make a dash for distant parts.

Squads of police and deputy sheriffs guarded highways. They were heavily armed and ready to "shoot to kill" if they encountered the fugitives. The convicts were well supplied themselves with rifles, shotguns and pistols.

Veteran Shot to Death.

Otto L. Durke, 42, night policeman and a World War veteran, was shot down early today at Chetopa, Kans. Authorities expressed the belief that he had run afoul of one of the two parties of convicts.

Chetopa is only 15 miles from Welch, Okla., near where Wilbur Underhill and Harvey Bailey, leaders of the prison break, with four other convicts, last night released Warden Kirk Prather and Guards L. A. Laws and John Sherman, who were kidnaped from the prison and taken on a wild automobile ride.

After a harrowing experience as captives of the other five convicts who fled in a separate group, Mrs. M. J. Wood, her 17-year-old daughter, Louise, and Miss Gloria Wears, 17, returned unharmed today to their homes in Kansas City, Kans.

They were freed last night at a farm house near Pleasanton, Kans., 100 miles southeast of Lansing, but because the telephone lines at the house had been cut did not report their safety until this morning.

Indications were that the second group of fugitives fled south into Oklahoma after releasing the women. They were some hours behind the band which held the warden prisoner.

Full of Gold

$3,500 Found on Man Accused of Driving Car While Drunk.

Prince Georges County police yesterday found themselves faced with the first case on record of alleged hoarding of gold notes, under Presidential ban.

Aubrey Breeden, a resident of Abbey place northeast, who was arrested early yesterday at Bladensburg, Md., on a charge of reckless driving and driving while drunk, was discovered to have $3,500 on his person. The bulk of this was $20 gold notes.

Washington police were asked to assist in the case and Detective Sergeant Frank O. Brass was dispatched from Metropolitan police headquarters. Breeden told Brass he was a car inspector for the Pennsylvania Railroad where he had been employed for 15 years. The money was his life's savings, he said.

R. Wendell Eaves, principal of Jefferson School, Alexandria, has been appointed by Gov. John Garland Pollard to represent the Commonwealth of Virginia at the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia July 2-15.

J. W. JOHNSON DIES ON WAY TO DENVER

Was Construction Chief on Mount Vernon Memorial Highway.

Junius W. Johnson, District engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads, who supervised construction of the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway, died Tuesday aboard a train en route to Colorado.

Mr. Johnson was chief of the Denver district of the roads bureau. He came here in 1929 to supervise work on the memorial highway. He returned to Denver after completing his work last year.

Born in Scott County, Ky., in 1878, Mr. Johnson was educated in the public schools of Denver and was graduated from the school of mines at Golden, Colo., in 1901. From that time until 1913 he was in charge of various engineering work in the West and served as State engineer in New Mexico.

In 1917 he was appointed senior highway engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads and several years later was sent to the Denver post.

Funeral Is Today For J. A. Herbert

Funeral services for Joseph A. Herbert, senior member of the firm of Joseph A. Herbert & Sons, East Washington realtors, who died suddenly from a heart attack Monday, will be held at 8:30 a. m. today at his home at 515 East Capitol street, and at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church, Second and C streets northeast. Interment will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Herbert had been engaged in business in East Washington for many years. His two sons, Joseph A., jr., and Loren M., were associated with him in his real estate business. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

GRIFFITH RITES TODAY.

The funeral of Herbert A. Griffith, veteratn yardmaster of the Southern Railway, who died on Tuesday, will take place at 2 p. m. today from the home, 117 Myrtle avenue, Mount Vernon Park. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Hugh J. McFadden, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

MRS. ANNIE CLEVELAND DIES

Funeral of Alexandria Woman, 87, to Be Held Tomorrow.

Mrs. Annie Cleveland, 87, widow of Arthur Cleveland, died yesterday at her home on Seminary Hill. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from the home, conducted by the Rev. Thomas K. Nelson, of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of Virginia. Burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Cleveland is survived by the following sons: R. S. Cleveland, Alexandria; A. H., A. P. and W. J. Cleveland, of Seminary; two daughters, Miss Mamie Cleveland, of Seminary, and Mrs. R. T. Harding, of Alexandria, and two grandchildren who made their home with her, Miss Marian Rector and Arthur Rector.

PRESIDENT TO STUDY NEW DATA ON DEBTS

pects of a payment June 15 are regarded as forlorn.

The proposal has been made in some academic circles that the best way to avoid the harmful results of a general default on that day would be to apply the principle of the tariff truce and the arms truce to the debt problem. Since the United States believes in the inherent promotion of good with through the armistice method with regards to tariffs and disarmament, application of the same principle to the debt problem would be equally as effective. It is believed certain that whatever reluctance foreign nations displayed toward the truce proposals for tariffs or armaments, there would be unanimous approval of the principle were it applied to debts.

At various times in the past apochryphal statements have been made with regard to the debts which have failed of substantiation at any later date. Out of the mass of these statements, the only realistic fact that is true today is that nothing has been done by the President on the debt matter. He has accomplished what he believes to be the most effective and the most equitable process in dealing with the obligations of European nations to this country and until they formally reject his conditions or ask for a new treatment, he will abide by his original intention.

The fate of the Economic Conference in London and the Disarmament Conference in Geneva may very well depend to a very considerable degree on what is done with regard the intergovernmental debts here. If the President makes it known that he will consider a suspension of the June 15 payments for the duration of the London and Geneva conferences, it will probably be interpreted by the European nations there represented as a forfeit for the successful outcome of both or at least one of the conferences. What diplomacy may be unable to accomplish the intergovernmental debts may be able to bring about.

Jim Roland Ends 50 Years On Street Cars of Capital

You can't say that "Jim" Roland has been a motorman for 50 years, for in the first years of his service he piloted horse cars from the Water street wharves to Georgia avenue and V street.

In any event he has completed 50 years of service and yesterday he was presented with a purse of currency by President William F. Ham and the board of directors of the Washington Railway Co.

Like the sea captains in the past century who went from "sail to steam," James T. Roland went from "team to trolley."

It is estimated that "Jim," as he is known to the countless thousands who have ridden the Ninth street line, has gone 1,250,000 miles in his long period of service—an average of once around the world each year.

He has seen the inaugural parades of thirteen Presidents and recalls vividly sitting on the top of his horse car on a cold March day in 1885 to see the inaugural parade of President Grover Cleveland.

Mr. Roland plans to continue in his position as dean of Washington's motormen.

IT TAKES MORE DOLLARS
. . . TO BUY GULDEN
. . . TO BUY DIAMONDS

Amsterdam is the world's market for diamonds. Diamond importers buy precious gems with gulden (sometimes called "guilders") which are purchased with American dollars. At the present rate of exchange it requires more dollars to purchase the gulden at which diamonds are valued . . . That definitely explains why diamonds make a good investment NOW—and why their price trend is upward! . . . Precious gems now in stock are being sold at the advantageous low prices that have been in effect during the period of depression . . . It is our sincere advice to make diamond purchases RIGHT NOW.

CIRCUS HERE AGAIN, BIGGER THAN EVER

Crowds Thrilled by Gigantic Array of Entertainment That Never Ages.

Beginning with the panoply of an Oriental parade and ending with the boom of the cannon that shoots Hugo Bacchini a hundred feet into the air, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey's circus opened its big show yesterday at the circus grounds, Fifth and Florida avenue northeast.

Bigger and better, with new acts, new faces and new feats, the circus remains the thrilling spectacle that it has always been.

There still is the familiar thrill of the daring trapeze and tight-wire performers, bareback riding that only the circus can stage, and the antics of 100 clowns.

Girl's Daring Riding.

Animal performers vied with humans at yesterday's performances for the favor of the crowds. The elephants show was stupendous and impressive in the last line-up of nearly two-score ponderous actors.

Miss Dorothy Herbert's daring riding was a feature, but no less liked was the superb black horse that she rode and jumped over the flaming hurdle.

Trained seals are always fascinating. Of all the circus animals none seemed so much to enjoy their bit of acting unless it was the monkey in the pony race, looking back at his losing fellows with a disdainful sneer.

The Wallenda Troupe again did their balancing acts on the high tight wire and the Flying Codonas accomplished seemingly impossible feats on the swinging trapezes.

Golden Jubilee Year.

There are 23 separate and complete displays in the great show, which is the golden jubilee of Ringling Bros., and the two performances today, afternoon and night, will afford another chance for entertainment that can only be seen under the "big top."

Mrs. Roosevelt and the White House children will attend today's matinee performance.

Incidentally, the new general manager of the circus, Samuel Gumperts, is a native Washingtonian, having left this city at the age of 7 as a boy acrobat.

After a career in the circus and in the amusement business which has made him a fortune, he is back under the canvas just because the circus is in his blood.

3 Accused in Riot At Parade of Reds

San Diego, Calif., May 31 (A.P.).—Charges of felonious assault were filed today against three of ten men arrested following a riot in which 300 Communists and sympathizers from Los Angeles battled 30 policemen in New Town Park.

Frank Martin, 26; Sam Goldman, 42, and Frank Young, 19-year-old Negro, were those charged with felonies. All said they came here yesterday for a demonstration "against militarism and unemployment." Seven others were charged with inciting to riot and resisting an officer, high-grade misdemeanors.

Two policemen still were in hospitals today and a third was under medical care as a result of injuries received in the fighting. A fourth was added to the more seriously injured list when it was learned F. C. Sherwood, 37, a member of the American Legion who went to the aid of police, had suffered broken ribs.

SHERWOOD RETURNS AND DENIES CHARGES

mayor's brother, the late George Walker.

"4. For several months Sherwood has been living with his wife in a neighboring State.

"5. Walker did not order or request his disappearance. He went away voluntarily, out of loyalty to the mayor and because he believed the investigation would pry into Walker's private affairs, and he has returned voluntarily.

"6. A bogus Russell T. Sherwood has been working a confidence game on attorneys of the South and West and has tried to extort large sums from Sherwood's sisters.

"7. Except for his honeymoon in Mexico City, where he was served with subpenas by two Seabury assistants, Sherwood always has been within the United States, much of the time under his own name.

"8. For two months he has been negotiating with the Government on income-tax claims of more than $40,000 standing against him.

"9. He can not pay the court's contempt fine of $50,000 in part payment of which his home has been seized. He is broke and unemployed.

"10. Mrs. Sherwood, who became his bride in Mexico City, has not been away from him ten minutes in the 21 months of their wanderings.

"11. All that Walker ever had in their joint safe deposit box was a piece of jewelry; no money, securities or papers."

The American said Sherwood's talk "was a complete and categorical denial of many of the allegations made by Samuel Seabury."

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

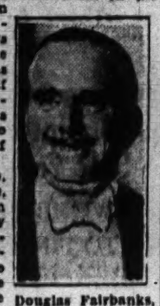
With NELSON B. BELL.

ALL of that unquenchable mental and physical exuberance that used to express itself in startling feats of athleticism on the screen back in Douglas Fairbanks' salad days as a Triangle star now seems to exhaust itself in long and presumably arduous excursions into the far corners of the earth.



Douglas Fairbanks, his next picture,

For instance, Fairbanks, pere, just back from Europe, is busy in Hollywood organizing an expedition into China, where he plans to make in which he will portray the role of Marco Polo, the dashing young Italian explorer.

This production, he declares, will probably be his most ambitious effort in years. Its story will be based upon the comprehensive topic of Chinese culture through the ages, with particular reference to the adventurous and spectacular events in Oriental history—events which involve such fabulous names as Genghis Khan, Kubla Khan and Marco Polo, as well as names that have been written into the history of more modern times.

Several details remain to be worked out, according to the latest bulletin from United Artists, especially those concerning whether or not the picture will be entirely in English, and also whether or not Mr. Fairbanks will be the only non-Oriental in the cast. It is definitely settled, however, that the star will give over a goodly portion of the story to the young Marco Polo, who trekked from Europe to the Far East and brought back with him a celebrated Oriental beauty as his wife.

It is reported that Mr. Fairbanks has concentrated on Chinese literature during the last year or two and is of the conviction that the literature of no other country is so profoundly intriguing.

It is expected that it will require about a month longer to organize the production unit and then Doug, sr., will cross the Pacific and establish headquarters either in Shanghai or Peking—or Peiping if that's how you feel about it.

There are, no doubt, those who will gather from all this that Doug has just heard about Mary's "Secrets" being a pretty good picture!

So who should walk into the office, all blithe and gay, but Mr. Eddie Corcoran, showing Lou Brown, in charge of publicity for Loew's, Inc., in the Capital, how to find his way around to the newspaper offices.

Mr. Corcoran, you should know, is one of the cinema's more resourceful exploiteers, originator and continuing panjandrum of the Hollywood Exhibit on the Steel Pier in Atlantic City and now, also, proprietor of a three-masted piratical craft that he contemplates converting into a beer barge up Inlet way, around the corner from the old Absecon Light, also in Atlantic City.

At the moment, though, Master Corcoran is in town peddling a lot of extravagances concerning the superlative qualities that characterize a little thing of Paramount's, called "College Humor," that he is boosting for the Palace the week of June 16.

I imagine it can't amount to much, since there is nobody in it but Bing Crosby, Gracie Allen and George Burns, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Lona Andre, the Ox-Roads Coeds and a couple of hundred others!

And that reminds me. Speaking of Eddies and Loew's, Eddie Gilmore, former cymbal-whanger-in-chief for Loew's Fox, Palace and Columbia in this city, whose capability and conscientious hard work (sic) earned him promotion to the managing directorship of Loew's Grand Theater in Atlanta, Ga., whence he came originally to Washington, is back in town on a fortnight's vacation, renewing old friendships and reviving old associations.

You'd be surprised how much handshaking and backslapping has been going on since his arrival a scant 36 hours ago. You'd think everybody was having a birthday, or something. Eddie did have one last Sunday, by the way, which makes him and Minna Gombell twins, just the way Kathryn Givney and I are!

After a long period of uncertainty as to who could best qualify for the masculine lead in Universal's forthcoming picturization of Frederick Lewis Allen's best seller, "Only Yesterday," Director John M. Stahl has selected John Boles, a Washington favorite, for the coveted part. This will make the third lead Boles has played in Universal-Stahl productions in the last three years, the other two having been "Seed" and "Back Street."

"Only Yesterday" is the picture for which Margaret Sullavan, who debuted locally as a particularly engaging ingenue at the Belasco a few seasons back, was recently signed. Taken ill while flying from New York to Chicago en route to this engagement, Miss Sullavan, who had just closed a brilliant appearance in the Edna Ferber-George S. Kaufman New York hit, "Dinner at Eight," was forced to remain in Chicago several days under a physician's care, and so reached Universal City almost a week behind schedule.

Oh, Mr. Laemmle, ask her if she was well enough to get out to the fair grounds. You know you can't be too careful about checking up these things this summer.

Psychic marvels, it seems, are subject to physical ailments, the same as all the rest of us dumb clucks who can't see through an open window!

For example, when Gene Dennis came to town to fulfill her eminently successful two-week engagement at RKO-Keith's—where, incidentally, she is giving a special morning matinee, for women only, today at 9:30—she was suffering from a bronchial affection that caused her no end of annoyance and threatened to interrupt her stage appearances. Being, like many other members of the profession, an advocate of drugless therapy, Miss Dennis called in Dr. Frank T. Shyne, who has saved many a stage performance for some of the foremost of our stars—including Edmund Lowe and Walter Hampden on recent visits, and numerous others—had her neck cracked a few times and has been going great guns ever since without missing a show.

An odd thing about Miss Dennis' strange power is that it is absolutely of no efficacy in divining facts pertaining to her own present or future. If you were to lose all your diamond bracelets right now, Gene could probably tell you how and where to recover them; if she should lose her own, they would be lost, and that would be that. It's just one of those things.

If you can't find time to ask her that question this week, she will be at the Hippodrome Theater in Baltimore next. They tell me her weird facility in divination is as infallible in Maryland as it is in the District! And that's plenty good enough for anybody.

Right here at home next week, since you practically ask point-blank, the line of march through the cinemagogues will be at least approximately as follows: Palace, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Burns & Allen and W. C. Fields in "International House;" Earle, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Loretta Young in "The Life of Jimmy Dolan," and Lillian Shade headlining the vaudeville; Loew's Fox, William Montgomery and Sally Eilers in "Made on Broadway," and condensed version of "Whoopee" on the stage; RKO-Keith's, Bebe Daniels in "Cocktail Hour;" Metropolitan, Lionel Atwill, Charlie Ruggles and Kathleen Burke in "Murders in the Zoo;" Columbia, Tom Keene and Julie Haydon in "Son of the Border."

Tomorrow at Glen Echo Park, the School Boy Patrol of Montgomery County, Md., will picnic and frolic in a gala day of merrymaking under the guidance of Chief of Police Alvie Moxley, of Rockville, and Sergt. LeRoy Rodgers, of Bethesda Police Headquarters. This outing is a reward for meritorious service and the prevention of many accidents through a period dating from last September to the present time. More than 100 boys of the corps are expected to join in the fun, including, of course, a great deal of splashing about in the newly opened Crystal Pool.

Boy, those circus elephants certainly can get away with a lot of trunkfuls of peanuts. You'd think they were all goobernatorial candidates, or something!

BANKER AND DOCTOR DUEL; FORMER SHOT

Pasadenan Lured to Scene by Foe, Who Is Seized; Money Deal Blamed.

Pasadena, Calif., May 31 (A.P.).—As the outgrowth of ill feeling over a business deal, M. Vilas Hubbard, bank vice president, and Dr. H. M. Griffith, capitalist, engaged in a pistol fight here today. Hubbard was shot three times in the right arm, police reported. Dr. Griffith, uninjured, was arrested.

The shooting was on the front porch of the home of Hubbard's father, W. H. Hubbard, where officers charged, Dr. Griffith lured the younger Hubbard and began shooting at him from the front door.

The younger Hubbard, officers said, drew a pistol from his pocket and returned the fire.

Police said they had been guarding Vilas Hubbard at his home and at the Citizens Savings Bank, of which he is vice president, several days as a result of his charge Dr. Griffith had been threatening him and his children.

Dr. Griffith, police said, entered the elder Hubbard's home in the latter's absence, carrying with him wire, bandages and a bomb, which he had kept from World War days, tied up a Negro maid and telephoned S. E. Marshall, who, police asserted, holds a mortgage on the Griffith home. Dr. Griffith, the officers said, asked Marshall to come to the house for a conference about the mortgage and on Marshall's arrival, forced him at pistol point to summon the younger Hubbard by telephone.

Soong Off for London For Economic Parleys

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese finance minister, sailed today on the liner Europa for the London economic conference. A large detail of police stood guard as he and ten associates embarked.

Soong has been in Washington conferring with President Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT DEFERS REORGANIZING PLAN

Only Minor Changes in Federal Establishment to Be Made Now.

Indefinitely delaying his main plans for Governmental reorganization, President Roosevelt said yesterday that only a few minor changes in the Federal establishment would be made immediately. Controversial changes and those requiring great study will not be made for the time being, although six or eight proclamations will be issued on minor ones within a few days.

Delay in effecting the reorganization will not react adversely on the economy program, it was explained. The actual savings would not be great in any case, the importance of the reorganization being in increased efficiency. Some savings in overhead were expected, but Governmental economy would mainly result from reductions in operating costs. These overhead savings will be lessened by postponing the changes, but the savings within departments will not be affected.

As an example of controversial questions on which nothing would be done at this time, the consolidation of the Forest Service and Park Service was pointed out. There has been some question as to whether the Park Service should be absorbed into the Forest Service, under the Department of Agriculture, or whether the Forest Service should embrace the Park Service, the whole to be under the Department of the Interior.

The proposed formation of a Bureau of Transportation under the Department of Commerce will also be postponed, it is believed. It was also thought unlikely that any changes would be made at this time in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce. Among those changes which will be made it is considered probable that the Bureau of Mines will be transferred from Commerce to the Department of the Interior.

These changes which will be made include the most obvious ones, it was said authoritatively.

MASSED CHOIRS SING 'THE CREATION' OPUS

High Spot of Program Came When 285 Joined in Haydn Number.

Seven of the Capital's vested choirs joined forces last evening in presenting a concert for the benefit of the Columbia Bible Training School in the grand ballroom of the Willard Hotel before an audience of more than 600.

Individually offering a group of numbers were, in the order of their appearance, the choirs of the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church, Justin Lawrie directing; the National City Christian Church, William E. Braithwaite directing; the National Baptist Memorial Church, George F. Ross directing; the Church of the Epiphany, Adolf Torovsky directing; the Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, John H. Marville directing; the First Congregational Church, Ruby Smith Stahl directing, and the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church (South), R. Dean Shure directing.

Of the many numbers on the program, which was consistently well sung, "Ho! Everyone That Thirsteth" (Macfarlane), "The Day of Judgment" (Arkhangelsky), "Thine, O Lord" (Macfarlane), "Hallejuh" from Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," "This Glad Easter Day" (Norwegian carol), "Beautiful Savior" (Christensen), and "By Babylon's Wave" (Gounod), may be singled out as the various choirs' better offerings.

The high point of the evening, as might have been expected, was the massing of the 285 singers for the rendering of "The Heavens Are Telling," from Haydn's "The Creation." Under the direction of Mr. Braithwaite, with Edith B. Athey and Robert Ruckman at the two pianos and Ruby Smith Stahl, Justin Lawrie and John H. Marville carrying the solo parts, this selection will long be remembered as the most glorious performance that Washington has heard of this Haydn opus.

Fortunate it is that this concert was not in the nature of a contest, for it would, indeed, be almost impossible to pick a winner, so excellently did each choir perform its several numbers. What differences that were detected could not be attributed to any variation in the worth of the choristers, but rather to one's especial likes and dislikes or to the differences in size of the organizations.

It mattered little whether the group be a small, intimate one like that of the Foundry Church or one of greater proportions, as that of the Mount Vernon Place Church, the various numbers were picked for the organization and they were presented with uniform excellence. A glorious evening, withal, and one that might be repeated with pleasure and profit for Washington's lovers of choral music.

W. A. WHITNEY.

$3,295,527 Is Left By Patent Lawyer

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Philip Tell Dodge, patent lawyer and industrialist, left an estate of $3,295,527, it was shown today in a transfer tax appraisal. The widow, Mrs. Lilas Sutherland Dodge, in addition to the residuary estate, receives personal effects and jewelry totaling $15,876.

A daughter, Olive Dodge Musgrave, of Atlanta, Ga., receives $20,000. A grandchild, Margaret Musgrave, receives a $35,000 trust, and two other grandchildren, Philip and Thomas C. Musgrave, all of Atlanta, each receive $15,000 in trust.

William W. Dodge, of 1331 G street northwest, Washington, D. C., receives $10,000, and $5,000 each goes to a sister, Jenny Dodge, and to Margaret B. Dodge, both of 111 First street northeast, Washington.

Ship Hits Iceberg; Crew Rows Ashore

St. Johns, Newfoundland, May 31 (A.P.).—The crew of 23 of the banking vessel Dorothy Melita, of Grand Bank, reached here safely late today in ten dories to report the loss of their ship after a collision with an iceberg.

The crew, suffering little from their experience, said their boat struck an iceberg shortly before dawn Sunday 140 miles southeast of here.

For two days, they stood by the pumps in an effort to save their craft. Yesterday at daylight, however, they said they were forced to abandon her and she sank shortly after they took to the dories.

Briton Believed Slain Returns to Mexico Home

Laredo, Tex., May 31 (A.P.).—Richard Barnes, son of the British vice consul at Saltillo, Mexico, who had been sought since his stripped car was found 40 miles south of Laredo several days ago, returned home on foot today.

He said he started walking home after the machine broke down and did not know a search was being conducted for him.

Correction.

The Post last Sunday stated that Roy H. Silvey, of Edmonston, Md., was evicted from his home through foreclosure of a mortgage held by his brother-in-law, Harold Hiortdahl, also a resident of Edmonston.

Mr. Hiortdahl was not connected with the case, it was learned later. The Post regrets the error.

Jelkes Tied

Court Decides Neither of Society Pair Entitled to Have Divorce.

Newport, R. I., May 31 (A.P.).—Mrs. Eugenia Woodward Jelke today was found innocent of infidelity, but because both she and her husband, F. Frazier Jelke, have practiced "extreme cruelty" toward each other neither may have a divorce.

That, in substance, was the decision handed down by Judge Charles A. Walsh after a two weeks' hearing of the couple's matrimonial difficulties.

Both parties sought a divorce, but Judge Walsh, holding neither had been blameless of violations of the marriage covenant, refused to void the relationship.

"In this case, as it appears that each of the parties hereto has been guilty of extreme cruelty toward the other, we can not grant either of them relief," Judge Walsh ruled.

Blaze Found

By Firemen in Basement of School—Right in Furnace.

Seeing a fire in the basement of the J. R. West School, on Farragut street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest, late yesterday, a passerby immediately pulled the fire box and the fire apparatus came tearing.

The firemen dashed hurriedly into the basement of the school, where the blaze was seen. The fire was there all righty-right. But it was in the furnace just where it should be.

The chagrin of the man who pulled the box left no doubt in the minds of the police as to his innocence, so they did not even take his name.

Victim Is Unable To Identify Pair

Spartanburg, S. C., May 31 (A.P.).—Madison Stone, seriously injured when, he said, two Negroes killed his companion, Miss Thelma Martin, on a lonely lane Monday, today failed to identify George Williams, of Baltimore, Md., and John Mathews, of Atlanta, Ga., as his attackers.

The man, both Negroes, were arrested in Calhoun Falls as suspects and brought here for possible identification. Despite Stone's failure to identify the men, both were held in custody. Officers indicated they would be released later.

PRESIDENT FAVORS CITY DEBT MEASURE

Bill Modifying Bankruptcy Law to Apply to Municipalities Proposed.

The President will not object to passage by Congress of a bill applying a modification of the bankruptcy law to cities of the country, it was said yesterday at the White House. Such legislation would be similar to that proposed by Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, by which cities could suspend debt payments temporarily if 75 per cent of its creditors agreed to such suspension.

The President pointed out that there are three schools of thought regarding city debt suspensions. One school holds that the city is a creature of the State, and all financial aid should come from the State. Another is anxious for complete Federal financing of cities. This would put on the Federal Government the necessity of supervising city governments, and would also cost about $10,000,000,000 immediately.

The third plan, that proposed by Mayor Murphy, would allow the United States District Court to permit suspension of debt payments for two years or more with the consent of three-fourths of the bondholders. While the President is not unwilling to see this passed, there is some doubt in Congress that it will be necessary.

"Farewel Ball" Is Brilliant Semiclimax to Annual Commencement.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 31.—Preliminary events incident to commencement day at the Naval Academy reached a brilliant semiclimax tonight when the 432 midshipmen who will be awarded diplomas tomorrow were the honored guests at the traditional "farewell ball" given in spacious Dahlgren Hall.

Members of the junior class, who will be the graduates of 1934, were hosts. Several thousand dancers were on the floor, and as many more looked on from the balconies. The receiving party consisted of Mrs. Hart, wife of Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, superintendent, and Midshipman Frank M. Whitaker, of New York, chairman of the ball committee of the host class. The full complement of the Academy Band of 75 pieces furnished music. Dancing began at 9 and continued until midnight. Refreshments were served in the grove between the wings of Bancroft Hall.

During the forenoon the midshipmen staged another physical drill under arms. Band concerts filled the gap of the early afternoon hours preceding the regimental dress parade at 5 o'clock when the presentation of prizes for honors won in professional branches and athletics during the year took place.

That the graduation ceremonies scheduled for tomorrow at 11 a. m. will break all records for attendance was further indicated today by the closely guarded manner exercised by authorities of the institution in issuing tickets. In spite of the heavy early demand when it became known that President Roosevelt would attend, an eleventh-hour rush came today, and officials announced they had to call a halt, as the supply of tickets had been exhausted.

Most of the prizes presented at dress parade were awarded either by Superintendent Hart, or Rear Admiral Frank B. Upham, chief of the Bureau of Operations, although in a few instances, the presentations were made by representatives of patriotic or other organizations making the awards. Karl F. Neupert, of Portland, Oreg., honor man of the class, was the recipient of three prizes as follows: Gold watch presented by heirs of the late Lieut. Comdr. Gardner L. Caskey, for graduating at the head of his class; the Thompson navigation sextant for proficiency in practical and theoretical navigation, and the class of 1871 sword for excellence in practical and theoretical ordnance and gunnery.

Other prize awards included the Secretary of the Navy rifle trophy, David S. McDougal, of Washington, D. C.; bronze medal, Statton R. Ours, jr., of Moorefield, W. Va.; commendatory letters from the superintendent for general efficiency and officer-like qualities, Richard D. White, of Washington, D. C., and Raymond W. Thompson 3d, of Baltimore, Md.

409,067 Pay to See Fair in First Five Days

Chicago, May 31 (A.P.).—The public is flocking to the Century of Progress Exposition in much greater numbers than to the successful Columbian Exposition here 40 years ago.

Officials of the 1933 World's Fair said that paid attendance up to 6 o'clock tonight since the fair opened Saturday totaled 409,067. The total attendance for the first five days of the Columbian Exposition was 184,-

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

PRIVATELY we have been making the observation to a number of Government employes that the longer the reorganization announcement was delayed the better the entire situation would work itself out for all concerned.

Through pleading of Postoffice workers' organization largely, the plan for "no dismissals" has been adopted by the Postmaster General, kingpin of the largest Federal employe group. This is a victory for common sense, and through it the normal separations because of deaths, voluntary retirements, service retirements and dismissals for cause will take up considerable, if not all, of the slack in the Postoffice Department.

Frankly, the Federal Diary feels that delay in this "Shaking of buildings from top to bottom," as one Secretary announced he would pursue, even three weeks before he got seated at his desk, has been enforced to keep ears to the ground.

AND in keeping those ears to the ground, the Federal Diary believes the administration has cooled off from its initial blush of "economy" long enough to hear from the Nation as a whole, learn what reaction such broad declarations would bring. It is a known fact that many lines of industry have raised their voices in protest against rank swashbuckling tactics, a blind wading into the workers' ranks to slash down a wage-earner.

After all, if the present administration had intended or still intends to fire employes by the wholesale to make a showing on the salary score because the budget does not allow for full functioning of personnel only to add new names before long to take the place of names of dismissed employes, just how much difference would this regime bear to any other administration? If the present Government organization can and does discharge workers because business is not getting better it will be just another administration with no faith in its own panacess.

The Postoffice Department is picking out cities here and there where it says receipts are on the upswing and infers business is thus indicated. It takes no mathematician to prove that business will sober up only when its Government points the way.

THE Federal Diary golf tournament has now officially closed since the interesting play-off has been concluded by J. R. Emeigh, General Accounting Office, winning over G. W. Ingling, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Wednesday. Score, Emeigh, 87—11—76; Ingling, 96—14—82.

• • • •

Congratulations, Mr. Emeigh, and to Mr. Ingling, better luck next year. You are winner of the second prize for next best in the net medal handicap division.

To H. H. Ritter (*), Agriculture, who tied with Emeigh and Ingling for first place as a result of Monday's play, goes third place, since Mr. Ritter, due to the press of Government matters at his office, could not participate in the final play-off Wednesday.

Tom Belshe, War Department; A. R. Strohm, Interstate Commerce; J. R. Emeigh, General Accounting Office; G. W. Ingling, Bureau of Internal Revenue; H. H. Ritter, Agriculture Department, and Albert E. Coldwell will please call at this office Thursday, June 1, at 5 p. m. to receive the awards for their efforts in the tournament.

Again we thank all who participated and hope you enjoyed the day. Watch for announcement of other interesting affairs to be arranged for the pleasure of Federal employes.

Date worth remembering: June 1, 1925—The President's salary is not subject to income tax. On this date a Supreme Court decision in the case of Miles vs. Graham decided that "There is no power to tax a judge of a court of the United States on account of the salary prescribed for him by law," based on Section 1, Article 111, of the Constitution, which says that the compensation of Federal judges "shall not be diminished during their continuance in office." Inasmuch as the Constitution says compensation of the President "shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected," the Treasury Department has interpreted the decision to be applicable in the case of the President. The Harding estate consequently received a $26,000 refund on the strength of this interpretation.

NOW that the jig-saw puzzle rage is dying out R. M. O'Toole, Marine Corps, works on three a week, while Wes Thomas(*) is down to five per, and Goodwin has dropped to two over the week-end. Ah, those weekends! . . . From away over there in Chicago comes greeting from Fred G. Oralnger, Aquarium's director. Fred's been pretty busy, of course, but he managed to get the fair opened and that on time. That is, he and Jim Farley. Jim gave Fred considerable help . . . Modesty forbids mentioning it, but the President has put a crimp into the regrouping plan. Says there must be more study, while Dan Ropen learns business is getting better. Maybe life could be worse . . . The Federal Diary is planning a saltwater rodeo, but we're still trying to get our gang together to plan it out. . . . Number of employes in Navigation, Navy, making use of that furlough they're to get before June 30.

Diary Guest Tickets

IF your name in this column is followed by (*), or if your contribution appears, call on The Federal Diary Editor day of publication, except Sunday, between 4:30 and 5:15 p. m., and receive tickets to Loew's Fox, "The Devil's Brother" (Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy), or Loew's Palace, "Adorable" (Janet Gaynor and Henry Garat).

"No Dismissals"

POSTMASTER GENERAL FARLEY steps to the center of the stage for public judgment, and, in a terse statement, announces "No dismissals" as a policy in the Postal Service. He leaves the forum amid a storm of applause. Jim, it always has been proclaimed that you are a man with a heart.

This latest action earns for you the gratitude of the great Federal organization. May others, like you, see the light of human kindness and follow in your commendable footsteps without hesitation.

Mrs. Grace Michael visting home in Berlin, Md., and Mrs. Pauline D. Hinchlisse(*), Lawrence H. Welch and others furloughing . . . Another of the Rag-to-Riches episodes in Sunday's Diary . . . Bill Brigham, A. and I., Marine Corps, is anxious for the first of July to roll 'round. If it means three months furlough there will be no wedding bells; if not, rice and old shoes will be the order . . . Another month starts. Only 208 days till Christmas.

OUR friend Claud Ballard, Forest Service, yesterday recalled the time back in February, 1889, soon after he came to Washington, that Rose Melville had the role of Sis Hopkins in what was then a musical comedy.

Rose, who was doing her bit in the 10-20-30's, was playing the Sis Hopkins part in "By the Sad Sea Waves," starring Harry Bulger and Sherry Matthews. She acquitted herself with such credit that popular demand called for a play to be woven around Sis Hopkins and so it was, Mr. Ballard recalls, that the show was brought forth, "Sis Hopkins."

MONTGOMERY CLUBS INDORSE HOME FUND

Federation Also Asks Ritchie to Appoint Woman on U. of Md. Board.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 8706 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. Telephone Shepherd 2363.

Continuation of the funds for the activities of the Home Extension Service in Montgomery County is asked of the Montgomery County Commissioners in a resolution adopted yesterday by the annual convention of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs at Christ Episcopal Church in Rockville, Md.

The resolution was presented as an emergency measure by the Woman's Club of Somerset when it was learned that county commissioners were planning to delete the service in the interest of economy.

Three other resolutions were adopted, all of which previously had been acted on by the constituent clubs. They were presented for action by Mrs. George Wright, of Ashton, chairman of the resolutions committee. The first asked that February 22 be made a holiday in the schools and that the patriotic exercises now required to be held on the day be held the day previous. In the second resolution, the county commissioners are asked to appoint a woman member of the county school board as soon as a vacancy occurs.

Request to Gov. Ritchie.

In the third, Gov. Ritchie is asked to appoint a woman as one of the nine members of the board of regents of the University of Maryland inasmuch as the number of girl students is increasing so rapidly.

The invocation was by Canon A. B. Rudd, rector of Christ Church. The clubwomen were greeted on behalf of the hostess clubs, the Woman's Club and the Inquiry Club, of Rockville, by Mrs. Donald A. DeLashmutt, wife of the judge of the county police court. Mrs. B. Peyton Whalen, president of the federation, who presided, responded.

The report of the credentials committee was presented by Mrs. Jones Hoyle, of Dickerson, and minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Mortimer Stabler, of Sandy Spring, secretary. Annual reports were presented by Mrs. Edgar W. Moore, Kensington, treasurer; Mrs. Grace Sherman, Kensington, auditor, and Mrs. Harry S. Elkins, Silver Spring, corresponding secretary.

Anpual Report Presented.

In her annual report, Mrs. Whalen urged the clubs to devote more energy and money to educational purposes, such as scholarships. She lauded the many contributions for eleemosynary purposes by the clubs, Mrs. C. C. Tumbleson spoke on the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring and declared that it received no aid from the county, contrary to general belief.

Department chairmen reported as follows: Mrs. C. W. Renshaw, Garrett Park, education; Mrs. Jason F. Defandorf, Garrett Park, conservation; Miss Estelle T. Moore, Sandy Spring, public welfare; Miss Annie M. Wilson, Kensington, fine arts; Mrs. George E. Pariseau, Battery Park, international relations; Mrs. Frank M. Hoadley, Chevy Chase, press and publicity; Mrs. Edward W. Koch, Silver Spring, legislation; Mrs. Karl Fenning, Chevy Chase, chairman at large; Mrs. George Morey, Chevy Chase, American home; Mrs. George H. Wright, Ashton, resolutions, and Mrs. Henry M. Milburn, Kensington, club extension.

Mrs. James H. Alburtis, of Chevy Chase, spoke on "Pastimes of Children in Others Lands," illustrated by members of the club and their children in costumes of the lands mentioned. Mrs. Alvertus recently returned from a trip around the world.

Capone Is Loser In Court Appeal

New Orleans, May 31 (A.P.).—Al Capone's plea for freedom on habeas corpus from the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary where he is serving ten years for evading income taxes, was denied today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here which upheld a decision of the Atlanta District Court.

Since Capone's conviction in the Chicago District Court in 1931, his attorneys have fought to gain his freedom, and they indicated they will carry the present litigation to the United States Supreme Court, should the Circuit Court deny them a rehearing.

Capone recently completed the first year of his ten-year sentence. He was convicted at Chicago of violating the Federal income tax laws in 1926, 1927 and 1928. His indictment was filed June 5, 1931.

28 D. C. Youths Graduate This Morning at Annapolis

Annapolis, Md., May 31.—Of the 432 midshipmen who will receive their diplomas from the United States Naval Academy from the hands of President Roosevelt at commencement ceremonies tomorrow morning, 28 are appointees from Washington, D. C., 20 from Maryland and 6 from Virginia.

A number of the Washingtonians, as well as Marylanders, are sons of officers of the Navy, Army or Marine Corps and gained distinction in academic, athletic or along other lines.

Outstanding in academic work among the Washington youths is Harold G. Bowen, jr., son of Capt. and Mrs. H. G. Bowen, who will be graduate No. 4, one of the 32 "stars" of the class. To attain a star rating a midshipman must have an average of 85 per cent or better of the multiple for the four-year course. Others of prominence include David S. McDougal, son of Col. and Mrs. D. C. McDougal, and Richard D. White, son of Mrs. Sidney Ray White.

McDougal, one of the best rifle shots ever to represent the academy, captained the midshipmen's team in his senior year and has won a number of honors in national and collegiate competition. This year he won the Secretary of the Navy's rifle trophy for excellence in small arms work.

White stood No. 33 in order of merit and was one of the chosen six to receive commendatory letters from the superintendent of the academy for general efficiency, officer-like qualities and positive character, to the development of naval spirit and loyalty within the regiment.

The list of Washington graduates follows:

Draper Lawrence Kauffman, son of Commander and Mrs. J. L. Kauffman; Carl Tellefson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Tellefson; John Thomas Blackburn, son of Capt. and Mrs. P. P. Blackburn; Jay Valentine Chase, son of Admiral and Mrs. J. V. Chase; Henry Hugo Fox, jr., son of Mrs. Henry H. Fox; Kerfoot Bainbridge Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jaudon Smith; William Archibald Kengla, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kengla; Lemuel Mussetter Stevens, jr., son of Capt. and Mrs. L. M. Stevens, Washington, D. C., and Annapolis; William Veazie Pratt, George Hays Laird, jr., son of Commander and Mrs. G. H. Laird; David William Davis, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Davis; George Balterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Balterman; Charles Hampson Keyser, brother of Miss F. R. Keyser; Merrill Kinsell Clementson, son of Mrs. Clyde Kelly; Martin Ruch Garrott, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Garrott; Robert Calvin Howe Hird, son of Commander and Mrs. H. B. Hird, and James Stratton Deitz, brother of Miss Grace B. Deitz.

Richard Lane, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. R. H. Lane; David Stockton McDougal, son of Col. and Mrs. D. C. McDougal; D. R. Stephan, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Stephan; Richard Daniel White, son of Mrs. Sydney Ray White; Philip Weaver Garnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Garnett; Phillip Casey Holt, son of Mrs. R. B. Holt; Walter Hughes Newton, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Newton; Harold Gardiner Bowen, jr., son of Capt. and Mrs. H. G. Bowen; Carl George Drescher, Richard Longstreet Poor, Howard Troutman Bierer,

THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

American delegates to the World Economic Conference are on their way to London. Within a fortnight this greatest of all economic gatherings will be pondering over the financial and commercial problems of the world. The people of all civilized nations wait eagerly for the results of its deliberations, with misgivings as to the outcome.

Never before have such elaborate preparations been made for an international gathering of this kind. The world conference has been a subject of negotiation among statesmen for at least two years. A preparatory commission worked out an extensive agenda after experts had delved into world problems for many months. President Roosevelt called representatives of all commercial powers to Washington to prepare the way for this effort at world cooperation. The London conference has become something more than a mere international gathering of statesmen; it is a most elaborate test of the ability of the world powers to cooperate for their mutual economic welfare.

In spite of all that has been done to insure the success of the conference, it will meet in an atmosphere of skepticism and doubt. President Roosevelt has done more than any other individual in recent months to make the conference a success. Yet his advisers caution the public against expecting too much. Representatives from 50 or 60 nations will present different points of view and special problems of their own. Each will seek its own advantage first, and it is futile to ignore the fact that the ambitions and hopes of some great powers clash with the plans of others.

Aside from the difficulties inherent in such large and diverse conferences, other factors cast a shadow upon the London gathering. President Roosevelt hoped to bring about an agreement at the Geneva disarmament conference before economic affairs were taken up at London. Strenuous efforts toward that end have been made, but the obstacles remain. How can nations talk of reducing their defense while a mighty nation is engaged in conquest in Asia?

Another stalemate has developed at Geneva. The last hope of a major achievement there before the opening of the economic conference seems to be flickering out. There is talk of adjourning the disarmament conference in the hope that achievements in London might inspire it with new life. But every one realizes that such a course would only further chill the atmosphere at London and make statesmen more cautious in the surrender of any weapon that contributes to national self-sufficiency.

The war debts form an even darker cloud over the economic gathering. The original purpose of Prime Minister MacDonald in suggesting a world conference of this type was to secure reduction or cancellation of the debts which European governments owe to the United States. Even the most optimistic statesmen on this side of the Atlantic do not expect any comprehensive agreement until the debt controversy has been settled. Yet the debts are barred from discussion at the conference, and apparently no effort is being made in Washington to facilitate adjustments. Further concessions can not be made without the consent of Congress. Indications are that the debtor governments will default on their June 15 payments just as the economic conference gets under way.

The American delegation will make an earnest effort to overcome these handicaps. Its objective is to secure action tending to lift world prices, to stabilize currencies, remove exchange restrictions, to lower tariff barriers and other restrictions on international trade, and to stimulate business and industry throughout the world. But the war debts have come to occupy such an important place in the minds of European statesmen that they will not be inclined to agree to anything that does not include scaling down of those obligations. And the United States will not be disposed to consider readjustment of the debts so long as European powers are spending billions of dollars on armaments.

Reduction of tariffs and credit policy will be thrown into this tangle of international objectives. It is quite probable that the conference may agree upon general principles of credit and commerce, subject of course to special reservations by each government, but these are insignificant beside the major problems confronting the statesmen at London. No nation will make actual concessions involving its economic strength so long as aggression runs uncurbed and great powers maintain their elaborate machines of war. The best of intentions on the part of the American delegates will not change the temperament of the world. Theories of peace and economic harmony vanish into thin air when chilled by the facts of national ambitions and world-wide struggle.

President Roosevelt does well to leave the way open for recourse to more rugged nationalism than has heretofore prevailed.

CARE FOR THE DISABLED.

It seems to be generally agreed that the Veterans' Administration has cut too deeply into benefits allowed to veterans who are suffering from actual combat disability. President Roosevelt has been converted to this point of view, and is taking steps to correct any injustice that may have been done. He intends to fall back upon the commission method of investigating hardships to deserving veterans under the economy program, and will doubtless follow the advice of his experts in making adjustments.

Public sentiment has never been favorable to neglect of veterans who were actually disabled in military service for their country. Almost without exception those who sponsored the movement for reduction of veterans' expenditures insisted upon adequate care for men disabled in the service. The Government owes to these men a moral obligation that must be discharged. Apparently the executive orders issued under the economy act would inflict undue hardships upon a considerable number of veterans in this class. By all means adjustments should be made if this proves to be true.

In view of the clamor that is being made in Congress for revision of these drastic cuts, the severe paring down of benefits to veterans disabled in combat appears to be a grave blunder on the part of Budget Bureau and Veterans' Administration officials. Politicians and lobbyists are using the severe reduction of these allowances as a spearhead in their drive to upset the entire new schedule of pensions. The Senate was so influenced by this clamor that it voted to spend $1,000,000 for hospital treatment of veterans whose ailments have no connection whatever with the war. This is an alarming reversion to former abuses.

Most of the cuts that have been made can be justified by both logic and the dire need of the Government for economy. It would be unfortunate indeed if injustice done in some instances should weaken the new pensions system. Of course, President Roosevelt will not relinquish the major economies that have been made, but every concession that becomes necessary will stimulate the drive in Congress for restoration of the old abuses.

THE QUADRILATERAL TREATY.

Premier Mussolini's project for a four-power treaty, albeit somewhat modified, may be consummated in Rome today by the signatures of the representatives of France, Italy, Great Britain and Germany. France, with the customary deliberate action of the Paris government, was the last to signify its conformity. The favorable decision of the cabinet, however, was promptly supplemented by a decisive vote of authorization by the Chamber of Deputies.

French delay in this instance was also evidently influenced by the attitude of the Little Entente, which, now acting with concerted voice in all matters of foreign policy, must henceforth be considered as speaking with almost the authority of one of the greater powers. It is doubtful whether France would have joined in the pact if the demands of the three nations had not been met. From the beginning France echoed their objection to an absolute four-power dictatorship.

It was only after assurance had been obtained from France and Great Britain that the authority of the League of Nations would not be impaired that Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Jugoslavia withdrew their opposition to the Rome plan. Mussolini was all for domination by the strong quartette, but the small nations of the continent have felt their power in the League and are not disposed to relinquish it and be subject to the orders of their big neighbors without recourse to the tribunal where the small members predominate.

Individually the nations of the Little Entente could do little to make their authority felt, but with their new iron-clad agreement for united action, the combination must be reckoned with. The total population of these three closely allied nations is exceeded only by Germany in western Europe, while in territorial extent they exceed any single country. That this group has greatly strengthened the opposition to all movements for territorial revision is beyond question. Furthermore, this close union will greatly fortify the position of any single member in case of disputes with either Germany or Italy, so that the consolidation of foreign policy may play an important part in maintaining the tranquillity of Central Europe.

German sentiment regarding the four-power pact appears to be that it has been so emasculated since its original form offered at Rome that it remains of little consequence. Official opinion in Italy and in London, however, still holds to the belief that this combination of the four strong powers of Europe will be a most important factor in maintaining peace, and even if supplementary procedure by the League or other powers may be necessary, the promptitude and decision with which the quartette can act will be of inestimable value.

THE GOLD CLAUSE.

American courts are interested in the decision of the British court of appeal, holding that bondholders are bound to accept banknotes instead of gold, as stipulated in the bonds, in view of the British law making banknotes legal tender and withdrawing gold from circulation. The New York Supreme Court ruled recently that bonds could be paid in currency, and cited the British precedent.

Lord Justice Lawrence, Master of the Rolls, &c., delivered the judgment in the British case. After reviewing the law, he said:

> The parties might not have foreseen the present result, and I agree that it renders the stipulation as to payment in gold coins otiose, but that result was brought about by the Legislature. The company had agreed to pay that debt and interest in gold coins, but the Legislature has said that it might lawfully be discharged by tendering banknotes.

"Otiose"! Oh, blessed word—the word for which we long have sought! Thanks, thanks, worthy Master of the Rolls, for, teaching us that word! Otiose—meaning, being at rest, or at ease; unemployed; dolce far niente; lapped in forgetfulness and nepenthe; doing nothing, and nothing doing.

Grasping lenders of money, greedy widows who hold bonds of great corporations, trustees who have invested trust funds in bonds payable in gold, are now on notice that the gold pledge is otiose. It has joined the ranks of the unemployed. It lolls like the fat weed at Lethe wharf, swaying with the tide. Bonds may come and bonds may go, but the pledge to redeem in gold is gone glimmering through the dream of things that were.

OUR INTERLOCKING SENSES

From the Providence Journal.

It is not new that one sense may stimulate another, but what is new is the confirmation by science of this long-recognized fact of common experience. What is the special appeal of the rose, its color, its pattern, its fragrance, the sound of its name? The answer is, all these elements, each heightening the effect of the others.

Nature, indeed, is the great mistress of this interplay of appeal to our senses. She rarely depends upon a single one. Not only is the ocean what Homer called it, "many-voiced," but its surface has an infinite variety of form and tint, and, beneath all these sense appeals, is its briny scent, so different in its stimulation to the brain from the faint odor of a mountain lake.

Where the element of taste enters, how rich often are nature's counterpoints! We see at a distance the redness of an apple tree. Coming nearer, we admire its form. At about the same time we are delighted with its odor. Last of all—what all the rest were put there to lead us up to—we apply the final criterion of taste. Each one of the roused senses adds to the keenness of the others. In the case of most apples we might include the mild gratification of the sense of touch afforded by its smoothness.

In scientific tests, if we are looking at something just beyond the range of clear vision, a slight blow or pin-prick, the sound of a whistle, or a whiff of strong odor will stimulate our sight to discern what we are looking for. Thus we do not live in a world of single or successive sensations, but each group is surrounded with stronger or fainter halos from the other senses. Sometimes, as in the case of the rose, we do not clearly separate the different sensations in enjoying the total effect. Sometimes we habitually confuse them, as when we call tastes what for the most part are smells.

But why do we treat these effects as a closed circuit of the senses? Why not recognize the same stimulus carried over to the higher brain centers? Schiller found the odor of apples an aid in composition. The sea and the mountains inspire our poets and musicians as well as our painters. A symphony, a sunset, the roar of a city street, the sweep and thunder of Niagara, the brilliance of autumn woods will stimulate the imagination of artists whose medium is neither color nor sound. Human nature is a manifold unity, in its reception and in its responses. Thereby it reveals itself in an integral part of the infinite unity in diversity of all-enfolding nature.

Sino-Japanese truce negotiations at Tangku were of short duration. Tokyo's delegates brought the perpendicular dotted lines with them.

Ambassador Bingham is better at clearing the way for Secretary Hull's program than Prof. Moley. He tells the Pilgrims in London that the American people are at last prepared to lower tariff bars. Source of information not divulged.

---

The new Ambassador also said that the Davis neutrality statement at Geneva "marked a definite departure from certain principles maintained by the United States since the Nation was founded." Verily, the roast beef of old England is strong meat.

---

Officials of the League of Nations who are arranging the economic conference now see the possibility of curtailing the London sessions and aiding the show in the back door at Geneva.

---

The administration doesn't have to apologize; any inconsistencies in policy are overshadowed by improving business and a rising market.

---

The danger is that when Secretary Hull says in his best Londonese, "Let's reduce tariffs," that trick echo will counter with, "Wot about debts?"

---

During the holiday ball game at the Kansas penitentiary eleven convicts made home runs, and the warden was simply carried away with the game.

---

It seems that Delegate Morrison, who is being taken to the London conference, was kidnaped once before in Texas, when he got off at an expense of only $75,000.

---

The latest liquor joke comes from the druggists, who find tastes vitiated by bootleg and little demand for the doctors' liberalized prescriptions.

---

If you wonder why the debt question is avoided, just try to figure out a settlement that could get by the legislative assemblies of Washington, Paris and London.

We are getting in Dutch in Holland, where they say our money policy is immoral.

GAIN.

And so he said: "My loss turned gain
For reasons which I can explain!
At first I thought to be in touch
With peace of mind one needed much;
And ease and comfort and content
Were measured by the sums one spent;
But now I find such joys are free
Since I've made friend with poverty.

"It's this way. I am done with sham.
You see me now just as I am.
I've taught my tongue this phrase to say:
'I can't afford so much to pay!'
I've turned away from foolish pride
And walk the world with manlier stride.
I've less to do with than before,
But I'm enjoying life much more.

"I'm up at dawn and at my task.
What better fun could mortal ask?
We're on a simple basis. Still,
Of wholesome food we get our fill.
I've health, my friends, some books to read.
What more does any person need?
I've lost r · cash, but that's all right—
I've found my old-time appetite."

Alexander Didn't Lose His Grip Till He No Longer Had Anybody to Whip.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE are young people whose pride serves as a shield against all indecency. Others are supported in decency by their faith in some religion. But a third and larger group is eager to believe when some apostle of evil says: "Free yourself of inhibitions, for your impulses are natural and whatever is natural is right."

That sounds plausible, but a moment's examination will show how false it is.

Isn't the bird as natural as the egg from which it hatched? Isn't man's present high state of culture a natural development?

The fact that man has developed high standards of ethics and morality is proof that primitive man had within him the capacity for such development; the fact that he had the capacity is proof that such development was natural.

But, you say, if the development of moral standards was natural, and it is now man's nature to overcome the lusts of the flesh, why does nature still give him appetites that he can not satisfy without violating the moral standards?

In short, why do such appetites remain if it is now natural to suppress them?

The first answer is that the appetites are not evil but good when held in check by reason and decent ethics.

But there is an obvious and more important reason.

Nature requires young creatures to play. That play is a form of exercise necessary to their physical development. Effort makes them strong.

How did man achieve his present development? Was it not entirely the result of overcoming obstacles?

Can the athlete develop strength and agility without exercise? Isn't it hard experience that makes a conquering army invincible?

The pampered sons of prosperous parents are proverbially worthless. Life is made too soft for them and they are soft in turn.

The leaders of the world today are men who traveled a hard road to acquire their strength and their abilities.

Could any man develop strength of character and mind and will if nature shielded him from all trial and temptation?

There would be no virtue in being good if we had no capacity for evil.

It is self-control that makes manhood—not self-indulgence. And how could a man control himself if he had nothing to control?

Electricity would develop no power if it had no resistance.

POLITICAL COMMENT

"If" It Becomes a Law.

Worcester Telegram.

If the Roosevelt securities bill were law years ago, it would have blighted that ancient Athenian, Samuel Insull, before he had inveigled investors into a loss running into $700,000,000, if—; it would have stopped in their tracks all of the high-pressure bond and stock jobbers who have been selling worthless and near-worthless stuff to a naive public, if—; it would have put a bad crimp in many holding company promoters and an even worse crimp in many of the manipulators of investment trusts, if—.

The "if" appended to the foregoing clauses is a very big one, indeed. It runs something like this: If the law were enforced properly. Proper enforcement of law is not America's strong suit, and the enforcement of law against wealthy malefactors is a distressingly rare phenomenon. So if the Roosevelt bill becomes law, is it too much to ask of our justice officers that they make a special effort to enforce it?

Germany Isolated.

Kansas City Times.

No European nation since the end of the World War has been so completely isolated as Germany is today. And Germany is in no condition from either an economic or a military point of view for such isolation. The more friendly tone of German official utterances and policy in the last few days seems to be clearly the result of pressure from the outside, and the French, in particular, are not likely to put much confidence in it. But at least Germany's acceptance of the peace pact with Great Britain, France and Italy and of the British arms plan, under whatever circumstances, should help to clear the way for both the disarmament and the economic conferences, the success of which depends so largely upon international confidence.

Why shouldn't Republicans be glad to see President Roosevelt make a success of the job? Heaven knows enough of them voted for him.

Aye, Aye, Sir!

Indianapolis Star.

The President lopped $300,000,000 from Government costs in the course of a little trip down the Potomac. What the taxpayers want is bigger and better cruises.

Farmers Want to Know.

Detroit News.

As was naturally to be expected, since the passage of the agricultural adjustment law thousands of farmers are writing to the Agricultural Department in Washington asking questions as to just how they are to be "adjusted." The authorities are somewhat embarrassed because until organizations are perfected and policies shaped, not much adjusting is to be done.

For the present Washington would be glad if the farm folks would keep in touch with their local agricultural extension agents and wait for instructions. State directors of extension, State agricultural colleges and local agricultural extension agencies will be furnished information as fast as it is forthcoming, and will be in much better position than the central government to handle local problems.

The Agricultural Department particularly warns the farmers that it is not charged with the administration of farm credits provided in the agricultural law.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

KIDNAPING, KANSAS CITY STYLE.

To Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City, goes the Banter and Barter Prize for 1933. When kidnapers interrupted her bath with the announcement that they were about to seize and hold her for ransom she took it all in a spirit of good, clean fun, according to the newspapers, even remarking that the $60,000 ransom asked was "less than they got for Mike Katz, the druggist."

• • • •

Miss McElroy then discussed the question of what the well-dressed victim of a kidnaping should wear, and rebuked the snatchers for interfering with her plans to go to the races and get down bets on two good things. "That's all right," said the kidnapers, "we'll get 'em down for you."

• • • •

The correct dialogue for modern kidnapings would seem to be as follows:

"Sorry, miss, but we've gotta kidnap you and hold you until your father comes across with $60,000."

"Sixty thousand dollars? Is that all? Why, you got more than that for Glutz, the delicatessen dealer."

"We've fixed 60 grand as okay in your case, lady, meaning no disrespect."

"But my pride! Why, if I'm not mistaken, Little Ludwig Schmidt, the son of Schmidt the iceman, brought $65,000. And you got $75,000 for Mr. Mookie, the interior decorator's, little girl."

"You're quoting last year's prices, lady."

• • • •

"But everything is higher. Look at wheat, corn and hogs. People are getting more for everything."

"That's all inflation. You ain't really worth no more than you would have been on the 1932 levels, lady."

"Sixty thousand dollars! Why, if it got into the newspapers that kidnapers would give me back to father for that sum I could never look my friends in the face again."

"Well, I tell ya, lady, what we'll do. We'll make it $90,000 if you insist, but if we don't get it don't blame us."

• • • •

"Oh, one thing more. I was going to the races today to play two good things. Could you arrange to kidnap me after the races?"

"What races are the good things in?"

"The second and fourth."

"We'll take you to the track and, maybe, put a bet down ourselves."

"Oh, goody, goody!"

'But remember you gotta leave right after the fourth race. The last dame we took to the races while we was kidnaping her got a tip on the last race and we had a terrible time getting her away at all."

"I'll promise to leave after the fourth. How do you like my new racing frock?"

"Gee, it's swell. I suppose we oughter dress for the track, too. Suppose we run home and change. Will you wait for us?"

"Either that or I can meet you at the track and be kidnaped there."

"Okay. See you in front of the band stand at 2 p. m. Have you field glasses?"

"I did have, but——"

"That's all right. We'll bring an extra pair!"

WELL? WHY NOT?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Pathways for Pedestrians Badly Needed Along Motor Roads.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am glad to see that the National Conference for Traffic Safety continues to carry on its work with vigor. It deserves great credit for what it has done and is doing to safeguard motorists on interurban highways. However, I have one adverse criticism to make, and that is that they have as yet paid little attention to the safety and convenience of pedestrians in the matter of providing roadside pathways. This is today the most important need in connection with highway improvement. Pedestrians are killed when motor cars mass in passing. Give us a pathway.

President and Wife Issue Invitations for Reception.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT have issued invitations for a reception at the White House Saturday. The President entertained Senor Don Pedro Torres, president of the Banco Chile, at tea yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Roosevelt spent the day at Monticello and had luncheon with the Farmington Club near Charlottesville, Va.

The Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes will leave Washington today for New York, where they will be for a short time before starting on a four-month motor trip through the West. They expect to go as far as Banff, Canada.

The Ambassador of Japan and Mme. Debuchi left Washington yesterday afternoon for New York, where they attended the meeting of the Japan Society last evening. They will return to Washington today.

The Ambassador of Italy, Signor Augusto Rosso, entertained at dinner last evening at the embassy in honor of the retiring First Secretary and Countess Roncalli di Montorio, who will sail from New York on June 15.

The Ambassador will be host at dinner on Tuesday evening.

Ambassador of Mexico To Sail for London.

The Ambassador of Mexico, Senor Dr. Don Fernando Gonzalez Roa, has left Washington for New York, where he will meet Senor Alberto J. Pani, Secretary of the Treasury of Mexico, and together they will sail for London, where the Ambassador will act as chairman of the Mexican delegation to the World Economic Conference. He will have with him Senor Dr. Don Francisco Munez Chavez, secretary of the embassy, and during the Ambassador's absence, the counselor of the embassy, Senor Dr. Don Luis Padilla Nervo, will act as charge d'affaires.

Pique Hats And Scarfs
—are five dollars a set at Young, Inc. I should say white hats and scarfs, because they are in several other white fabrics. The models are more the thing you have been seeking, than you have found up to this time. Some of the little white hats are mad-caps, or the popular fez gathered into points, so smart when made just right.
Garden hats are huge. Great cart-wheels of natural leghorn, milan, plaid organdie, have quaint wreaths of flowers or green leaves, and loops of velvet ribbons.
In the sale are wonderful hats from early showings priced $3, $5 and $7.50.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

GRADUATION exercises at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, this year marked by the attendance of President Roosevelt, who will give out the diplomas, will be broadcast over WMAL and WJSV at 11 o'clock this morning. For the third consecutive year microphones have been set up in Dahlgren Hall to bring the ceremonies to the country. In addition to the main address, the radio audience will hear the cheering of the midshipmen and a description of the "hat-tossing."

The premiere of a new weekly dramatic program, "Wayfaring Men," will be heard over WJSV at 8 p. m. Realism will be the keynote of this radio series, and the roving, adventurous lives of the hoboes who ride the side-door Pullmans and live their casual lives wherever fate and a convenient freight train takes them, will supply the action.

"Wayfaring Men" is the work of Archie Coates. There will be seven regular characters in the episodes in addition to the colorful knights of the road who will stream across the background.

John E. Norton, of New York, of the engineering department of the Columbia Broadcasting System, spent a portion of his vacation in Washington last week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Norton, and so that he would not get out of touch with his work, had his car equipped with an up-to-date automobile radio set.

IN his enthusiasm to transfer his amateur radio station from Fort Defiance, Va., where he had been a student at the Augusta Military Academy, to 1400 New Hampshire avenue northwest, Dean Schuyler Young, now clerk in the Treasury Department, got himself into a peck of trouble.

It resulted in his being haled before the Federal Radio Commission for operating a station at an address other than that stated in his license. At the same time the commission, through Chief Examiner Yost, considered his subsequent application to scrap his Virginia station and transfer it to the new address.

The commission would not have known that Dean was operating his amateur station here had it not been for the complaint of a Miss Dinwiddie, living near the New Hampshire avenue address.

All went well for a few days, when Miss Dinwiddie complained about interference with reception on her little crystal set. Dean made futile efforts to clear up the trouble and even went so far as to offer to install for Miss Dinwiddie a modern set, which she flatly refused. She insisted on continuing to use the crystal set, with its cat's-whiskers or nothing, and she wanted no interference.

So Dean is up against a tough proposition unless he can operate his station without causing trouble to Miss Dinwiddie's set.

JIM PRESTON, the antiquarian, and Col. Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the Senate, have again been digging into the old Senate files and will report their findings over WJSV at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

"The Rise of Ramsay MacDonlad" will be sketched by Dr. Charles Edward Hill, professor of political science, in the George Washington University Forum (WMAL, 7:30 p. m.).

"Advertising and Washington's Welfare" will be the assignment of W. A. Barkdull, president of the Washington Advertising Club, in the Washington Community Forum.

A radio demonstration of the famous "truth" serum, latest adjunct to scientific crime solution, will be made by Col. Calvin H. Goddard, of the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern University, from Chicago over WMAL at 9:30 p. m.

Col. Goddard, a noted ballistic expert, who figured in the Mary Baker case here, has gained fame for his development of the truth serum and the lie detector machine, explains that the serum puts any rubject in a state of semicoma, wholly capable of understanding and responding to questions, but quite incapable of giving other than truthful answers while under its influence. The lie detector machine, on the other hand, works by blood pressure and records on a graph which registers violent peaks in the case of a falsehood.

KATHARINE HEPBURN, new movie star, and Adolphe Menjou will be guests of Rudy Vallee on the Sunshine program tonight at 7 o'clock over WRC. They will be heard in "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," one-act comedy by Alfred Sutro.

An original transcription of the old American tune, "Turkey in the Straw," will be played for the first time on the air by Maier and Pattison, two-piano concert artists, in the second of their programs over the radio. (WMAL, 6:30 p. m.).

The Crime Clues script called recently for the sounds of a dove-cote. Ray Kelly, sound effects man, quickly worked out the sound of flapping wings with handkerchiefs and gloves. But the soft cooing of the pigeon baffled him. Finally, he hit upon the idea of blowing bubbles in a container partially filled with water. The pigeon-coo almost outdid the genuine article.

So, when Crime Clues went on the air a half-dozen members of the cast were seen blowing through small pipes soldered into the lids of neat containers.

THE Chicago Exposition will again receive considerable attention over the radio. Mrs. Carter Harrison, its official hostess, will discuss "Chicago World's Fairs, Past and Present." (WMAL, 4 p. m.) Mrs. Harrison's father-in-law was Mayor of Chicago during the Columbian Exposition 40 years ago.

Ben Bernie and Phil Baker, suddenly turned "serious," will be heard over WMAL at 2:45 p. m. in a program entitled "Lost in the Hall of Science."

Floyd Gibbons will give another "Century of Progress" talk over WMAL at 7:45 p. m.

When Capt. Henry's Show Boat pulls into Chicago for its Century of Progress program tonight (WRC, 8 o'clock) the World's Fair flavor will be the real McCoy. In order to make sure that all the glamour of the fair and all the hustle and bustle of the milling crowds should be captured for the showboat audience Capt. Henry sent the writer of the showboat script out to Chicago to get a first-hand view of the great spectacle.

Andre Kostelanetz has selected the "Chicago Fair Midway" number to pay tribute to the exposition of 1933 over WJSV at 8:30 p. m. He has arranged it especially for an augmented orchestra and vocal chorus.

On this program Col. Stoopnagle and Budd will present several comedy skits.

K. of C. Election Tonight.

Spalding Council, Knights of Columbus, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Tenth street clubhouse. A number of important matters are to be acted upon. The annual nomination and election of officers for the new year beginning July 1 will be held. J. Fred Brady, grand knight, will preside.

Stamp Defines Inflation Success.

Chicago, May 31 (A.P.).—Sir Josiah Stamp, president of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, today indicated that, in his opinion, success of the American inflation plans depended upon ability of financial leaders to prevent business stimulation from resulting in speculation.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—Shooting a charge of nitro-glycerine into their drive on racketeers, the local gendarmes were indeed amazed to discover one racket they hadn't heard of before. It has to do with arrest substitutes.

Suppose a man is given a summons on some minor charge, the penalty for which would be 3 to 30 days in the workhouse. He is approached by the racketeer, who offers to provide a substitute defendant who will plead guilty and serve the sentence—at so much per day.

The police uncovered the scheme when they observed familiar faces appearing time after time at the workhouse, but always under different names.

Speaking of rackets, one of the more annoying, although perfectly legal, types is the cover charge game played by the not so particular night clubs and cabarets.

When they discovered that customers were falling away because they objected to paying the silly $2 cover charges, many of the clubs posted signs reading, "Absolutely no cover charge." But what they failed to mention, until they handed you your check, is that no customer can have a bill of less than $3.

Poetry for Sale.

The outdoor poetry market in Greenwich Village was quite a success, although it didn't lure in as much cash as the long-haired, sometimes hungry devotees of the muse would have wished.

The standard price on original poems was 25 cents each; yet the optimistic Slim McCormack set a price of $99.98 for one of his ditties about "dear little dynamite: how you inflame me." Not a single customer, however, could get inflamed $99.98 worth.

Ruth Rappaport was more practical. She was willing to trade one of her poems for a hamburger. Even Maxwell Bodenheim was one of the exhibitors. He wanted to sell a poem that told of his desire to be "a little silver bird."

Most of the poets were very willing to let the examples of their genius go for a quarter, because, as one explained, "We know we have an audience. When we submit our poems to a magazine editor we doubt if even one person reads them."

An Art Market, Too.

The idea was derived, naturally, from the outdoor art exhibit held every spring in Washington Square. Artists are allowed to show their works in the park, thus providing a market for many painters who otherwise would never get a chance to show the public what they can do.

Business at the art market finally became very brisk, and the poets hope within a year or two to do as well.

A museum on upper Broadway is entirely devoted to American Indian exhibits.

ARLINGTON BOXING PLAN IS DEFEATED

John C. Gall Will Quit as County Board Member; Action Is Surprise.

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 869. Clarendon, Va.

Resignation of Board Member John C. Gall, defeat of the boxing ordinance and voting to appoint board of five to condemn land for rights of way for the proposed Wilson Boulevard extension as the county's approach to the Arlington Memorial Bridge featured the meeting of the county board held yesterday morning, called to approve county pay roll.

Gall's resignation, carrying with it a request that it become effective immediately, came as a surprise to those few who attended the meeting.

In his letter to Chairman Harry A. Fellows, a copy of which was also in the hands of Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy, gave as his reason for resigning increase of his personal business to such an extent that he felt he could not give the county board the attention it required.

The resignation was accepted by the board on motion of Member Lyman M. Kelley and seconded by Fred A. Gosnell.

The vacancy will be filled by Judge McCarthy.

Judge McCarthy would neither affirm nor deny rumors current at the courthouse last night that D. M. Smith, prominent realtor of the county, would be named to fill the vacancy on the county board created by the resignation of Gall. Questioned at a late hour last night, Judge McCarthy said he would make the appointment known today.

Having been before the board since the April meeting and public hearing held, the board, by a vote of 3 to 2, defeated the ordinance introduced in April by Mr. Kelley which would have permitted amateur boxing in the county.

The board approved expenditures totaling $15,886.69, of which $11,-890.73 represented the pay roll.

Culbertson on Bridge

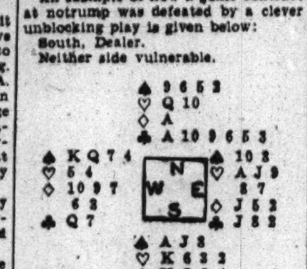
UNBLOCKING

A PLAY that most experts make almost as second nature, but some beginners and average players find extremely difficult, is what is known as an unblocking play—that is, throwing a high card which may block the run of partner's suit or the sacrifice of a high honor in order that partner, with a lower honor in the suit, may be able to gain the lead and cash winning tricks that otherwise would become valueless discards on an adversely-held long suit. I should advise every Bridge player to study the principle underlying this play until it becomes almost second nature to recognize the situations where it can be used advantageously. Unblocking as a defensive play requires tactical skill plus imagination, but we have a right to assume these qualities in all good Bridge players.

An example of how a game contract at notrump was defeated by a clever unblocking play is given below:

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The eventual contract was three notrump, reached by South after East, during the course of the bidding, had bid his very weak hearts, thus inviting a lead in that suit.

Obviously the killing lead against this contract, as well as the lead which many players would term the "natural" one, is a diamond, as that immediately removes a card of entry from Dummy. However, this is purely a Double Dummy proposition, and East and West were fond of actualities. Naturally, West opened the suit bid by his partner—namely hearts. From the Dummy the Declarer played the Ten, and East covered with the Knave. The Declarer refused to win this trick, as he now obviously had but a single trick in hearts and before taking it he wished to be sure that West held no more cards of the suit to lead. A better play from the Dummy would have been the Queen of hearts. However, the card actually played was the Ten, and East held the trick with the Knave. He then laid down the Ace of hearts and followed with the third round, which South won.

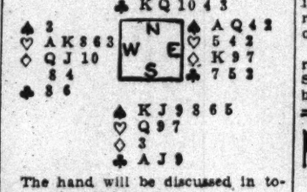
The contract at this point appeared well-nigh impossible. However, making the best of a bad bargain, South now led the club King, and West made one of those sound, but brilliant, plays which definitely mark the good Bridge player. Reasoning that if East held but two clubs there was no way of playing the club suit to stop South's march to game, he played the Queen under the King, and by this one move made certain that his partner had a card of entry which would permit the cashing of the established heart-tricks.

The play, as I said, is a very fine one, but in a sense, it is just routine. All that is required for the making of such a play is an elementary knowledge of arithmetic and a somewhat more than merely elementary knowledge of the way to play cards. If the contract is to be defeated here at all, defeating it depends upon East, and not West, winning the club trick if there is a trick in clubs available to them. For West to win the club trick means just one trick. For East to win it assures the defeat of the contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

How should East and West plan the defense of this hand against South's contract of four spades?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

WORLD TRADE PACT BY AUGUST IS GOAL

U. S. Delegation on Way to London Will Work for Quick Agreement.

Aboard S. S. President Roosevelt with American Delegation to London Economic Conference, May 31 (A.P.).—A determination to reach an international agreement by early August was expressed today by members of the American delegation to the world monetary and economic conference as they sailed for London.

"Our delegation naturally is keeping expressly in mind the purposes expressed by the President a number of times, to the effect that it is earnestly hoped the London economic conference will be able to conclude its work within eight weeks," said Secretary of State Hull, delegation chairman.

"Especially we hope this, as it relates to a program dealing with the fundamentals of the economic situation. The crisis in all countries is sufficiently great and urgent to make six or eight weeks of conference extremely imperative, rather than a long-drawn-out one."

Sailing on the President Roosevelt with Secretary Hull were three other delegates, Ralph W. Morrison, of San Antonio, Tex.; Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, and Representative S. D. McReynolds, of Tennessee, together with 43 advisers and stenographers and 13 relatives.

The remaining two delegates—former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, and Senator James Couzens, of Michigan—will take later boats, but will reach London before the conference opens on June 12.

"We ought to get an agreement regardless of the time it takes," said Secretary Hull in an interview just before the liner sailed.

The Meanderer

Lists Guides to Beauty Protection for the Summer—Fashion Highlights From F Street.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Capture in carefree fashion all the fun and health the summer sun can give—says a famous beauty specialist—but before you dash forth in aforesaid carefree fashion anoint yourself with some magic lotions that will prevent sad results from exposure to sun. Into a flat, compact kit, rubber-lined, this beauty specialist has packed seven of her summer aids and comforts to beauty. A lotion that actually sunproofs the skin is among the seven products. Another is one that protects the skin against sunburn and freckles and induces an even, golden tan. A powder she calls "gypsy-tan" is almost red-brown, and contains special ingredients, which, she says, "counteract the aging actinic sunrays." A bleaching cream is another important item among the seven packages in the magic beauty bag.

These new summer beauty bags, planned for the vacationer's packing convenience, or for carrying, if you please, with complete suitability with a street costume, are in green, maize, orange or candy stripe exteriors with attractive clasps and satchel handles.

Matching colored shoes and bags for summer, showing in one of F street's best known shoe shops, have possibilities for subtle blending with various costumes. Their colors, mottled or striped, are green, blue, rose, pink, beige and a striking gray and black effect. Their material is known as Turesco, a painted cloth. The fabric is cool for summer, the shoe salesman guarantees. He showed the Meanderer that the toes of summer shoes of this type are cut a bit wider than such shoes would be in winter, preventing foot discomfort so common in summer. The painted shoes are suggested for wear with summer frocks for roof garden dinners, dances or for garden parties.

A shoe for men that is selling rapidly has a rubber sole an inch thick. The shoe is of washable elk, with a leather insole. Its price is as sensational as its sole—only $3.75.

Comfortable summer robes for men are made of Shantung in green, brown, blue and yellow, and fit into matching envelopes of shantung in a neat package for traveling. The price complete is just $6.50.

Iridescent beads in choker length and longer with matching bracelets and earrings are among the newest of summer jewelry featured on F street. The colors are soft shades of blue, rose and a rose-beige, blending to a skillful degree with the summer silks and cottons in pastel shades.

May Fashion forgive the Meanderer for not admiring the ubiquitous white pique jackets and swagger coats. The first cousin to cotton pique—cotton corduroy—does get admiring glances from the Meanderer, however. A cotton corduroy coat, featured in Vogue recently, has a yoke line, a sleeve line and a slightly fitted waist line, with extreme smartness departing from the look of pique's high fashion. This coat is suitable for both daytime and evening, does not wrinkle and is therefore most suitable for the voyager or vacationer.

New Fire Rules for Ships.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 31 (A.P.).—The National Fire Protection Association today tentatively adopted new regulations for construction of ocean liners to prevent fires.

Today Means

By MARY BLAKE.

"GEMINI."

IF June 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a. m. to 10:50 a. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:25 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:15 a. m. and from 3:50 p. m. to 4:40 p. m.

The child born on this June 1 will quite possibly be very clever in the use of its hands and should show some ability in mastering a musical instrument. Some interest outside of school will keep this little one from being an outstanding student, but he should be encouraged along any worth-while line that may appeal to him.

If June 1 is the date of your birth, you will probably change your place of residence frequently; your occupations will require considerable traveling. Your success in life will not be due to any brilliant mental work, but rather to the clever use of your hands in some ways; your travails will be manual in nature.

Born on June 1, you are not an unkind person, but very often you hurt others of finer sensibilities by your bluntness. You are not quick to sense the suffering of others or to realize their sorrow. Even when you do, you are at a loss and even clumsy as to how to go about assuaging their pain or grief. You are a sincere but not an ardent lover; you are inclined to be openly demonstrative in your love for your parents and children. An early marriage would not seem advisable. Many born on this date will marry late in life and will be very happy with their loved ones. You are inclined to be too lax in disciplining your children.

Successful people born on June 1: Brigham Young, second president of Mormon Church.

Charles G. Eastman, editor and poet.

Eben Tourjee, musician.

Stock Profit-Takers Drive Prices Lower at Closing

Rails and Metals Lead Rise in Early Trading, Sales, 6,087,120 Shares.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Stock traders were more eager to convert paper profits into cash today, and the list closed lower, after being irregularly higher through much of the active market.

Operations for the advance went forward busily in a few groups, notably rails, metals and several low-priced specialties, but reluctance of numerous leaders in other divisions to follow these flurries brought general recessions toward the close and many leaders were off 1 to 3 points net. Turnover of 6,087,120 shares kept the ticker frequently behind floor transactions.

On the other hand, most commodities retained their inflationary spirits, despite dips by wheat and corn. Cotton hastened to catch up with yesterday's rise on markets that were open during our holiday, but its gain of around $1.50 a bale to new high prices was largely lost. Copper, sugar, tin, silver, rubber and hides extended recent advances.

The Standard Statistics-Associated Press stock composite, which ended April at 66, rounded out May at 76.6. This substantial appreciation, contrary to the May record for the past several years, was accompanied by sharply expanded activity, compilations showing that the month's volume month exceeded 100,000,000 shares for the first time since April, 1930.

A rally by dollar exchange may have stimulated profit taking in a market that had been preoccupied with thoughts of dollar depreciation and inflation. A number of so-called pivotal issues, however, acted a bit tired from their recent gymnastics. American Telephone, American Can, General Motors, United States Steel, Du Pont, Allied hemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Case, among others, tended to drag during rallies and showed net reactions of around 1 to 3. New York Central, Radio, Anaconda, Otis Elevator, Calumet & Hecla, General Electric, Canadian Pacific, Grigsby-Grunow, Transamerica, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Railway were prominent leaders on advances, but finished under their highs, in some cases canceling their gains. Western Union, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, North American, Woolworth and Consolidated Gas eased a point or thereabouts.

| Advances | 399 | 573 |
| Declines | 373 | 201 |
| Unchanged | 151 | 151 |
| Total issues | 923 | 925 |

Stocks.

Traders took profits and pushed prices down 1.1 points. Rails and metals led a rally in earlier dealing. Sales totaled 6,087,120 shares.

Bonds.

Operations were resumed with zest and prices climbed one-tenth of a point. The turnover was $16,114,000.

Curb.

Heavy profit taking failed to halt the upward drive. Some weakness appeared at the close. Sale volume mounted to 950,000 shares.

Wheat.

Fears of crop improvement estimates due today shoved wheat values down. A burst of buying was followed by profit taking. May wheat sold at 71⅞ to 72 cents.

Cotton.

Rush of buying again sent prices to new high levels. The general market was up 2 to 7 points. July sold at 9.20, after reaching higher ground.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—In anticipation of favorable Wall street reports, transatlantic issues were marked up and closed firm in a cheerful session of the stock exchange today. Base metal shares, oil stocks and rubber issues were the best of the other sections. Gilt-edged securities attracted fresh investment buying but gold shares eased on South African taxation proposals. The market closed steady.

Paris—The advance in prices of raw materials together with month-end covering boosted prices on the bourse today.

Berlin—The tone of the bourse was quiet but prices closed slightly better.

BONDS IN NEW HIGHS IN BUOYANT DEALING

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—The bond market resumed operations with more zest today following the Memorial Day holiday and prices in the whole registered moderate improvement.

With the day's trading totaling $16,114,000, the composite average showed a gain of one-tenth of a point.

The best score was made in the railroad and industrial field, but the utilities lagged a bit behind Monday's final quotations. United States Government loans showed slight losses on the whole.

Favorable Balance of Trade Now Stands at $16,651,632

(Associated Press.)

American exports during April totaled $105,063,412 and imports $88,411,780, leaving a $16,651,632 favorable trade balance.

During the same month last year exports were $135,094,610 and imports $126,521,806.

Figures made public yesterday by the Department of Commerce showed the United Kingdom was the largest buyer from this country, with $18,235,164, while Canada sent the largest amount, $11,078,285, to the United States.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

CURB FORGES AHEAD UNDER PROFIT SALES

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Despite some heavy profit-taking in curb market industrials and other scattered spots, a number of issues were able to forge ahead today in a session that was marked by considerable churning of stocks. Transfers increased to 950,000 shares compared with 888,000 for Monday.

After a steady opening, prices firmed during the first hour, but irregularity cropped out during the midday period and further weakness occurred in a number of leading shares at the close.

COTTON PRICES RISE TO NEW HIGH LEVELS

July Sells at 9.20 With General Market Up 2 to 7 Points.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—A rush of buying orders at the opening today sent cotton prices into new high ground for the movement and season in all positions. The advance met a great deal of realizing and prices jogged off with October selling down to 8.41 in the late trading or about 9 points from the best. That delivery closed at 8.45, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 2 to 7 points.

Initial prices were 22 to 27 points higher with July selling up to 9.42 and December to 9.83 on general buying by trade and commission house sources, based on the over-holiday strength of the Liverpool and New Orleans markets.

Price-Fixing Reports.

The trade buying was accompanied by reports that mills both at home and abroad were fixing prices against recent purchases.

Buying continued on scale down orders and prices worked off gradually, selling back to or within a few points of Monday's closing quotations in the late trading. The reaction carried July to 9.18 and December to 9.58 but closing prices were a few points up from the lowest on covering.

Reports that plans for a reduction in the acreage this season are being considered in Washington were thought to be largely responsible for the over-holiday strength in other markets and the buying here today.

Reports from the domestic goods market indicated a less active business, but firmness in prices. Exports today, 25,827, making 7,161,297 so far this season. Port receipts, 10,164. United States port stocks, 3,947,647.

MRS. BROWN NAMES HOSTESSES ON TOUR

Girl Cadets to Guide Visitors Through Homes and Gardens in Alexandria.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

Mrs. Ward Brown, general chairman for the tour of homes and gardens to be conducted Saturday under auspices of the Alexandria Association, has announced a list of those who will greet visitors at the various places open during this tour. Two Alexandria girl cadets will be stationed at each house as guides to assist visitors, under the direction of Maj. Louise Thompson, of the George Mason Girl Cadet Corps, and Capt. Katherine Moriarity of the Alexandria Corps.

A visit will be made to the Anne Lee Memorial Home for the Aged, 201 North Fairfax street—in Revolutionary days Wise's Tavern—and now a memorial to the mother of Gen. Robert E. Lee, Anne Hill Carter Lee. Here tea will be served, free of charge. The committee serving will be Mrs. A. D. Rorex, chairman; Mrs. Henry Wilder Keyes, Mrs. Herbert Lee Boatwright, Miss Elizabeth Shelley, Mrs. Ella Herbert Micou, Miss Earle Taylor and Mrs. A. C. Dearing and Mrs. Harley Peyton Wilson, of Hollin Hall, who is vice president of the board of lady managers of the Anne Lee Memorial Home. Mrs. Alexander S. Donihphan, president; Mrs. William D. Ogden and Mrs. William M. Reardon, of the board, are cooperating in the arrangements.

Maj. and Mrs. Marshburn will be at their home, 211 North Fairfax street; Miss Blondell Malone will receive at her studio, 120 South Fairfax street, while at her residence, 202 Duke street, Mrs. Barr will be in charge. At 122 South Fairfax street, Mr. and Mrs. William B. McGroarty will keep their home open for the tour, and 211½ Prince street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Little, Mrs. Richard Royall Baker will preside.

House Boasts Ghost.

At the old Dr. William Brown house, 212 South Fairfax street, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Cael, their daughter, Miss Eve Maria Cael, will assist her mother. This is one of the oldest houses in Alexandria and is original throughout, with beautiful old woodwork, mantels, hand-forged locks and hinges, and last but not least, with the legend of a ghost. The legend is that Dr. Brown, who was Surgeon General of the Continental Army, was greatly beloved by the soldiers, and that one of these soldiers when wounded in battle endeavored to reach his friend, Dr. Brown, but succumbed en route. His restless spirit roams the house in search of his friend. This house contains the most perfect specimen of built-in brick oven of any of the local houses.

The home of Col. and Mrs. Charles E. Moore, 207 Prince street, is a handsome old residence. Here Mrs. Moore will be assisted by Miss Catherine Carter Critcher, Mrs. Charles Henry Smith, Mrs. William B. McElwaine and Mrs. Truman Smith.

Water He Gave Victim Fails to Save Outlaw

Denver, May 31 (A.P.).—After Augustus Jayne, 20, and Herman Rowlett, 24, pleaded guilty to holding up two women in a Denver business building, their attorney, Joseph Hill, asked District Judge E. V. Holland to be lenient.

"Jayne got one of the women a drink when she fainted," Hill told the court.

"False chivalry," said Judge Holland, sentencing the men to from seven to nine years in prison.

FAIRFAX GRADUATION WILL BE TOMORROW

126 to Get Diplomas of Six High Schools in Virginia County.

Graduation exercises of the six high schools of Fairfax County, Va., will take place tomorrow night in the various communities. This year's graduation class will include 126 pupils, one of the largest in the history of the county.

Mary Ella Carr will be the valedictorian of Oakton High School. Irene Manvill will be the salutatorian, Coda Kincheloe will read the class will; Lucille Rice will give the mantle oration; Eleanor McDonald, the class poem; Polly Millan and Alfred Thompson, educational speeches. The address to the graduates will be by Dean Woods, of American University, Washington. Miss Mary M. Sneed, principal, will present diplomas.

Dr. E. L. Kayser, of George Washington University, Washington, will deliver the address to the graduates of Herndon High School. Miss Mary Armfield will be the class valedictorian and Miss Betty Brown the salutatorian. The committee in charge of the exercises includes Mrs. Ernst Gibson, Mrs. Granville White, Miss Frances Lancaster, E. P. Orr, Miss Mildred Williams, Mrs. Harry Middleton, E. J. Heglar, Miss Francenia Abell and Prof. W. R. Crabill.

Graduates Will Speak.

The graduation exercises of Clifton High School will take place in the Baptist Church at Clifton Station. Members of the graduating class will deliver short talks on "The Value of Education Toward Citizenship," instead of having a speaker from the outside. Rebecca Meyers will be valedictorian and Louise Koontz salutatorian. Vivian Hart will recite the class will, Beryl Kincheloe the class history, Rebecca Hopkins the class prophecy, Bernice Riggles the class motto and Viola Franklin the class poem. The diplomas will be presented by G. A. Watts, principal.

Commencement exercises of Lee-Jackson High School at Cameron Valley will be held in the school auditorium. The Rev. C. A. Langston, rector of Pohick Church, will give the invocation. Beatrice Wise will be class salutatorian. Charles Henry Smith, attorney, of Alexandria, will deliver the principal address. This will be followed by the class songs and the valedictory address by Rena Lynch. The diplomas will be presented by Miss Agnes Donaldson, a former principal.

Franklin-Sherman.

The commencement exercises of Franklin-Sherman High School at McLean will be under the direction of seven seniors, who will talk on education in the county, State and Nation. ## Florida Jury Acquits Wife in Slaying Mate

Jacksonville, Fla., May 31 (A.P.).—A criminal court jury today acquitted Mrs. Florence Drane, charged with the second-degree murder of her husband.

Mrs. Drane, formerly of Louisville, Ky., shot and killed her husband at their home here last January 21 and then attempted to take her own life. Defense witnesses testified Drane repeatedly had mistreated his wife and that the shooting came during one of these incidents.

Suicide's Identity Revealed by Friend

The search by Prince Georges County police for relatives or friends of Paul G. Lewis, 68, who committed suicide Tuesday, was rewarded yesterday by a telegram from a friend of Lewis in Milwaukee, Wis.

The telegram, from George Zwalina, stated that Lewis was a native of Germany and that his name, until naturalized in 1923, was Paul G. Ludwig. He was described as a wealthy lawyer and an "author on eccentric economic subjects."

Lewis' history was learned indirectly through Representative Thomas O'Malley, of Wisconsin. The lawyer, who had come to Washington armed with material that he believed would direct a solution of the depression, had appealed to Representative O'Malley for help. A suitcase, left in the representative's office, bore Zwalina's address.

Lewis was seen to swallow poison Tuesday while walking in front of the Fire Department Building in Branchville, Md.

U.S. Davis Net Defeat Seen By Tilden

Doubts If Team Will Get by Interzone Final Round.

Cup Team Heads Decline Tilden Offer to Drill Players.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, May 31 (A.P.).—Big Bill Tilden thinks the United States will be beaten again in the battle for the Davis Cup, but he hastened to add today, not because it develops the chairman of the American Davis Cup committee, Bernon S. Prentice, declined with thanks an offer to have the former world champion and his professional partner, Bruce Barnes, work out with the American team in Paris.

"We appreciated Tilden's offer, especially because of his knowledge of conditions and his experience abroad," said Prentice, "but I pointed out to him that we would have two extra players, in addition to the members of the Davis Cup team, for whatever light workouts we need. Big Bill will be welcome at our camp, any time, but we will not do any heavy work, before either the interzone or challenge round matches, and there would be no need of using Tilden and Barnes."

Surprise Offer Is Declined.

Tilden was reluctant to discuss this development, but admitted he had volunteered the services of himself and Barnes, without expense to the American Davis Cup forces, for practice purposes. The American professionals sail June 8 for a European tour.

"Under the circumstances I was surprised by the reply I received from Prentice," said Tilden. "The offer was made in good faith and the belief that my long experience against the French on their home grounds might be helpful to an American team that is so anxious to win back the cup."

Tilden has great admiration for Ellsworth Vines, the American champion, but considers the Californian still short of his peak as a player and believes the United States will bump into another stone-wall defense by the French cupholders.

U. S. Lucky to Beat Australia.

"As a matter of fact, our team may be lucky to get past the interzone finals, where they probably will oppose Australia," asserted Big Bill. "Jack Crawford, the Australian champion, is capable of winning two singles matches. England also is a strong factor.

"When it comes to the challenge round, I look for Henri Cochet to win both his singles matches for France, thereby leaving it up to Jean Borotra to win one of his two assignments. I feel safe in saying both will be at the top of their game for the big test and that no element of strategy will be overlooked to help them win.

"Obviously the failure of the Borotra-Brugnon doubles combination, because of age, has upset some of the French plans, but Cochet can step in to take part in the doubles, too, if the defenders decide to concentrate on winning this point.

"Vines is our only real hope, for he has proved he is the real type of player who can win even when he is having a bad day. But he must win two singles matches for the United States to have a real chance in the challenge round. And that's where it gets tough."

Babe Ruth Hits the Dirt on His Triple in Second Game—Rice Safe at First on Pitcher's Error

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

LEFTY GOMEZ may be the ace of the Yankees' pitching staff to the rest of the league, but where the Nats are concerned he's just the ace in a continual hole.

Gomez has won six and lost three thus far this season. None of his victories was at the expense of the Washington Club. All three of his defeats were. Gomez in the box for the Yankees represents the welcome sign for the Nats. Once he attempted to start against them and was driven out. Twice he attempted to finish up games and was beaten.

The Nats may not win the championship, but they have established themselves as the champions of Lefty Gomez, at least. Gomez has lasted the nine-inning route just once in Griffith Stadium during his three-year career in the big leagues. Which reminds this department that Lefty Grove was knocked out of the box the first 13 times he faced the Nats.

Martin Had Bill Ready.

Trainer Mike Martin, of the Nats, was gratified to learn yesterday that he drew no suspension as a result of being ordered off the bench by Umpire Brick Owens on Tuesday when he directed some choice remarks at the umpire during the controversy over Gehrig's foul homer and Owens' foul decision.

Whatever Martin had to say to Owens from the bench was as mild as a Quaker sermon compared to what the irate trainer had to say in the locker room following the game. He ranted a full half hour at Owens and his decision, and apparently had let himself in for a nice long suspension, and perhaps a fine.

But the red-faced trainer had an ace in the hole. Two days previously he had treated Owens for a lame back. "If President Harridge fined me," said Mike, "I was going to send Owens a bill for that amount for professional services."

A fine from the league head would have been rubbing it in on the Nats' rubber, perhaps.

How Long Is Indefinite.

Twice during his 30-year career as a big league trainer, Martin has been ordered off the bench, but his experience on Sunday was hardly worth notice compared to his former offense.

When Ban Johnson was president of the American League an indefinite suspension followed the umpire's report on the fact that he had ejected Martin from the Washington bench.

Days passed. There was no lifting of the suspension, and Martin became worried for fear it was a life sentence. He requested President Griffith, of the Nats, to query Johnson on the matter and inquire the length of the suspension. Days had passed into three weeks.

Ban Johnson immediately wired Griffith that Martin's suspension was at an end. "I had completely forgotten about the matter," was Johnson's reply.

Dempsey Hits Partiality Charge

Denies He Is Trying to Engineer Defeat of Schmeling.

NEW YORK, May 31 (U.P.).—Jack Dempsey today issued a torrid denial of charges that he is trying to engineer Max Schmeling's defeat in the Maxie Baer bout at Yankee Stadium, June 8.

Dempsey was angered by a telegram from Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, who accused Dempsey of failing to show the proper impartiality for a promoter. He openly charged the Manassa Mauler with being too much interested in Baer and trying to bring about Schmeling's downfall.

Resented Coaching Of Baer.

Jacobs resented Dempsey's coaching the California boxer at Atlantic City on Monday, after Dempsey had analyzed the styles of both fighters by boxing one round each with them on Saturday and Sunday.

"Jacobs is putting me in a bad light," Dempsey said, "and he's trying to break up my friendship with Schmeling. He accuses me of coaching Baer to get his man licked. I knew Schmeling before Jacobs ever met him, and he is one of my warmest friends.

"When Jacobs charges that I'm rooting for Baer to win, he is making an out-and-out misstatement. I might make that stronger. He's the last fellow in the world to be accusing me of trying to double-cross anybody."

Dempsey explained that he did tell Baer before several newspaper men that if he expected to beat Schmeling he'd have to get out and punch and stop clowning. He told Baer he was punching wild and that he should perfect his blows to the body.

Meanwhile, Dempsey's offices announced that several special trains from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Reno, Chicago, Cleveland, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, and from Massachusetts cities would bring crowds to the battle.

Root Checks Bucs As Cubs Win, 5-1

Pittsburgh, May 31 (A.P.).—Charlie Root, veteran right-handed pitcher, was stingy with hits with men on the bases as the Chicago Cubs made the most of their seven blows to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 1, today.

Although defeated, the Pirates held to their lead in the National League, but only by the slim margin of five points over the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

Steve Swetonic started on the mound for the Pirates, but was the victim of bad support in the first and fourth innings. He started the game by walking English, who promptly stole second and went to third on Grace's wild throw, from where he was in a position to score on Bill Herman's long fly.

In the fourth, Pie Traynor's wide throw to second on an attempted double play paved the way for three more Cub runs. Bill Herman's double with the bases loaded produced two of the runs after a base on balls had forced in the first of the trio.

Hendrick tripled off Harris in the eighth and scored on a long fly for the Cubs' fifth run.

Nats May Buy Sam Gray, Veteran St. Louis Pitcher

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

FOR several weeks, President Clark Griffith has been scouring the baseball highways and byways for a pitcher to bolster the Nationals' somewhat disappointing staff and, via the grapevine route, it was learned last night that his search is just about ended as he stands a good chance of landing Sam Gray, right-hander, from the St. Louis Browns. Whether the Nat owner will give up talent or cash is not known, as he could not be reached late last night for questioning.

Gray's record this season is nothing to write home about, as he has won no games and is charged with one defeat, but the veteran pitcher is much better than this. He has been confining his efforts chiefly to relief roles and has saved several games for faltering mates. If obtained by the Nats, he will be used in this capacity and should prove to be a mighty handy man to have about.

Although the Detroit Tigers held title to Gray in 1921, he did not make his big league debut until 1924 with the Athletics. He remained with the Macks four seasons, winning 16 games as against 8 losses in 1925 and 20 as against 12 losses in 1927. Since 1928 he has performed with fair success in St. Louis livery.

Gray is a high-priced performer and the Browns, going nowhere in particular in the pennant race, feel that they can not afford to carry him; hence his prospective sale to the Nats. With Manager Joe Cronin's regulars not yet in stride and with the team right up there in the flag race, Gray would make himself a mighty valuable man here supporting faltering starters.

SAM GRAY.

Boston Here For Series With Nats

Stewart or Thomas to Hurl Today; Werber at Shortstop.

BOSTON'S trailing Red Sox will be here this afternoon and, notwithstanding their lowly position in the race, they have proven plenty tough for the Nationals in previous meetings this season, earning a fifty-fifty break in four games. Manager Joe Cronin was undecided last night as to his pitching assignment, but is expected to start either Walter Stewart or Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, the blushing bridegroom. Whom Manager Marty McManus will use is anybody's guess.

On the Red Sox team is Johnny Hodapp, who now is the league's second best hitter, as well as Dale Alexander, who showed the way to the swatsmiths last season. But Hodapp, at second, has slowed up almost to a walk afield while First-baseman Alexander never was quite that speedy, which state of affairs should prove quite a help to the Nats with their preponderance of southpaw hitters.

Bill Werber, local boy who formerly starred with Tech High, the Knickerbockers, and later at Duke University, makes his pro debut here as the regular shortstop of the Red Sox.

Buddy Myer's ailment has been diagnosed as a mild attack of ptomaine poisoning. He will not be out more than a day or two; in fact, he could have played yesterday if necessary. Buddy was called on to pinch-hit in both games yesterday.

Babe Ruth hit a ball in practice before yesterday's game which landed foul almost in the identical spot where Gehrig's alleged homer went Decoration Day. And maybe the fans did not have a lot of fun yelling "fair ball!"

FIRST GAME.

Rice did some fast handling of Chapman's double in the second. He pegged to Cronin so quickly that the latter's perfect relay to Bluege caught the speedy runner at third by yards.

Manush contributed a sensational shoe-string catch at J. Sewell's expense in the second, sliding in almost to shortstop after catching the ball.

Rice backed up against the centerfield flagpole to reach high overhead for Gehrig's looper opening Round 4.

SECOND GAME.

Just before play started, Clark Griffith, president of the Nationals, presented the Tech nine, scholastic champion, with th echampionship trophy, which he put up for competition at the beginning of the season.

It was extra bases or no count for the Yanks in their first. Ruth tripled between doubles by J. Sewell and Gehrig for all of their hits in this round.

Russell relieved Weaver in the second and immediately walked Gehrig on four pitched balls to fill the bases.

Boken fell while fielding Pennock's roller in the third, but threw him out while sprawled on the ground. It was quite a play.

Cronin hustled behind the foul line in short left to turn in a nobby

70 Entered for Starting Of St. Paul Golf Open

St. Paul, Minn., May 31 (A.P.).—Arrival of the vanguard of some of the big names in golf quickened interest tonight in the $5,000 open tournament at Keller course opening tomorrow and ending Sunday.

Leo Diegel, Bobby Cruickshank, George von Elm, Ed Dudley, Al Collins, Willie Goggin, Tony Manero, and Leonard Dobson were present.

Seventy-two holes will be played. Most of the 70 entrants plan to compete in the driving contest tomorrow, finals for which will be held the last day of the tournament, Sunday, with the 20 long balls in the preliminaries contesting.

Washington's Rallies in 2d Are Futile

49 Hits Collected Off 12 Moundsmen in Double-Header.

Late Inning Slugging Features Games; 16,000 Look On.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

AMID the din of 49 base hits and the sorrowful efforts of 12 pitchers, the Nats split a double-header with the Yankees yesterday. After Washington had fought an uphill battle to win the opener, 12 to 7, Monte Weaver left the second game in the possession of the Yankees before two innings had been completed and ultimately the Nats went down to a 9-7 defeat.

The 16,000 who had seen the Nats win the opener with some late-inning slugging sat patiently and expectantly throughout the second game despite the Yanks' 8-0 lead, but their only consolation was an unadvertised feature in which Heinie Manush, running full tilt to first base, collided squarely with the squat form of Umpire Brick Owens and deposited the perparator of Tuesday's New York victory squarely on the flat of his back in no gentle manner.

Nat Rallies Fall Short.

Before the second game had run its course, the Nats were making several threatening gestures in the direction of the ancient Herb Pennock, which included a 3-run rally in the seventh and a 3-run stand in the ninth that cut Pennock's lead to 9-7, but the aged southpaw survived by grace of the 8 runs that the Yanks had amassed off Weaver and Jack Russell in the first two innings.

There was considerable satisfaction for the Nats in the first-game victory. After Joe Cronin had tied the score with a single that scored two in the seventh, Manager McCarthy selected his ace, Lefty Gomez, to hold the Nats in check for the remainder of the game. But in the eighth Gomez was the ace in the hole, for the Nats soon filled the bases against him and finished up with a five-run outburst.

Only One Victory Out of Three.

The split of the twin bill left the Nats with once victory to show for their three games with the Yanks here and left them still three full games behind the lead.

In the second game, Monte Weaver was about as effective as water in the gas tank. The Yanks socked him for three runs in the first inning on a walk to Combs, a double by Sewell, a triple by Ruth and a double by Gehrig and for a moment it seemed as though Weaver was going to pitch a no-out game.

Weaver had two out when he ran into some more Yankee base hits in the second. The Yanks had scored another run on him when Jack Russell came into the game. Chapman greeted him with a single that cleared the filled bases, and he later

The NEW DEAL

Packardized Used Cars have just completed their biggest month. Since the Packard Washington Motor Car Company was organized in October, 1922, nearly eleven years ago, the volume of used car business has steadily increased until the month just passed broke all records. A total of 117 Packardized Used Cars were sold.

Naturally, there must be a reason for the steady increase in the demand for Packardized Used Cars. The reason is the cars themselves. These are the Used cars that are DIFFERENT.

Before you buy any Used Car you owe it to yourself to look over our stock, see just how these cars are different—and why. Terms are liberal, and for approved credit, in most cases, we can make the terms to fit the individual case.

Our present stock of cars range in price from $2,350 down to $50.

HYPERION TAKES 150TH BRITISH DERBY AT 6-TO-1 ODDS

Royalty Sees New Mark Recorded

Lord Derby Captures His Family's Third Win in Classic.

King Salmon Second, With Statesman Coming Next.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, May 31 (A.P.).—Lord Derby, most popular of English sportsmen, today won his family's third victory in the classic race named after the famous house when his Hyperion, 6-to-1 favorite, scored a record-smashing triumph over 23 of Britain's best 3-year-olds in the 150th running of the Derby.

Stepping the testing 1½ miles in 2 minutes and 34 seconds, two-fifths of a second faster than the record established by Call Boy in 1927 and equalled in 1928 by Felstead, Hyperion crossed the finish line in front of the royal box with four lengths to spare over Sir H. Cunliffe-Owen's King Salmon, quoted at 7 to 1.

Back in third place, a length to the rear of King Salmon, trailed Victor Emanuel's Statesman, a 20-to-1 shot, and the first of the three American-owned horses to finish. Franz Hals, owned by John McCormack, the Irish tenor, was seventh, and W. M. G. Singer's Myosotis trailed near the end.

Manitoba Is Far Back.

Although officially the distance between Hyperion and King Salmon was given as four lengths, it appeared, and photographs bore out the contention, that the son of Gainsborough and Selene finished twice that far in front of his nearest rival.

Away back was Lord Woolavington's Manitoba, the favorite until a few minutes before the race when a flood of money shoved Hyperion into the honored position. Never closer than sixth and never really in the race, Manitoba was a badly beaten horse, bearing out the belief of many that he could not go the Derby distance.

The crowd was estimated at nearly a million, but nobody tried to count it. It included the king and queen and packed the huge grandstand, situated in the bowl-like setting of the downs, and the adjacent standing room to capacity. After a threat of rain in the forenoon, the skies cleared and furnished a beautiful setting for the greatest of England's turf classics.

Hyperion's victory represented a beautiful bit of cooperation between Tommy Weston, up on the winner, and the veteran Steve Donoghue, winner of six Derbies, who was given the mount on Lord Derby's second string colt, Thrapston, when J. A. Dewar's Lochiel failed to stand training.

Donoghue, riding a horse famous for his speed but rated a nonstayer, was told to win if he could, but in any event set the pace for the fancied Hyperion. The veteran obeyed instructions to the letter.

Weston himself told the story best: "I won the race at the gate. I was afraid Hyperion would not like the firm going, but he jumped away well and I just let him go along, tagging behind Steve on Thrapston, who was out to set the pace for me.

Was Given Opening On Rail.

"When we reached Tattenham Corner I shouted for Steve to pull out. He didn't hear me so I shouted again. This time he heard and gave me an opening on the rail. I shot through on the inside, but Hyperion began to slow up after getting into the lead so I used the whip once and he drew away to win in a canter.

"I saw only four horses in the whole of the race. A jolly good horse won a jolly good race for a jolly good owner and won it easily."

That about describes the race, since it was strictly a Lord Derby affair from start to finish. King Salmon kept well up with the leaders from the start, but he was no match for Hyperion once Weston turned on the power. Statesman also ran a great race, closing fast in the last half-mile run down hill to nose out Scarlet Tiger for third place. Donoghue brought Thrapston home fifth and was followed by Raymond and Franz Hals.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: WASHINGTON PARK, MAY 31.

When keener exhibitions of horsemenship are unfolded, Jack Westrope probably will unfold them. This 16-year-old boy, who learned to ride in his native Montana, went to Havana last winter and was the sensation of the meeting. Westy, as his fellow jockeys call him, then rode with success in Kentucky. Today he had horsemen gasping for breath. He rode five winners, using a variety of mounts. Well friend, we're out here to give the bangtails a going over. My long-distance selections didn't fare any too well today, but then Westrope engineered a lot of upsetting that had the pickers dizzy. Try these for tomorrow. BILL.

FIRST RACE—Two-year-olds are uncertain enough and here we run up against juvenile maidens. Your guess is as good as mine, which is WEAVER BIRD, PRINCE POMPEY and MASKED PRINCE.

SECOND RACE—SISTER MARY gets the Bennings call in the second. The Hephaistos mare campaigned with much success early in the year and has shown herself to be on edge since arriving here. Looks like SIS AGNES, another mare with years hanging on her, is the one to beat. KIBITZER for the show end.

THIRD RACE—BURGOO appears to have the edge over this field. The son of North Star III is sharp as a tack. Our old friend DROMBO has tailed off some since last season, but I'm giving the Chance Play gelding a chance for second money. OUTBOUND looks like the best of the others.

FOURTH RACE—HAMILTON goes in a cheap field here and should make no mistakes. SISTER ZOE, which failed to get close in Maryland, might do well among these. The mud would move her up considerably. BIRTHDAY GIFT for the rest.

FIFTH RACE—SABULA is a consistent sort and gets my edge over AT TOP, the American Flag filly. The first named gives away 7 pounds and I understand it can be done. TECHNIQUE to complete the money circle.

SIXTH RACE—SANDWRACK has a way of popping in front of good fields, especially when properly priced. Asking much to make this one beat ON SIR, but I will not be surprised if such materializes. CHOKOLOSKEE for the third award.

SEVENTH RACE — LIONHEARTED will appreciate this distance and is as good as his name. The early speed in the race may set the stage for a victory in the stretch run. WATCH TOWER and MAD CAREER to take care of the others.

EIGHTH RACE—TOTEM, TELA and WAR PLANE appear best suited of those that face the barrier in the final.

Consumers Meet Dor A on Sunday

Griffith Consumers, league leaders in the unlimited division of the Capital City Leafue, will engage Dor-A Sunday afternoon in one of the feature games, according to the schedule given out by President Dick Tennyson.

St. Joe will face Congress Heights; Woltz takes on Colonials; Federal A. C. engages Miller Furniture, and Stanton meets Certified.

In the senior class of the league, Auths will battle Mount Rainier.

The schedule for the juniors is as follows: Capital Heights vs. Clarendon, Goodacre vs. Georgia Avenue Business Men and Dixie vs. Rinaldi. The midgets' schedule: Corbett vs. Montrose, Versis vs. Potomac, and Eastern vs. Savoy.

Good Women's Field In Rock Creek Golf

A goodly number of entrants for the Rock Creek women's golf championship to open next Monday has been received by Harry Graham, manager of the course.

Most of the outstanding public links feminine players will participate. The entry of Mrs. Florence Godey, who for several years has been a prominent contestant in women's events hereabouts, was received yesterday. Entries will close Saturday.

Five Winners Ridden by Westrope

Youth Steals Show at Washington Park; Good Prices Paid.

WASHINGTON PARK, Ill., May 31 (A.P.).—Apprentice Jockey Jack Westrope, 16-year-old rider from Montana, stole the show at Washington Park today, booting home five mounts, four of them in succession.

Westrope statred with Bedight in the first race, had no mount in the second, but came right back to take the next three. After Eddie Arcaro had scored with Roulade in the second, Westrope won with Lady Menifee in the third; Whirling, which paid $27.84, in the fourth, and kicked Gold Check across the line first in the fifth.

He also landed third in the sixth and feature number with March King. Pancoast, with Charley Corbett up, won the sixth by a length and a half over Desert Call, the favorite. The A. B.Gallaher starter ran the 6 furlongs in 1:11 3-5 over a fast strip, and returned $10.26 in the $2 mutuels. In the seventh he won with Prince Farthing, which paid the surprisingly good price of $8.72.

Brother Joe Wins At Belmont.

Belmont Park, New York, May 31 (A.P.).—E. R. Bradley's Brother Joe, which finished far back in the 1932 Kentucky Derby and was well-beaten in two starts at Churchill Downs this year, suddenly recovered his racing legs here today, romping home an easy winner of the featured Bellport purse at odds of 10 to 1.

The Black Toney colt, reveling in the mud, led practically throughout the mile trip, his time being 1:41. The Anall Stable's Crap Shooter was second, four lengths back and a nose before the Belair Stud's Dominus.

Masked Knight Is Last.

G. H. Bostwick's Masked Knight was favorite in his seasonal debut, but after showing brief early foot, dropped back and was not persevered with, finishing last. Brother Joe gave Owner Bradley his initial success of the metropolitan season.

Silvio Coucci shot the Bradley color bearer to the front after a few strides, and under good handling, Brother Joe never was menaced. Brandon Mint forced the pace into the stretch, but faltered in the last furlong. Crap Shooter, last to this point, came with a great rush on the inside and beat Dominus for the place in the last jump.

Mangan, Graven Win to Gain Final

Tom Mangan and Axel Graven swept through two straight sets with Dick Mason and Gene Herman yesterday at Rock Creek to enter the finals of the City of Washington doubles tennis championship.

Mangan and Graven won, 6—4, 8—6, clinching the last set after their opponents held a 5—4 lead.

The finals are slated at 5 p. m. today at Rock Creek, with Mangan and Graven opposing the team of Muscoe Garnet and Murry Gould. Unseeded in the competition, Garnet and Gould upset the dope by defeating the favored team of Anthony Latona and Frank Shore in their semi-finals match.

Maryland Park Nine Defeats Hyattsville

Maryland Park High School's baseball team handed Hyattsville High a 16-to-3 drubbing on the University of Maryland diamond yesterday afternoon to eliminate the latter from the Prince Georges County championship race. It was the first game of a play-off for the Northern loop title in the county. At the end of the regular schedule Maryland Park, Hyattsville High and Mount Rainier all were tied with two wins and two defeats each. Maryland Park will meet Mount Rainier next Tuesday for the Northern section honors and the right to engage Oxon High Hill, Southern loop finalist, for the county crown.

Maryland Park clubbed two Hyattsville pitchers for 18 hits and Hyattsville was way off color afield, making 14 errors.

Southern Rowing Meet Is Slated Here July 22

Officials of the Potomac Boat Club last night mapped out plans for the staging of the Southern Rowing Association regatta to be held in the Washington Channel on July 22.

Crews from Virginia Boat Club, Richmond, Va.; Arundel Boat Club, of Baltimore; Old Dominion Boat Club, of Alexandria; Philadelphia and numeroue other out-of-town clubs will compete in the first rowing regatta to be staged here in several years.

Aspirants for places on the eight-oared shell, as well as the fours, doubles and singles are training daily at the Potomac Boat Club.

BOSTON HERE TODAY; NOTES OF YESTERDAY

over-the-shoulder catch of Jorgens' foul ending the fourth.

Berg's throw trying to stop Chapman from stealing in the fifth almost lowbridged Pitcher Jack Russell, who had to fall down to keep from being hit.

Umpire Brick Owen, at first, was standing right in Manush's line as he was running out a grasser in the sixth and a collision resulted, sending the arbiter flat to the ground.

J. Sewell, who was in a hitting mood yesterday, was robbed of a safety by Kuhel in the seventh. The first-sacker made a back-handed stop of a roller on the foul line and then beat the runner to first.

Some Nat fan tried to help out Manush on the play that ended the game, tossing his straw hat in front of Sammy Byrd as Babe Ruth's understudy went in the corner of right for a foul fly. Byrd caught the ball, though, and then picked up the hat and sailed it back in the stands before hustling off the field.

LE DROIT TIGERS TRAVEL.

The LeDroit Tigers, regarded as semipro colored champions of the District, Maryland and Pennsylvania, will make a three-day trip to Tidewater Virginia, meeting Daughtry's Black Revels in Portamouth Saturday; Berkley (Va.) Stars Sunday and Swan's All Stars, of Norfolk, Monday.

ARMY-NAVY CLUB FAILS TO RETAIN HUNTER

Action Taken To Curtail Budget

Petition of Members Fails to Reverse Decision.

Pro May Return to Post If Conditions Improve.

By DAVE HERMAN.

A SEVEN-MONTH reign as golf pro at the Army and Navy Country Club was terminated yesterday by J. Monro Hunter.

The action was taken, the golf committee announced yesterday afternoon following a meeting in the Munitions Building, in an effort to curtail the club's budget and cut down on the expense of operating the golf shop and course.

Hunter was notified a month ago, it was stated, that after his contract expired on June 1 he would not be retained as pro. Feeling ran high among members, some of whom appealed to officials with a signed petition.

Members of the committee, headed by Capt. C. O. Thrasher, made final efforts yesterday to see their way clear to retain the towering professional, but stated that the decision made last month would stand, adding, however, that if conditions improved he would be asked to return to his post.

Pay Cut Blamed For Action.

The recent Government pay cut was attributed to the slump in finances at Army and Navy, it was pointed out.

For the present Army and Navy will carry on without the services of a pro. Jack Connolly, greenskeeper, will be in charge of the golf shop, assisted by Danny Burton, carry-master, and Allan Burton, his brother, both of whom served their apprenticeships at Chevy Chase under Robert Barnett. Allan Burton joined hands with the club a few days ago, taking Cecil Whittington's place. Both Burton boys are well versed in the art of clubmaking.

Direct supervision of the golf shop will be in the hands of the golf committee, Chairman Thrasher announced. He said the club regretted not retaining Hunter, but declared it was purely an economy move.

Hunter Succeeded Walker.

Hunter succeeded Lionel Walker as pro last November. A graduate of the University of Edinburgh, Hunter came to Washington in 1928. He was pro at Indian Spring for several years, leaving that club March of last year. He is one of the tallest pros in the game, and one of the longest drivers. With a 68, he holds the Army and Navy unofficial course record.

Hunter is the second District pro to be let out as part of a curtailment program. Back in March Woodmont dispensed with A. B. Thorn's services for the same reason.

G. P. Golf Tourney Match Play Today

With the qualifying round called off, match play in the fourth annual Georgetown Prep invitation golf tournament will get under way this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Garrett Park course, with Maurice Nee, of the host school, in the role of defending champion.

The second round is slated tomorrow, the semifinals Saturday and the finals Sunday morning at 9:30. Teams from G. P., St. Alban's, St. John's and Gonzaga will compete.

Nee will meet O'Leary, of St. John's, in his opening match. Franklin (Shanty) Allen, of G. P., Maryland prep champion, opposes Preston, of Gonzaga.

The pairings follow:

Allan (G. P.) vs. Preston (Gonzaga); Ortman (St. John's) vs. Merkle (Gonzaga); Jenney (G. P.) vs. Lock (St. John's); Berberick (Gonzaga) vs. Dettweiler (G. P.); Ferguson (G. P.) vs. Jarvis (Gonzaga); Cornwell (St. Alban's) vs. Sullivan (St. John's); Carey (G. P.) vs. Stanley (St. John's); O'Leary (St. John's) vs. Nee (G. P.).

YANKS SIGN BROACA.

New York, May 31 (A.P.).—Johnny Broaca, Yale pitcher, who was the outstanding moundsman of the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League last year, but got into difficulties with the coaches and was dropped from the squad this spring, signed a contract today to play with the New York Yankees or any of their minor league affiliates. He is expected to report to the club Friday.

Since the Yankees have their limit of 23 players, Broaca probably will be sent to one of their "farm" clubs.

Champion Tech High School Team Receives Clark Griffith Trophy

Recognition of Tech's victory in the interscholastic baseball series was made yesterday between games of the Washington-New York double-header at Griffith Stadium, when Clark Griffith, donor of the championship cup, made the presentation. Carl Nau, captain of the team, is seen receiving the cup from Griffith.

Net Favorites Advance at Memphis

Vines, Grant, Sutter, Lott, Wood Among Tourney Victors.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 3 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, national singles champion, led a field of stars into the quarter-finals of the Dixie invitation tennis tournament here today.

Handicapped by lack of practice as a result of recent illness, and complaining of a bad knee, Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, fought gamely through a 4—6, 6—3, 6—4 victory over Perry Eastman, of New Orleans, for another of the quarter-final positions.

Grant is scheduled to meet George Lott, of Chicago, tomorrow. The dimunitive Georgian said he would go through with the match if his physical condition permitted.

Offers to Default Contest.

Grant offered to default today's contest at match point in the deciding set, but Eastman declined to accept. Lott, Grant's opponent tomorrow, easily eliminated Jimmie Elmore, Memphis, today, 6—2, 6—3.

Vines moved into the quarter finals with a 6—1, 6—1 win over Dick Covington of Asheville, N. C., and Berkeley Bell, of New York, won a third round match late in the day from Kimbark Peterson, Nashville, 6—3, 6—3.

Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, seeded number two, defeated Billy Hughes, of Memphis, 6—3, 7—5 and will meet Bell in the quarter finals.

Bryan Also Enters Quarter-Finals.

Robert "Lefty" Bryan, of Chattanooga, who lost a match today to Hector Catarurza, Argentine star, also entered the quarter finals and will oppose Vines tomorrow. Tournament officials announced this evening that Catarurza's 5—7 6—4, 6—4 victory over Bryan was an exhibition contest and that Catarurza had defaulted in order to return to Argentina tomorrow morning.

The other quarter final match will pit Dr. Adriano Zappa, Argentine captain, against Sidney Wood, of New York. Wood arrived here by plane from New Jersey this morning to defeat Lem Cooke, of Hernando, Miss., 6—3, 6—2 in the second round and won a third round match from Dan Murray, of New Orleans, 6—4, 6—4.

Zappa advanced on a 7—5, 6—2 victory over Bill Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif.

Martin, of Cardinals, Now "Honorary Mayor"

Alva, Okla., May 31 (A.P.).—Pepper Martin not only has hit his way to the top of the National League, but also to "honorary mayor" of Alva. The title has been conferred on him by Mayor O. L. Hayden, who is pretty much of a baseball fan. Martin, who hails from Oklahoma City, likes to hunt ducks in this vicinity.

Three Naval Squads Name 1934 Leaders

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 31.—Captains and managers of the Naval Academy baseball, field and track and lacrosse teams for the season of 1934 were elected today.

Stanley S. Daunis, of Massachusetts, first baseman for the last two years, will lead the diamond tossers, while Bernard A. Smith, Washington State, will be manager. Daunis was one of the most consistent hitters and fielders during the late season. Frank M. Whitaker, of New York, hurdler, will pilot the track team, with Clarence J. Waters, of Idaho, as manager, while the lacrosse players chose John P. Condon, of Michigan, as captain, and Robert J. Oliver, Ohio, as manager. Condon has played a stellar game at out-home for the last two years.

CUBS RELEASE PITCHER.

Chicago, May 31 (A.P.).—The Cubs today sent Pitcher Beryl Richmond back to Baltimore, whence he was obtained prior to the opening of the spring training season this year. Richmond's departure reduced the club roster to 22 players so that Kiki Cuyler could rejoin the club within the required limit of 23.

ON THE SIDELINES

by Edward J. Neil

PERHAPS it's the warmth and dreaminess of a spring day, or it may be the aftermath of President Roosevelt's inspiring successes, but the thought comes stealing in—what could you do for baseball if the game suddenly picked you up out of nowhere and made you absolute dictator?

The object, of course, would be to increase public interest, improve the game as a spectacle and make any move, no matter how radical, to insure club owners a fair return on investments that run into the millions, and in some cases have shown nothing but increasing losses for years.

The program would have to be radical, and contrary to the judgment of ruling minds today, else naturally it would already have been thought of. But just for fun let's see. Here's a four-point plan to start with.

IF I WERE KING.

1. Reduce prices, particularly for grandstand seats, and set an arbitrary 50-cent tag on all bleacher seats, meanwhile increasing their number until they comprised at least 40 per cent of the capacity of all parks.

2. Eliminate the two ball park arrangement in Boston, Philadelphia and New York in the interest of cutting overhead in three cities where returns, if they showed no actual losses, were meager last season. Chicago can maintain two parks, for the Cub and White Sox clientele are as far apart geographically as they are in preferences.

3. Gently, and without much fuss, pry from the powerful clubs excess talent that would bolster weaker clubs admirably, squashing the "gentlemen's agreements" that allow teams to waive to minor league farms players ready for major league service but overshadowed by the might of veterans.

4. Place stricter bans on fraternizing among rival ball players, reduce the authority of umpires to a point where they at least must consider player protests of decisions, and encourage aggressiveness and individual color while bearing down heavily on rowdiness.

FORGET PRECEDENT.

Price reductions, which already have taken place in several parks, still could go much farther. The major league slogan is that baseball did not increase prices in the boom days, so why should it lower them now.

The only answer to that is necessity. Precedent flew right out of the window on a lot of fronts when the full weight of the depression hit business. What baseball has done in the past is immaterial in view of the needs of the present. By filling bleachers with 50-cent customers baseball can pull through the rough financial season that looms ahead, meanwhile piling up friendly customers for the future.

There is no economic reason why the Red Sox should not discard Fenway Park, the Phillies their home bandbox and the Giants the Polo Grounds in favor of Braves Field, Shibe Park and the Yankee stadium, respectively. Owners fear that fans, dedicated to one club, might be weaned away to the home-town rival when they become accustomed to visiting the other park.

CUB COACH STRICKEN.

Pittsburgh, May 31 (A.P.).—John Schulte, coach of the Chicago Cubs, was removed from his hotel to a hospital early today, stricken with ptomaine poisoning. Physicians said his condition is not serious.

"He'll be back on the bench in a couple of days," said Charley Grimm, Cub manager. Schulte is a former catcher for the St. Louis Cardinals, taken on by the Cubs this year.

IT'S customary to bow the head in humility, and listen with reverence to the chant of the sages, the buglers for the older generation. They insist that for color, popularity, dramatic appeal and ability, the headline athletes of a recent day never have and never will be equaled.

Their standard bearers are Jack Dempsey, Bill Tilden, Bob Jones, Johnny Weissmuller, "Red" Grange, Louis Firpo, Ty Cobb and "Babe" Ruth, just to name a few quickly. It's possible they're correct. It's a grave question, too, whether the athlete of the present or the future ever will get a chance to perform under the same carefree, prosperous conditions these masters knew.

Of that brief list only Babe Ruth survives in his field of activity, baseball, and the numbers definitely are up on the wall for the aged Bambino. He may dash gazelle-like through the spring, hitting and running at will. His fortieth year will look him straight in the eye down the summer stretch, however, and that's one rival of man who has yet to meet defeat.

But it's just possible that if we could get the dazzle of some of these fellows out of our eyes, we might see right before us young athletes who need nothing but opportunity to threaten the fame of even these champions of champions, to quote old Bellerin' Joe Humphries.

Woods Full of Them.

In the fight game, for instance, there's Max Baer, as colorful as a year full of California sunsets. Out in Detroit there's a youngster named Schoolboy Rowe who looks and acts on a ball field as Ruth did when he first came up with the Boston Red Sox twenty years ago.

Wrestling has bobbed up with Joe Savoldi, a curly headed, magnificently muscled Italian youth borrowed from Knute Rockne's football system, a quaint character jammed with color that needs only the proper exploitation. Down in New Orleans a slim youngster named Frankie Parker is hailed as another Tilden.

Then there's Lefty Gomez, of the Yankees, and southpaw Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, the first with all the eccentricities and perhaps more skill than a "Bugs" Raymond, for instance; the second with a left-handed screw ball fadeaway like Christy Mathewson's. The trouble is, you can't hold an old-timer still long enough to prove the point to him.

Word From Fainting Phil.

Jimmy Johnston had many a headache managing fainting Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion who was always either just going down or coming up. But for the latter faculty, though he usually rose in agony screaming foul, Jimmy would have had even more headaches.

It was natural, then, that the disappearance of a bright colored specially made knob for the gear shift of his car caused him no more than a moment's exasperation during the months when he had the greater problem of falling Phillip on his mind. In fact he would never have thought of it again but for a letter from Scott the other day.

"By the way," one paragraph said, "the knob you lost off your car outside Madison Square Garden has been put in a position of esteemed honour as it now adorns the change speed lever of my car, and really makes a vast difference to the appearance of the car. I know that it will appeal to your sense of humor as it often does mine. So cheerio."

MIDGETS SEEK GAME.

The Washington Maid Midgets, of the Capital City League, want a game for Sunday. Call William Doyle at Decatur 4580, between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Greatest Slugger of All Beats Bushes for Red Sox

BOSTON (A.P.).—Somewhere out on the baseball byways, the greatest batter the game ever produced, now starting his forty-sixth year in the national pastime, is searching for future stars.

He is Hugh Duffy, chief scout for the Boston Red Sox, whose batting average of .438, made with the Boston Nationals in 1894, has never been equaled. He gained that mark by cracking 236 hits in 539 times at bat. The only modern major leaguer to approach the figure is Rogers Hornsby, who batted .424 in 1925, when he was serving his first hitch with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Duffy often has been asked his batting secret.

"There's no trick about it," he replies. "Proper timing, a certain amount of natural ability, plenty of confidence and some luck make a great hitter."

The veteran, crowding the 66-year mark—although he will not admit it—first broke into league baseball in 1887 with Springfield in the old Eastern League. He hit .424 that season and the following year "Cap" Anson signed him up for the famous Chicago White Stockings.

His greatest seasons were with Boston, from 1891 through 1900. The following year, his last as a big league player, was with Milwaukee, then an American League club.

Most of today's sluggers are big strapping fellows. Not so with Duffy. During his heyday, his 5-foot-7 frame weighed but 165 pounds.

He carries only a few more ounces than that now as he scurries over the countryside, scouting out promising material for the Red Sox rebuilding plans of Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins, the club's new and ambitious owners.

1,500-Meter Stars Race Sunday

Lewis, Duke, to Run in A. A. U. Track Program.

ANOTHER event has been added to the District of Columbia A. A. U. championship meet program at Catholic University field next Sunday afternoon and indications are that it will "steal the show." A special 1,500-meter race will be staged in conjunction with the championship one at this distance and some of the best milers in this section will compete.

Hubert M. (Red) Lewis, jr., of Duke, winner of the Southern Conference mile title two weeks ago, are among the outstanding entrants to date. Lewis ran the fastest mile ever run in Dixie and his time, 4 minutes 15 1-5 seconds, was the best outdoor showing of the season. It set a new Southern record. Only Glenn Cunningham has made a better 1933 showing, and his time was set indoors.

William J. Lauck, the Virginia U. flier, finished second to Lewis in his record run, only a couple of strides back, and he also is entered in Sunday's event and is out for revenge. And that he may get it is indicated by the fact that only three weeks ago he turned in a 4:15.7 mile in a meet at Charlottesville.

Officials are making efforts to bring a Northern college star to oppose these three Dixie speedsters, while they also have not yet given up hope of coaxing Ward Hardman, Navy star, to compete.

James A. Farley, Postmaster General, will be honorary referee of the meet, with Winfree Johnson, referee, and Joseph Marr, starter.

Officials and entrants are asked to enter the south door of the gymnasium Sunday, with the former showing up no later than 2 o'clock.

Racing at Hagerstown Gets Under Way Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., May 31.—With 300 horses in the barns, the spring racing meet of the Hagerstown Fair will be ushered in tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Many of the horses that have been racing at Bowie arrived today.

Seventeen feature events are to be offered during the five-day meet with the headliner on the opening day for 3-year-olds, the Harry E. Beater Memorial, in memory of the late president of the fair. Edward J. Brennan will serve as race secretary again. All races will be limited to 8 starters with 7 races daily.

AUCTION SALES

THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1933—
THOMAS J. OWEN & SON, Auctioneers.
1421 Kye Street Northwest.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, BEING A TWO-STORY BRICK DWELLING, CONTAINING SIX ROOMS AND TWO BATHS, WITH BUILT-IN GARAGE, KNOWN AS 4429 FOURTEENTH STREET NORTHWEST.

By virtue of a certain deed of trust recorded in Liber No. 8638 at folio 422, of the land records of the District of Columbia, and at the request of the party secured thereby, the undersigned will sell at public auction in front of the premises on THURSDAY, JUNE FIRST, 1933, AT THREE-THIRTY O'CLOCK P. M. the following described land and premises situate in the District of Columbia, and being lot numbered Fifteen (15) in Square numbered Thirty-nine Hundred and Ninety-four (3994), in a subdivision made by Clarence H. Small, as per plat recorded in the office of the Surveyor for the District of Columbia, in Liber 92 at folio 197, upon the following terms:

TERMS OF SALE: Said property is subject to a prior deed of trust securing an indebtedness of $8,250.00 and said property will be sold subject to said deed of trust indebtedness, also to interest on the above trust, and to all unpaid taxes, regarding which items details will be furnished at the time of sale. Of the purchase price over and above said deed of trust $1,000.00 is to be paid in cash, and the balance to be secured by second deed of trust on the property sold, payable in monthly installments of $75.00, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent, said payment to also include interest on the first trust or all cash at the option of the purchaser. A deposit of $250.00 will be required at the time of sale. All conveyancing, recording, revenue stamps, etc., at the cost of purchaser. Good title or no sale. Terms of sale to be complied with within thirty (30) days from day of sale, otherwise deposit will be forfeited and property resold at risk and cost of defaulting purchaser after five (5) days advertisement of such resale in some newspaper published in Washington, D. C.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

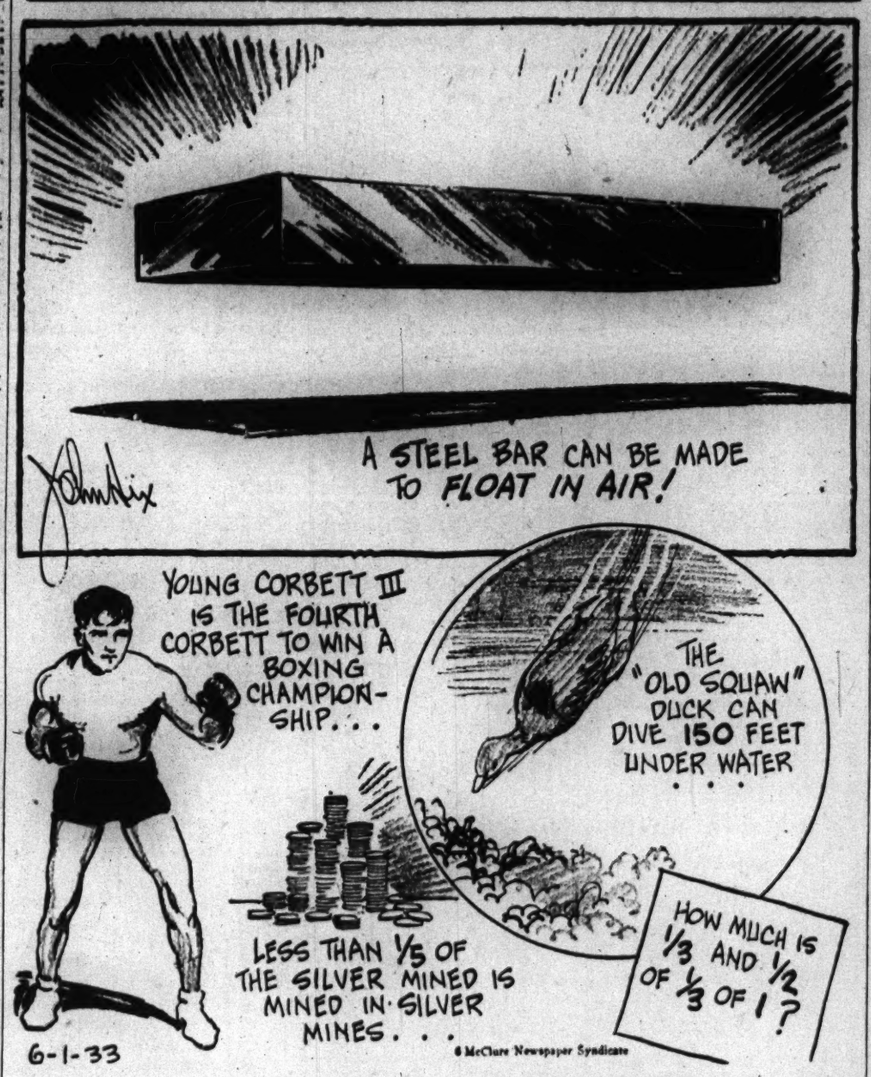
For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.



FLOATING steel in air, with no support, is accomplished by the magnetic phenomenon of repulsion—the like poles of a magnet repel each other, as the unlike poles attract. A cobalt steel bar, heavily magnetized, is placed above another magnetized bar so that the like poles are directly over each other. A strong magnetic repulsion will cause the loose bar to actually float in the air over the other bar.

It is, however, necessary that the loose bar be guided so that it can not turn end for end, and so that it does not shift lengthwise. The guides, which can be invisible wires, do not support the floating bar.

• • • •

Reduced to a simple problem in arithmetic, the question of "How much is a third and a half of a third?" becomes, "How much is one-third plus (½x1-3)?" This, of course, is ½ plus 1-6, which equals ½.

Little silver is mined as such, most of it being produced as a valuable by-product of other ores, notably copper, zinc and lead.

• • • •

First and foremost among the champion Corbetts was Heavyweight Champion James (Gentleman Jim) Corbett. Others: Young Corbett, welterweight champion of 1897; Young Corbett 2d, feather-weight champion of 1901, and Young Corbett 3d, welterweight champion of 1933.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

Rhode Island Avenue and Randle Heights Favor Probe by Senators.

Two citizens' associations went on record at meetings last night commending The Post for its investigation of milk prices in the District.

The Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association held a meeting at Sherwood Hall and resolved to send copies of their action on milk prices to The Post, to the Senate committee conducting the probe and to the health department of the District.

Members of the Randle Highlands Citizens Association held their last session of the season at the Orr School and unanimously adopted a resolution indorsing the milk price investigation.

The text of the Rhode Island Avenue association's resolution follows:

"Whereas, the price of milk products in the District of Columbia has become a matter of controversy, and

"Whereas, The Washington Post and the Senate District Committee are making an effort to ascertain the facts bearing on this question, therefore

"Be it resolved, That the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association indorse and commend The Washington Post and the Senate Committee for the District of Columbia in their efforts to constructively ascertain and investigate the facts and procure for the people of the District of Columbia a fair price for milk products.

"Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to The Washington Post and to the Senate District Committee and the Health Department of the District of Columbia."

Phone Cuts Asked By Randle Heights

Charging that the telephone rates in this city are too high, the Randle Highlands Citizens Association went on record last night urging a reduction in the entire scale.

A resolution abjecting to the new bus schedule in its section was adopted by the association. Members stated that the Public Utilities Commission had not given the association a hearing when the bus schedule was under consideration. Under the schedule which was adopted recently by the bus company, the drivers were forced to work long hours, they asserted.

The association sent a request to the Washington Gas Light Co. to plant shrubbery and trees around the gas containers near the Anacostia Bridge. R. H. Randall, T. C. Freyman, A. Roth and G. Fincham were appointed a nominating committee for officers of the association. Elections will be held at the next meeting of the association in the fall.

Destroyer Dupont Here, Manned by Reservists

The destroyer Dupont, manned by a group of Boston Naval Reservists, has arrived at the navy yard under the command of Lieut. Miles Du Val, U. S. N.

The Dupont is assigned to destroyer squadron 10 of the training squadron of the scouting force and operates in the First Naval District. Lieut. W. L. Ware is executive officer of the ship. Lieut. S. K. McLean and Ensign H. E. Duryea are the other officers on board. Under present plans the Dupont will remain here until Saturday. The destroyer is open to visitors.

Passing Autos on Hills Depicted as Dangerous

A vivid illustration of the dangers of passing automobiles on hills is depicted in the second poster of the street and highway safety campaign being conducted by oil stations, released yesterday by W. A. Van Duzer, director of vehicles and traffic in the District.

The picture shows a light passenger sedan being smashed between a heavy truck, which it has attempted to pass on the crest of a hill, and a passenger bus which has come up on the other side. Printed in six colors, the picture will replace the "What Have I Done" poster.

Inventor Leaves His 11-Ton Tank Parked at Dern's Office, Unsold

Alexander Graham Christie's new 11-ton tank is pictured in the court of the State, War and Navy Department Building, where he left it before returning to his home. War Department officials state that it belongs to Mr. Christie. Meanwhile it occupies a valuable parking area.

WHITE HOUSE HELP FOR VETERANS ASKED

Mrs. Jenckes and Thomas to See Howe on More Forest Camp Jobs.

Mrs. Virginia Jenckes, Congress member from Indiana, and Mike Thomas, right wing 1933 bonus army leader, today expected to confer with Col Louis Howe, Roosevelt secretary, with a view to obtaining some administration dispensation with regard to the several hundred veterans in Washington seeking connection with the reforestation legions.

The Hoosier representative yesterday accompanied Mrs. Roosevelt and her party to Monticello, ancestral estate of Thomas Jefferson. Upon returning she learned that Metropolitan police had again arranged for billeting and feeding for the night more than 200 of the belated veteran marchers.

Red-Inspired Move Alleged.

A revolt, allegedly Communistically inspired, nearly took place in the Langley Field, Va., bonus marchers reforestation camp several days ago, it was learned last night.

The turmoil began over the $1 a day wage paid the veterans for the woods jobs, it was learned. Several hundred of the men started to walk out.

As the situation began to look ominous for the success of the Virginia camp, right wing attaches got in touch with Mike Thomas here and with Representative Jenckes. Through these two friends of the veterans it was learned the revolt was peaceably settled.

Enrollment June 12.

Robert Fechner, director of the Conservation Corps, reiterated yesterday that apparently nothing is to be done about the several hundred men concentrating here for the reforestation jobs. He said enrollment would have to take place at the regional offices of the Veterans Bureau distributed throughout the country.

This enrollment is to begin June 12 with distribution of the men beginning June 26, spreading the men over numerous camps throughout the Nation.

However, Mrs. Jenckes and Thomas hope to provide some sort of concession for the men here with the object still in mind of providing a definite ruling throughout the land that Washington enrollments for the jobs in the woods are henceforth not to be had.

Birds Saved

By Pedestrians Downtown as Nest Falls From Building Ledge.

Hard boiled business men hurrying in front of the Munsey Trust Co. about 2 p. m. yesterday became surprisingly soft-hearted when they saw a nest of sparrows fall from a ledge on the bank building.

Three little sparrows were hopping dangerously close to the gutter and the mother was searching wildly for her brood when the interested men of business rescued the little creatures and carried them to the park across the street. Mother sparrow soon found them and began preparing another nest.

Generals Unconvinced of Its Merits; Economy, You Know.

Grant's Orders to Move War Machine Are Reported Ignored.

For Sale:

One small, modern, well-equipped, 11-ton tank. Parties interested may call Mr. Dern at the War Department. Phone National 2520 if out, ask for Gen. MacArthur.

Alexander Graham Christie, noted mechanical engineer, who builds the famed Christie tanks, turned out this new machine of destruction some months ago. "It will do things that no other tank has ever done," said Mr. Christie. "It is the pride and joy of my heart."

He brought it to Washington for a demonstration before the members of the general staff of the Army, just about the only people who are interested in buying tanks these days. The tank performed as scheduled, but the generals somehow were not much impressed. They decided they didn't want to buy it. You know, the economy program.

"But," said Mr. Christie, "I built this for the United States Army. You wouldn't want me to sell it to any other army, now would you?" Still the generals were unenthusiastic to the proposition.

Seeing that action was needed Mr. Christie drove the tank up to the War Department, parked it in a court and went back home. "You will receive the bill on the first of the month," he is reported to have said. "But you have still 30 more days in which to pay. No hurry."

"No! No! No!" said the generals. "We don't want that tank!"

Good-by," said Mr. Christie.

The generals were angry. They held a conference—two conferences. At last they summoned in their brother officer, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, who could speak their language—could sympathize with them. Col. Grant made an estimate of the situation; issued orders:

"As director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, and executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, I find that the tank is parked on ground under my jurisdiction. It must be moved."

Stenographers were summoned. Orders were issued. A letter was dictated.

"Dear Mr. Christie: Please move your tank. "GRANT."

"P. S.—You made the great mistake of leaving it in Gen. MacArthur's automobile parking zone, and he advises me that if you don't move it the Army will call out the militia and it will be carried away. "G."

The letter is reported to have been returned to sender unopened.

Georgetown Children Will Perform Tonight

At Gordon Junior High School Auditorium tonight children of Gordon Center and Francis Scott Key Center will present a program under the direction of Miss Majorie Schuster, assisted by students from the Community House at Lyon Park, Va.

The program will include dance numbers by 50 children and the showing of movies taken of the children of Georgetown in dances of long ago by Harold B. Rogers and Maj. S. D. Ashford. Mother Goose Rhymes and "The Queen of Hearts" will be among the features on the program, with Betty Bailey as the queen, Ruth Darby as the king, and Katherine Lewis as the knave. There will be also a Dutch pantomime and tap dance numbers by members of the group.

FUGITIVE IN HOLDUP RUNS INTO 2 POLICE

Wrong Track Is Taken by Man Accused of Taking Store's Watch.

To run smack-bang into a policeman after a five-block race to avoid just such a meeting is bad enough—but to run into a police car and two policemen is about the last straw.

Shortly before dusk yesterday a colored man entered the jewelry store of Harris Krick, 3053 M street northwest, and asked to look at his "most expensive watch." A tray of watches was produced. The colored man handled several, finally choosing one.

This he held to his ear, apparently to hear the tick. Then, without warning, he jammed the watch in his pocket and ran to the street. Mr. Krick was right behind. A dozen passers-by also joined the chase.

Five blocks away a police radio car of the Seventh Precinct was cruising. The alarm was broadcast, and off they raced for the store.

Rounding a corner Private Ruby Downs, driver of the car, saw a lone colored man being pursued by a mob of persons. He stopped the machine, jumped out and waited. The colored man ran right into his arms. Private John J. Leu stood back of Downs in case he should miss.

In the man's pocket was a watch. Mr. Krick identified it as the one stolen from his store. The prisoner, held for investigation, said he is Creed Martin, 38, of 3219 Scott place northwest.

Nurses to Get Diplomas At Joint Commencement

Joint commencement exercises for the graduating nurses of Georgetown University and Providence Hospitals will be held at 8 p. m. today in Gaston Hall at Georgetown.

Dental hygienists of the Georgetown School of Dentistry who have completed their year's work also will be given diplomas at the same time. President W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., of Georgetown, will preside, with officials of both hospitals in attendance.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Get Honorary Degree Tonight

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the commencement exercises of the Washington College of Law at 8 o'clock tonight at Continental Hall.

Ninety-two degrees will be conferred upon graduating students. Dean Grace Hayes Riley will present Mrs. Roosevelt with the degree.

Gas Merger Action Is Set for Today

The House District Committee will meet in executive session at 11 a. m. today in an effort to take final committee action on the Washington-Georgetown Gas Light Co. merger bill, favorably reported Tuesday by the Senate District Committee.

Two previous attempts to report favorably the bill from the House committee already have been futile, due to quorum points raised by Representative Carl M. Weidman (Democrat), Michigan, and Representative Thomas J. O'Brien (Democrat), Illinois.

Representatives Weideman and O'Brien indicated they would again seek to block approval of the bill today unless its form is materially changed. Representative Weideman will offer amendments to prevent sale of new gas company stock outside the District, and to eliminate "going concern" from any valuation that might be made of the merged property.

KING PLEDGES D. C. ITS SHARE OF ROAD FUND FROM TAXES

Would Pay $11,499,000 as Bill Now Stands and Get No Benefit.

Washington residents would pay $11,499,000 in additional Federal gasoline taxes during the 15-year amortization period covered in the National recovery bill, without receiving any of the $400,000,000 set aside for highway construction under the bill, the Senate Finance Committee was advised yesterday.

Testimony to this effect was presented by representatives of the American Petroleum Institute and other petroleum industry trade associations, appearing in opposition to the additional three-fourths of a cent gasoline levy assessed under the bill.

King Assures Trade Board.

Similar evidence was forwarded to every member of the Senate Finance Committee yesterday in letters sent out by the Washington Board of Trade. At the same time, Chairman William King of the Senate District Committee and Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, assured board officials they would do all in their power to have District highway aid and public works construction written into the bill.

The American Petroleum Institute data filed with the committee yesterday showed that on the basis of 1932 gasoline consumption, the District and the States would contribute $1,603,144,000 to the Federal Government in fifteen years, or $1,203,144,000 more than they would receive in highwaty appropriations.

Maryland and Virginia.

While the District would receive no part of the road fund, Wyoming, Nevada, New Mexico and Montana each would receive more in road money than they would pay in taxes, the institute's statistics disclosed.

Maryland would pay in taxes $17,220,000 more than its share of the road money, while Virginia's taxes would exceed its income from the highway fund by $16,707,000, the figures showed.

Bid for Roosevelt At Congress Game

Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the late President Wilson, and Edward F. Colladay, District Republican National Committeeman, cochairman of the Congressional baseball committee, will head a delegation to call on President Roosevelt at the White House this morning to ask the Chief Executive to attend the game on June 10, and throw out the first ball. The proceeds of the game are to be used for the relief of unemployment distress and are to be disbursed by the Community Chest without deduction.

Accompanying Mr. Tumulty and Mr. Colladay this morning will be Representative Eddie Kelly, of Illinois, manager of the Democratic team; Representative Russell Ellzey, of Mississippi, captain; Representative Charles D. Millard, manager of the Republican team and Representative Vincent Carter, of Wyoming, its captain.

Robert J. Cottrell, secretary of the Board of Trade, has agreed to act as executive secretary, and Victor B. Deyber, president of the Second National Bank, will act as treasurer.

The United States Marine Band, under Capt. Taylor Branson, and the United States Army Band, under Capt. W. J. Stannard, will play for the game.

Wilson E. Wilmot Funeral Tomorrow

Wilson Eardley Wilmot, a resident of Washington for 31 years, died at his residence, 3001 Cathedral avenue, yesterday following a short illness. Mr. Wilmot was born at Brighton, England, July 21, 1874, and came to this country with his parents when a boy.

Mr. Wilmot was a graduate of George Washington Law School, class of 1906, and became a member of the local bar in 1907. He was in the Government service for 32 years—being connected with the Taft Commission of Economy and Efficiency, and later with the Bureau of Efficiency. In 1902 he married Alicia C. Toscano, of Havana, Cuba. He is survived by his wife and a son, Wilson C. Wilmot, of this city, and an aunt, Mrs. Alfred Davis, of London, England.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence Friday, June 2, at 11 a. m. The Rev. Herman Ebert, of the Washington Cathedral, will officiate. Interment will be private.

Police Honor Bradshaw, Retired After 33 Years

Private E. S. Bradshaw, 58, 1459 Newton street northwest, was retired from the Metropolitan police force yesterday, after 33 years of service. He joined the force July 1, 1900.

Prior to his departure from the service, his fellow officers at the Tenth Precinct presented him with a gold watch and chain, and extended their good wishes.

He Chose Wrong Landlord

Tenant With 620 Gallons of Alleged Liquor Picks Prohibition Agent's Garage as Place to Store It.

Several days ago L. Abbott, 813 Randolph street northwest, a prohibition agent, rented his garage in the rear of his home. Since garages are generally used only for the storing of automobiles, he did not ask for what purpose it was being rented. The renter took immediate possession of the garage, before Abbott could remove some miscellaneous articles he had stored there. When Abbott went to get his goods, he found the garage securely locked, which was not an unusual occurrence at all.

Yesterday, however, Abbott chanced to see his renter near the premises and asked if he could get into the garage to remove his belongings. To his surprise, the man stammered and hesitated, and finally stated he did not have his key with him.

Suspicious, Abbott forced open a window to the garage—yes, his suspicions were confirmed. He called police, and 620 gallons of alleged liquor were confiscated.

Subsequently, Simon Herson, 50, the renter, who gave his address as 43 Channing street northwest, and Joseph Young, 26, colored, 456 N street southwest, were arrested on charges of illegal possesion.

GARFIELD NURSES GRADUATE

WHITAKER'S TERM REDUCED 6 MONTHS

Two-Year Sentence in Plot Case to Date From His First Incarceration.

Six months was cut off the sentence of Norman T. Whitaker yesterday when Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, in District Supreme Court, decided to permit Whitaker's two-year sentence to begin running from the date of his incarceration in the District Jail.

No action was taken in regard to the beginning of the sentence of Gaston B. Means, who, with Whitaker, was sentenced to serve two years following their conviction of conspiring to rob Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of $35,000.

Means is serving 15 years. He was sentenced to that term when he was convicted of stealing $104,000 from Mrs. McLean. His two-year sentence will run concurrently with his longer sentence.

Struck in Traffic, Two Children Hurt

Six-year-old Edward Johnson, 1342 Four-and-a-Half street southwest, suffered a fracture of his left leg yesterday when struck by an automobile, which, police said, was driven by Edgar J. Griffith, 736 Thirteenth street southeast, on O street between Third and Four-and-a-Half streets southwest. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Ten-year-old Mildred Gray, 535 Fifth street southeast, also was severely hurt when struck by the car of John H. Davis, 27, 910 Seventh street southeast, on Fifth street between O and E streets southeast.

At first it was thought she had suffered only minor injuries, but it later developed she had concussion of the brain. She was treated at Providence Hospital.

G. W. U. Law Alumni Hold Reunion Tonight

The George Washington University Law Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting and reunion tonight at the law school. Election of officers will be held. M. H. O'Brien, president, will preside.

After the meeting a reception and dance will be held at the law school in honor of this year's law school graduates. The president of the university, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, and Mrs. Marvin will receive the alumni and guests.

Edinburg Camp Gets Library.

A library of 1,500 volumes has been established at the Civilian Conservation Corp Camp at Edinburg, Va., through the local Jewish Welfare Board, 1529 Q street northwest.

43 NURSES RECEIVE GARFIELD DIPLOMAS

Florence Nightingale Held Ideal for Profession by Dr. Green.

Forty-three graduate nurses of the Garfield Memorial Hospital received diplomas at a picturesque ceremony on the hospital grounds last night and heard an address from Dr. Thomas E. Green, of the American Red Cross.

Holding up Florence Nightingale as an ideal for all nurses to follow, Dr. Green congratulated the graduates on their chosen vocation, observing that "while it is a great thing in the world to be good, it is greater to be good for something."

Dr. Green was introduced by W. S. Corby, president of the board of directors of the hospital, who presided. The graduates were presented by Dr. J. Burton Glenn.

The diplomas were presented by Mrs. Henry A. Willard 2d, president of the Ladies' Aid of Garfield Memorial Hospital. The Rev. R. L. Wood, pastor of the Petworth Methodist Episcopal Church, offered the opening prayer and benediction. The program was interspersed with musical renditions.

The nurses who received diplomas are Catherine Akers, Freda Aurand, Maxine Lynn Bales, Geneva B. Bell, Vida Ola Bell, Edna Virginia Biller, Mabel Leonidas Bruce, Dorothea Hood Doll, Frances Adeline Evans, Cora Mae Featherstone, Gladys Romaine Flemming, Mary Elizabeth Gatt, Mame R. Hartsfield, Eleanor Ethel Hedrick, Marina Alice Hoffa, Mary Elizabeth Sherman Jones, Kathren L. Kauffman, Gleone Krahmke, Margaret Louise Krebs, Eloise Liles, Dorothy Pearl Lipes, Anne Maupin Livers, Katherine Rebecca Marshall, Dorothy Virginia Martin, Annie Myrtle Massey, Leonora A. Matacia, Edith M. McFarland, Nina Elizabeth Mearns, Verna Lorena Mundy, Mabel Iris Nightengale, Sarah Josephine Parkes, Louise Phillips, Elizabeth Scarborough, Lois Elizabeth Self, Audrey Ball Spurrier, Frances Louise Stauffer, Elizabeth Strittmatter, Marie E. Teates, Mary Margaret Terrill, Virginia Oslin Vaughan, Gladys Irene White, Esther Clarke Woodzell and Eva Lee Wright.

Ivan Alfaro Is Elected Head of Senator's Club

Ivan J. Alfaro, son of Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, Minister of Panama and former president of that republic, was elected president of the Senator's Club of Catholic University. He succeeds Robert F. Bourne, who will be graduated from the school of engineering this month.

A junior at the university, Mr. Alfaro is associate editor of the school annual and a member of the Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman fraternity, to which he was elected during his first year.

"HAMILTON" STOCK SALES AT $700,000; ANOTHER MAY JOIN

U. S. Savings Opens Selling Campaign Tomorrow in Merger of Seven.

More than $700,000 of the $1,250,000 worth of new stock to organize the "Hamilton National Bank of Washington" has been subscribed to date, it was reported yesterday by the general subscription committee for the proposed bank. This amount has been secured by six of seven local restricted banks committed to a plan to organize the new bank.

United States Savings Bank, the seventh institution to enter the plan, will begin its stock selling campaign tomorrow.

This bank will ask its depositors to subscribe for stock up to 10 per cent of the amount of their total deposits. Stockholders will be asked to buy stock to the amount of 25 per cent of their holdings in the present bank.

Two-Thirds of Quota.

At Franklin National Bank, it was said yesterday that $1,980,000 worth of stockholders' and depositors' agreements of the $2,100,000 worth necessary to reopen that bank as an independent institution and under its present title, had been secured.

Progress in stock selling was reported by institutions participating in the "Hamilton National Bank of Washington" plan. Potomac Savings Bank, one of these, has secured more than two-thirds of its quota of $225,000. Washington Savings Bank, another, has sold a little more than 50 per cent of its quota of $40,000. Other institutions selling stock for the Hamilton plan are Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., District National Bank, Northeast Savings Bank and Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank.

Imminent Entry Slated.

Reports of the imminent entry of Seventh Street Savings Bank into the Hamilton plan were received without comment by officials of that bank, who are considering at least two plans for the future of this institution.

Stockholders and depositors of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. are determined to raise that institution's quota of necessary stock for the proposed "Hamilton National Bank of Washington," William John Eynon, chairman of that bank's subscription committee, said last night following an enthusiastic meeting of its stockholders with the committee.

More than 200 stockholders attended the meeting, over which Mr. Eynon presided, and which was addressed by W. Irving Shuman, Treasury Department official; Joseph P. Tumulty, a director of District National Bank; Capt. Chester Wells, of the general subscription committee for the prospective bank; John Poole, president and conservator, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., and Dr. Charles G. Abbot, a director of the latter institution. Mr. Eynon said that the new bank will have more than 100,000 depositors.

Citizens' President Gets Ninth Term

Mrs. Ella M. Thompson was elected president for the ninth time by the Logan-Thomas Circle Citizens Association, which met last night at the Northminster Presbyterian Church. Other officers named were Pendleton Hogan, vice president, and Edward H. Young, secretary-treasurer.

The association adopted a resolution asking that the District Commissioners take no action on the proposed cutting through of Thomas Circle. The association is opposed to any change in the circle which would result in a reduction of park area.

Committees were appointed to investigate sanitary conditions at the District Jail and the rumored change in the method of governing the District.

Shoemaker-Cohen Dispute Dropped

The scheduled court test over the immunity of members of Congress that was supposed to have arisen when Representative Shoemaker, of Minnesota, struck Theodore Cohen, his neighbor, of the Chastleton Hotel, in the eye, several weeks ago, went aglimmering yesterday when Cohen announced that he would not prosecute the case.

The announcement was made in a letter to Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh, who was to have prosecuted the case in Police Court.

Mr. Shoemaker declared that "We just decided to shake hands and forget about it." He is alleged to have struck Cohen when the latter refused to turn off his radio at the demand of the member of Congress.

Woman Injured as Auto Upsets During Collision

A collision between two automobiles, in which one of the cars was overturned at Fifteenth street and Constitution avenue northwest, brought a large crowd from the Department of Commerce Building shortly before 2 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. Lena Simpson, 52, of 304 North Pitt street, Alexandria, Va., received lacerations of the left arm. She was treated at Emergency Hospital. The car in which she was a passenger was driven by Frank Dawson, of the same address. The machine which was overturned was operated by William Henderson, of 2124 I street northwest.

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE.

Be careful of driving at too high a rate of speed when coming out of an alley so located so that you can not see to the right or to the left until you are halfway across the sidewalk.

The figures are:

| | 1933. | 1932. |
|---|---|---|
